Renounces Darrow Board
As Political Wailing Wall
—Sarcastic Over F. M.
Curley's Testimony.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Assaying that the country is "faced with a new condition that transcends any legal theory," Gen. Hugh Johnson, former administrator of the National Recovery Act, today denied in a revised form.

The judiciary, energetic formerly, today admitted many errors in the present NIRA and its administration under his direction.
In general, though, he has no government, he said, the NIRA is the only thing that has kept the country from sliding into chaos.

Johnson said that the NIRA has been a "political wailing wall" and that it has been a "political wailing wall" for the country.

GERMAN PASTORS' HEADS SHAVED IN DETENTION CAMP

Ministers Made to Dress Like Convicts for Not Accepting Reichsbishop.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 18.—Additional reports of coercive measures against Confessional congregations and pastors who have refused to acknowledge the leadership of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller were received today.

In Saxony, four more pastors were taken to a concentration camp, where their heads were shaven and they were made to don convict garb.

In the district of Dinkelsbuehl, Bavaria, police went from house to house, seizing Confessional Church membership cards, whose holders now are deprived of identification with their congregations.

Twenty-four Mecklenburg theology students at their first examination were asked to sign a declaration of implicit obedience to the Reichsbishop. Only four signed.

In certain parts of Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, villagers threw themselves in front of police automobiles which came to take arrested pastors to prison. It was only through the exhortations of the pastors that they desisted from making martyrs of themselves.

68-YEAR-OLD GUARD FORCES FOUR BANK ROBBERS TO FLEE

four robbers, armed with pistols and riot guns, and forced them to flee without loot after they had held up the Campbell branch of the First National Bank.

HOUSE REJECTS TOWNSEND PLAN BY 206-56 VOTE

Ballots on Californian's Old Age Pension Scheme as Amendment to Social Security Bill.

OTHER CHANGES ALSO DEFEATED

Heavy Majorities Support Administration in Refusing Proposed Increases in Federal Outlay.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Roosevelt Federal-State old age pension program was approved by the House late today.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Railing strongly behind the administration's social security bill, the House today voted down several proposals to alter its provisions, including the Townsend old age pension plan.

Then the Greenway amendment to increase from $15 to $20 a month the Federal contribution to old age pensions was rejected, 165 to 87.

Next the Lunden bill to grant minimum Federal pensions of $10 a week, plus $3 for each dependent, to all unemployed or helpless was defeated, 204 to 52.

For the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Treadway (Rep.), Massachusetts, offered an amendment to increase the maximum Federal contribution for old-age pensions to $20 instead of $15 a month. It was defeated 144 to 80 on a roll call.

Only 20 minutes of debate preceded the balloting on the Townsend bill. Representative McGroarty (Dem.), California, who introduced the Townsend bill, engaged in an exchange with Representative O'Connor (Dem.), New York.

O'Connor remarked that some members were "playing politics with human misery."

LAWYERS IN ROW OVER DIVISION OF HAUPTMANN FEES

Reilly, Who Wants $25,- 000, Demands Bar Inquiry Into Defense Funds Held by Fisher.

LATTER, STILL ON STAFF, HITS BACK

Says Ousted Attorney Is 'Disgruntled, Disappointed Man,' Who 'Spent as Much as Possible.'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Edward J. Reilly, ousted chief counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, and C. Lloyd Fisher, who succeeded him, made charges against each other today as Reilly demanded a Bar Association investigation of defense funds held by Fisher.

In a letter to Chancellor Luther
A. Campbell of Trenton, N. J., Reilly asked for permission to withdraw formally from the case.

In another letter to the Bar Association, Reilly charged Fisher with having failed to give an accounting of funds raised by solicitation and contribution toward financing the appeal of Hauptmann, who is under sentence of death for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Reilly has been unable to obtain a substantial payment on his fee of $25,000 and says that there is more than $45,000 in the appeal fund.

Fisher declared from his Flemington (N. J.) office that Reilly had obtained Hauptmann's signature to a printing bill without knowledge of defense counsel.

"He is just a disgruntled and disappointed man," said Fisher.
"What really bothered about this outburst is the fact that I had refused to pay several of Reilly's personal bills, one of them for $3,700."

MOTHER OF 6 SAYS SHE SHOT PAINTER FOUND WOUNDED

Tells of Firing on Former Friend She Had Repulsed
When He Seized Her Outside Tavern.

HOWARD REED IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Knows Who Did It—Relatives Report He Names
Mrs. Esther Tucker.

By the Associated Press.

Mrs. Esther Tucker, 29 years old and mother of six children, told police early today she had shot Howard Reed, 28 years old, who was found wounded in the back shortly before midnight in a filling station at Vandeventer and Easton avenues. Reed refused to tell who had shot him.

Mrs. Tucker, whose husband works nights in an automobile factory, said she had been acquainted with Reed for four years and that he had threatened her recently because she repulsed his attentions.

The shooting occurred as Mrs.
vern, 1716 North Vandeventer avenue, and found Reed standing outside on the sidewalk.

Makes Statement.
"Apparently he was laying for me," Mrs. Tucker said in a signed statement given to police. "He called me a dirty, and grabbed me. I had a pistol in my purse—
I bought it two weeks ago to protect myself. When I opened my purse, he saw the gun and said,
'I'll kill you.'"

"I started to take the gun out of my purse and he turned. I fired two or three times."

Mrs. Tucker, arrested across the street from the tavern, said she had hidden her purse and the pistol, a .25 caliber automatic, in an ash pit at the rear of 3835 Easton avenue. Police recovered them there.
In the purse, they reported, was a book indicating a $200 balance in a downtown bank and a grocery order indicating that the Tucker family was on the relief rolls.

HITLER DECLARES GERMANY WILL NOT REJOIN LEAGUE AFTER CENSURE BY COUNCIL

Strike Disturbers in Court Again

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

MISS RACHEL KOONTZ

WOMEN FINED AGAIN IN STRIKE DISORDERS

Pair Accused by Garment Firm
Designer of Tearing Her Clothing.

Two women, both of whom had been fined previously for disturbances growing out of a garment workers' strike at the Forest City Manufacturing Co., 1627 Washington avenue, were fined again today by Police Judge Simpson for disturbance of the peace of Miss Norma MacDonough, 1405 Missouri avenue, a designer.

Miss Rachel Koontz, 4601 Mc-Pherson avenue, fined $60 on two charges yesterday, was fined $100, the Court remarking that he would send her to the Workhouse if that were legally possible. Miss Pearl England, 1131 Aubert avenue, fined $25 yesterday, was fined $50 today.
Neither took the stand.

Miss MacDonough testified she was attacked by four women April 12 near Sixth street and Washington a nude and identified the defendants as among her assailants.
She exhibited a tattered black coat which she said she had worn at the time and asserted her clothing was so badly torn that police gave her a coat to wear.

Her dress, she said, was stripped to the waist and her undergarments rent, but not torn off. After being knocked down, she asserted, she was beaten and pinched. Police testified they did not see the attack, but said Miss MacDonough required clothing and medical treatment for bruises on the face and body.

SENATORS 'TO GO EASY' IN J. P. MORGAN INQUIRY

Warned by Roosevelt About Causing Foreign Friction
Over War Files.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Senate munitions investigators agreed today at a conference with President Roosevelt to "avoid any action raising complications with foreign governments" in connection with their search through wartime files of J. P. Morgan & Co., Great Britain's fiscal agent in America during the World War.

The decision was announced by Chairman Nye of the Munitions Committee after the meeting, which also was attended by Secretary of State Hull.

The Senate investigators were called to the White House as an outgrowth of informal representations said to have been made by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, against disclosure of any correspondence between the British Government and Morgan &
Co.

SENDS 'SIZZLING' VERBAL MESSAGE TO GREAT BRITAIN

Reichsfuehrer Said to Believe England Got Him to Show His Hand, Then Used Information Against Him at Geneva.

TEXT OF MESSAGE NOT MADE PUBLIC

But Spokesman for British Embassy in Berlin Says It Was Delivered and Gives Main Thesis — Nazis Highly Resentful.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 18.—A spokesman for the British Embassy disclosed today the fact that Reichsfuehrer Hitler had sent to Great Britain a diplomatic note which the spokesman described as "a sizzler."

He declined to divulge the exact contents, but said its main argument was that yesterday's censure of Germany by the League of Nations Council positively meant the end of any talk of Germany's returning to the League.

The embassy spokesman said the note, in the strongest possible language, was relayed to Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador, from Hitler, through Von Buelow, told Ambassador Phipps that he was "hurt" by Great Britain's support of the resolution of censure, saying it was entirely unexpected.

Hitler's views were made known last night when Sir Eric called on Von Buelow and held a general conversation with him.

It is understood Hitler still is considering whether a formal protest should be made or whether, as a result of the Stresa conference, they feel obligated hereafter to help enforce the Locarno treaty only if it should be violated by Germany.

TWO GERMANS EXECUTED FOR INSURANCE MURDER

One Convicted of Shooting the Other's Wife at Her Husband's Instigation.

By the Associated Press.

ESSEN, Germany, April 18.—
Fritz Klischat, 20 years old, and Friedrich Isaklar, 25 years, were executed yesterday for the murder of Klischat's wife. Isaklar had been convicted of shooting the woman at her husband's instigation in order to share insurance money.

Nazi officials suspended the Catholic newspaper Essener Volkszeitung for two weeks for having erroneously reported that Isaklar's sentence had been commuted. A reporter and an editor held responsible for the item were arrested for "reprehensible laxity" in their

BREMER'S FATHER IN TEARS DURING KIDNAPING STORY

Brewery Head, 66, Breaks Down as He Tells How Son Looked After Being Released.

IDENTIFIES NOTES DEMANDING RANSOM

Says Victim Looked Like 'Wild Man' and Was So Nervous He Could Not Sleep After Experience.

By the Associated Press. ST. PAUL, Minn., April 18.—Adolph Bremer Sr., father of Edward G. Bremer, who was kidnapped for $200,000 ransom, broke down on the witness stand today in the trial of 10 persons charged with complicity in the abduction. The 66-year-old man, head of a brewery firm, sobbed repeatedly as he was questioned by United States Attorney George F. Sullivan.

At Sullivan's second question, "Are you the father of Edward Bremer?" the witness faltered. "Yes," and tears came to his eyes. He wept on several later occasions. He said Walter Magee, who aided the family in the ransom negotiations, was "a close friend."

Testimony About Package. Arthur E. Murray, whose parents operate a bus depot at Fairbury, Minn., had testified earlier of a package with a letter tied to it, which he received from a stranger who informed him "a man on the 10:30 o'clock bus will call for it."

This occurred while Bremer was a captive. The letter was not delivered, and was not opened until after Bremer's release, several days later at Rochester.

Defense attorneys objected to the questioning of Sullivan, on the grounds that they were not familiar with the contents of the letter, but were overruled by Federal Judge M. M. Joyce.

Under further questioning by Sullivan, Murray testified that the package, opened after Bremer's release, was found to contain a letter. The witness identified a letter as the one tied to the package.

Father Sobbs During Testimony. The father of the kidnapping victim identified the ransom notes brought to him by Magee, who delivered the $200,000 ransom. Bremer related how he and Magee went to an outlying part of the city to recover his son's car, and Magee noted blood on the front seat. Bremer was beaten as he tried to elude his kidnappers.

Bremer wept again, after answering questions for nearly an hour without a break, when Mrs. Sullivan asked him how his son looked when he saw him the night of his return.

In broken tones, between sobs, the aged man said "he looked like a wild man. He could not stand up. He looked terribly bad. His face was drawn—he was talking. I thought he was out of his head. I wanted him to go to bed, he would not go to bed because he could not sleep. He finally went to bed several hours later."

JOHN J. McLAUGHLIN (center) and EDNA MURRAY in custody of a United States marshal at St. Paul, Minn. "Boss" McLaughlin, former Chicago politician, is accused of aiding in disposal of $57,000 of the $200,000 ransom. The woman is charged with conspiracy in the kidnaping.

LIGHT SHOWERS IN SOME SECTIONS OF DUST STORM AREA

Kansas Farmers and Stockmen Encouraged: Snow Relieves Colorado Water Shortage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 18.—Farmers and stockmen of the dust storm area looked hopefully today for a share of the spring rains for which they were falling on nearly all sides of the sector.

Light showers and sprinkles invaded scattered parts of the affected area, but the fall was far short of the amount needed to settle the dust and supply moisture which was to start spring crops and revive the grass lands. Over most of the sector—embracing parts of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado—a dust haze still lingered along with clouds.

There was hope in showers which fell Wednesday at Scott City, Kan., and Syracuse, Kan., and dust-laden sprinkles at Dodge City, Kan., and Beaver, Okla. Early today a promising storm cloud was moving down the Arkansas River Valley in Colorado. It left both rain and snow along the upper reaches of the stream.

A heavy fall of snow on the slopes of Pikes Peak relieved an acute water shortage at Colorado Springs. From the East snowflakes came near the affected area. Blackwell, Okla., had rain and there were showers to the North as far as Beloit, Kan.

GIFT FOR SALVATION ARMY, FROM HOOVER TO AL SMITH

It Is Disclosed That Ex-President Donated $50, His Ex-Insurance Director.

NEW YORK, April 18.—A manila envelope, containing $50, was handed to Alfred E. Smith by former President Hoover last week while they were attending meeting of the board of the New York Life Insurance Co., it was disclosed yesterday.

On it was scribbled: "To Al Smith for the Salvation Army from Herbert Hoover."

The envelope contained the fee which Hoover received for attending the meeting. His former political opponent matched the contribution.

Two days before they had appeared on the same program to broadcast appeals for contributions. The incident at the directors' meeting was disclosed by Richard C. Patterson, chairman of the Salvation Army's campaign.

AUSTRIAN WAR HERO SENT TO PRISON FOR TREASON

Charges Against Alexander Eisler Result of His Activities in Socialist Rebellion.

VIENNA, April 18.—Alexander Eisler, Austrian World War hero, who was decorated many times for valor, was sentenced to 18 years in prison today by the court-martial which tried him for treason.

The charge resulted from Eisler's activities as Chief of Staff of the Socialist Republican Guards at the time of the February, 1934, rebellion.

Six of Eisler's associates were sentenced to prison terms, ranging from 10 to 15 years, and 13 others received lighter sentences. One was acquitted.

HITLER DECLARES GERMANY WON'T REJOIN LEAGUE

As to regulatory powers of Congress apart from the labor question: Ever since the vast industrial control found necessary to national existence during the World War, the existence of such powers, and everybody else, cases have arisen in this field and have been generally determined adversely to regulation by a divided court.

"Much of this was unavoidable and natural in a newly set up organization of the scope and magnitude and with the tremendous national problems of these emergency agencies. But after two years we should be able to avoid them."

Secretary and Son With Him. Johnson arrived at the Senate hearing accompanied by his wife, hearing secretary Frances Robinson, better known as Robbie, his son, John Johnson, and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. Mc-

Grady. The hearing had been transferred from the small committee room to the much larger caucus room in the Senate Office Building. Every seat was taken before Chairman Harrison called the hearing to order.

Virtually every member of the committee was present. This was unusual; during the last few weeks only two or three and sometimes only one Senator has been present to hear the witnesses.

Johnson was armed with a prepared statement of 88 mimeographed pages, supplemented by 11 graphs showing curves of factory production, employment, prices, payrolls, commercial failures, tax returns and wholesale prices.

The object of these charts was to show that the NRA had been responsible for a revival of business since the early months of 1933.

He asked that he be permitted to finish reading the 88-page statement without interruption. He reads so rapidly, however, that there was little danger of Senatorial questioning until he had finished.

Continuing his thoughts on the lack of co-ordination between the Federal agencies, Johnson said: "One of the most valid criticisms against the whole new deal is the fact that from time to time it has sorely lacked co-ordination. One Federal agency has been vigorously pushing a policy in a diametrically opposite direction."

Some of this was unavoidable and natural in a newly set up organization of the scope and magnitude and with the tremendous national problems of these emergency agencies. But after two years we should be able to avoid them."

Johnson proposed that the following definitions be written into the revised Recovery Act:

A. Labor policy.
B. Monopoly or monopolistic practices.
C. Unfair trade practices.
D. Interstate commerce.
E. Authority as between NRA, labor boards, the Department of Labor and Federal Trade Commission.
F. Industrial self-government and Federal supervision.

The extent, he said, to which Congress should go should be corrected to the following provisions:

A. Price control.
B. Production control.
C. Application to small enterprise.

power to regulate this relationship unless it was shown that interstate commerce was affected.

Regulation Within States. Discussing whether the Federal Government could and should attempt NRA regulation within a state, Johnson asserted that Chief Justice Marshall was right when he said: "In commerce we are one people."

He declared if Congress, in writing the child labor law, had been able to rectify facts indicating that the employment of child labor had a prejudicial effect on interstate commerce the Supreme Court might have taken an entirely different view in the celebrated child labor cases.

"The present National Recovery Act," he continued, "speaks of many other things, of rehabilitating industry, improving labor conditions, correcting the industrial depression, so forth and so on, none of which is any legal concern of Congress so far as its enumerated powers are concerned."

"Labor conditions are traditionally within the jurisdiction of the state, as established, among other things by the child labor cases. If Congress were to say (1) that the sweatshop and the downward spiral of wages and the upward spiral of hours, which inevitably uncontrolled competition in the sale of services, have a damaging effect upon interstate commerce; (2) that such competitive practices such as the use of loss leaders and destructive price cutting also impair, obstruct and interfere with the free flow of interstate commerce; and (3) that for the purpose of protecting interstate commerce against damage through these industrial evils, Congress considers it necessary to regulate and control interstate commerce as affected by the practices which lead to these evils, then, in that case, the stress of the legislation would not be upon the regulation of prices or the regulation of labor provisions, but upon the regulation of commerce. This, in the light of NRA experience, is no strained construction."

Continuing his thoughts on the lack of co-ordination between the Federal agencies, Johnson said: "One of the most valid criticisms against the whole new deal is the fact that from time to time it has sorely lacked co-ordination. One Federal agency has been vigorously pushing a policy in a diametrically opposite direction."

C. Application to small enterprise.

Secretary and Son With Him. Johnson arrived at the Senate hearing accompanied by his wife, hearing secretary Frances Robinson, better known as Robbie, his son, John Johnson, and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. Mc-

Grady. The hearing had been transferred from the small committee room to the much larger caucus room in the Senate Office Building. Every seat was taken before Chairman Harrison called the hearing to order.

Virtually every member of the committee was present. This was unusual; during the last few weeks only two or three and sometimes only one Senator has been present to hear the witnesses.

Johnson was armed with a prepared statement of 88 mimeographed pages, supplemented by 11 graphs showing curves of factory production, employment, prices, payrolls, commercial failures, tax returns and wholesale prices.

The object of these charts was to show that the NRA had been responsible for a revival of business since the early months of 1933.

nations or materially affecting similar acts performed in another state or states is to be construed as interstate commerce."

Judge Nields in the Weirton case, citing many decisions of the United States Supreme Court, held that manufacturing was not interstate commerce, and did not substantially affect it.

Johnson denied that so far as he knew there had never been any effort to keep NRA issues out of courts.

"In every case," he said, "where we were convinced that there was a willful violation, that case was turned over to the Federal Trade Commission or the Department of Justice and the Blue Eagle was removed. It is true that the Federal Trade Commission and the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice, having jurisdiction over these complaints, did not co-operate in bringing them to a speedy final determination in the courts. However, neither the Federal Trade Commission nor the Department of Justice nor NRA could impair the inalienable right of anyone to get relief in the courts. On the contrary, the NRA by its speedy device of exemption furnished a forum for obtaining relief much more rapidly than is possible under our court system."

Continuing his thoughts on the lack of co-ordination between the Federal agencies, Johnson said: "One of the most valid criticisms against the whole new deal is the fact that from time to time it has sorely lacked co-ordination. One Federal agency has been vigorously pushing a policy in a diametrically opposite direction."

Some of this was unavoidable and natural in a newly set up organization of the scope and magnitude and with the tremendous national problems of these emergency agencies. But after two years we should be able to avoid them."

Johnson proposed that the following definitions be written into the revised Recovery Act:

A. Labor policy.
B. Monopoly or monopolistic practices.
C. Unfair trade practices.
D. Interstate commerce.
E. Authority as between NRA, labor boards, the Department of Labor and Federal Trade Commission.
F. Industrial self-government and Federal supervision.

The extent, he said, to which Congress should go should be corrected to the following provisions:

A. Price control.
B. Production control.
C. Application to small enterprise.

He asked that he be permitted to finish reading the 88-page statement without interruption. He reads so rapidly, however, that there was little danger of Senatorial questioning until he had finished.

you have had here is the backwash of run-of-the-mill NRA Administration.

"My first attempt to do this was in good faith. It was not in good faith. It was a political walling wall and it recommended Communism. There was not one fair hearing before it."

"They disregarded NIRA, packed the record with framed testimony, disregarded every judicial rule of fairness known to man, solicited and accepted unsupported statements, restricted or ignored testimony unfavorable to their purposes, hazed witnesses on that site, it suited NRA officials, and for this I would not mention these things if this committee had not seemed to accept a great deal of testimony from Mr. Darrow and Mr. Martin as important or have it called Mr. Sinclair of that board who resigned in protest and disgust. Mr. Ryan testified before you that there was not one single case made before the Appeals Board that had not been immediately rectified."

"You have almost nothing before you of concrete substantiated evidence of a little fellow hurt by NRA except that little fellow doesn't like to pay code wages for coal miners. You have apprehensions and unsupported assertions."

Johnson declared that if the NIRA were not extended chaos would follow. He told the committee that millions of protests would be sent to Congress if the law were allowed to lapse.

At the conclusion of Johnson's testimony, Chairman Harrison announced that the committee would meet tomorrow morning in executive session. Several Senators said privately they would not allow the hearings to be closed until Donald R. Richberg, new NRA chairman, given his views on the constitutionality of any new NRA legislation.

KILLED AT PLAY

CLEMENT HAMILTON.

BOY, 8, STRANGLER
PLAYING WITH ROPE

Body of Dentist's Son Found in Closet by His Mother.

Clement Roy Hamilton, 8 years old, was strangled with a rope today while at play with his sister, Charlotte Ann, 2 years old, in their home at 5029 Alaska avenue.

His body was found by his mother, Mrs. Jane Hamilton, in a closet off a rear bedroom in the apartment which the children used as a playroom.

She told policemen that the boy was lying on the floor. A sash cord, which he had used in playing with other children in the neighborhood, had been thrown over a clothes pole in the closet, and was tangled around his neck.

Still playing in the room was Charlotte Ann, who pointed to the closet as her mother came in, after 10 minutes in the basement at a household task, and said, "Look at Charlotte. He's there."

Mrs. Hamilton untangled the cord, which she said later was not knotted, as far as she could recall, and carried the boy to his bed. The first policeman to arrive summoned an inhalator crew, but their efforts were futile and a physician pronounced the lad dead.

Clement was the son of Dr. Joseph M. Hamilton, a dentist, and a student at St. Cecilia's Catholic School. The Easter holidays of the school began today.

Communication in Which Paper Was Mentioned Is Framed in Wood from His Law Office.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18.—The Chicago Tribune today purchased for $100 a message written by Abraham Lincoln in which the newspaper was mentioned.

The message follows:
"Springfield, Nov. 12, 1860.
"Mr. Hale will oblige me, if he will send by the bearer, the Chicago Tribune we were looking at this morning."

"Yours truly,
"A. LINCOLN."

Circuit Court approval was given the purchase from the collection of the late Edward W. Payne. Paul M. Angle, state historical librarian, testified as to the value of the document, which is framed with wood taken from the oak floor of Lincoln's law office.

FALL OFF PORCH FATAL

Anthony Kriegshauser Dies of Complication from Fractured Hip.

Anthony Kriegshauser, 64 years old, died yesterday at City Hospital of complications resulting from a fractured hip suffered April 6 when he fell off a first-floor porch at the Little Sisters of the Poor, 3400 South Grand boulevard, where he lived.

The "murder investigation." Mrs. Puhse was arrested after Patrolman Allen Rowden of Granite City had become suspicious of her story that her husband had shot himself to death, and had made an investigation.

Subsequently, Lehne, arrested in the inquiry, admitted that he had shot Puhse in the head as he slept. He said he and Mrs. Puhse had agreed that he was to be shot, and that Mrs. Puhse had signaled him to enter the house by turning on the kitchen light.

Mrs. Puhse admitted the plot, but denied she had given the signal, saying she had turned on the light to see to get a drink of water. She said she had gone with Lehne to the bedside of her husband, and had fled to another room just as the shot was fired. The trial jury deliberated only three hours before deciding on the death penalty for both.

MRS. PUHSE GETS CLEMENCY; MAN'S EXECUTION RESET

Gov. Horner of Illinois
Commutes Granite City
Woman's Death Sentence to 99 Years in Prison.

REFUSES TO SPARE
THOMAS J. LEHNE

He Is to Go to Electric Chair Tuesday Instead of Tomorrow — Another Man Obtains Reprieve.

Mrs. Gertrude Puhse of Granite City, a somber-faced woman, worked industriously last night in her cell in Chester penitentiary on the patchwork quilt which she said she must finish before being led out tomorrow morning to die in the electric chair for the murder of her husband.

She looked up, stopped her work, as she heard the footsteps of Warden Joe Ragen in the corridor. He stopped before her cell, told her that her life had been spared, that Gov. Horner, at the recommendation of the State Pardon Board, had commuted her sentence to 99 years imprisonment, without eligibility for parole.

As she heard the words she dropped the quiltwork patches and clenched her hands. "Thank God," she choked, "I won't have to leave my children." Stumbling, she turned away, and the Warden heard her say, sobbing, "Oh, my God, I am sure thankful."

Ragen turned away and left her, weeping with joy. Had the sentence not been commuted, she would have been the first woman legally executed in Illinois since 1845.

Mr. Ragen's Brief Reprieve.
In another cell in the prison, Thomas J. Lehne, who shot Mrs. Puhse's husband to death as he slept on Jan. 26, 1934, sat in his cell, impatiently waiting for the end.

The Warden informed him that he was to have a brief reprieve, that the Governor had reset his execution for next Tuesday. Lehne, a former Venice policeman, whose illicit relations with Mrs. Puhse over six years led finally to the murder of her husband, Charles W. Puhse, received the news in silence.

The same word was given at Joliet prison to Fred Blink, White-Side County farmer, who killed five neighbors last fall. He was told, as was Lehne, that the Governor did not think either should die on Good Friday.

"Well, thanks, Warden," he said smiling. "But I suppose there will be nothing after Tuesday."

Son, Daughter Get News.
Mrs. Puhse's son, Earl, 20 years old, and her daughter, Miss Mildred Puhse, 22, had returned to their home in Granite City after beginning a trip to Springfield to plead for clemency, when they got word that their mother's sentence had been commuted.

"It was very, very good news," the son said, today to a Post-Dispatch reporter, while the daughter added, "You don't know—no body can know—what it meant to us. We started up to Springfield yesterday to see Bishop John Charles White of the Episcopal Church. We wanted him to intercede for mother with the Governor."

"We were late in starting and I didn't get to the bishop from Edwardsville, to tell him that we were coming. He told me he had already talked to the Governor, and that there was hope."

Shortly after dinner, Harold J. Bandy, attorney for Mrs. Puhse, telephoned them that their mother's life had been spared. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the Pardon Board seemed chiefly impressed by the disgrace the execution would have brought upon the son and daughter, and by a petition, prepared by the children, in which 50 residents of Granite City pleaded for the life of Mrs. Puhse.

Mrs. Puhse will be transferred today or tomorrow to the women's reformatory at Dwight, Ill., Warden Ragen said.

The Murder Investigation.
Mrs. Puhse was arrested after Patrolman Allen Rowden of Granite City had become suspicious of her story that her husband had shot himself to death, and had made an investigation.

Subsequently, Lehne, arrested in the inquiry, admitted that he had shot Puhse in the head as he slept. He said he and Mrs. Puhse had agreed that he was to be shot, and that Mrs. Puhse had signaled him to enter the house by turning on the kitchen light.

Mrs. Puhse admitted the plot, but denied she had given the signal, saying she had turned on the light to see to get a drink of water. She said she had gone with Lehne to the bedside of her husband, and had fled to another room just as the shot was fired. The trial jury deliberated only three hours before deciding on the death penalty for both.

CUCKOO GANGSTER
GETS TWO YEARS

Henry E. Etzel, Surrendered in Court by Bondsman, Pleads Guilty of Robbery.

Henry E. Etzel, Cuckoo gangster and ex-convict, sought by police since last Dec. 18 when he jumped $11,600 in bonds on charges of robbery and carrying concealed weapons, was surrendered in court today by his attorney and bondsman.

He pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Connor to concurrent terms of two years in the penitentiary.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Woodward said the State agreed to the sentence because its chief witness in the robbery case had died and other witnesses were considered "weak." Etzel was tried on the robbery charge in February, 1934, but the jury failed to agree.

Etzel was charged with holding up Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Meyer in their home, 415 East Marceau street, on June 21, 1932. At the trial neither of them identified Etzel, although police testified they had pointed him out as one of two robbers immediately after the robbery, when he was arrested in front of the house.

Neither Meyer nor his wife appeared at several subsequent settings and on Nov. 19 Circuit Judge Barron continued the case again, commenting that there had been a "flagrant attempt to intimidate a witness." The Court later said that the pair had testified at the February trial that they had been threatened with harm if they named Etzel.

The following day an investigation by the Post-Dispatch disclosed that Meyer had died in Kansas in September, but that Mrs. Meyer had not been subpoenaed. Circuit Attorney Miller then announced he would have the woman served by a member of his own staff.

At the next setting, on Dec. 18, however, Etzel failed to appear and Judge Barron ordered a forfeiture against the bondsman, John J. Keegan. Today Keegan appeared with Etzel, accompanied also by the latter's attorney, Sigmund Bass,

MISS BETTY SCHUSTER WEDS
C. B. HARJES IN NEW YORK

Daughter of Mrs. Roland Douglas Becomes Bride of Son of
Col. H. H. Harjes.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 18.—Miss Betty Schuster, daughter of Mrs. Roland Douglas of New York, was married yesterday to Charles B. Harjes, son of Mrs. Henry Herman Harjes of Philadelphia and the late Col. Harjes.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Otis Rice at St. Thomas' Church on Fifth avenue. The pair had wanted a quick ceremony at the Municipal Church, but the clerk refused to marry them unless Miss Schuster could show a certificate saying she was 21 years old.

Mrs. Douglas, Carl Schuster, the bride's brother, and his wife, the former Anne Storrs, and Mr. and Mrs. John McVickar were the attendants.

Harjes' father was a senior partner of Morgan, Harjes & Co. before his death in 1928. The bridegroom is connected with a travel agency. Harjes is a nephew of Mrs. Robert E. Strawbridge of Philadelphia. His mother was the former Frederica Berwind.

The pair will live in New York. Miss Schuster's engagement to Richard A. Jones Jr., amateur golfer, was announced in September, 1933, and was terminated by mutual consent later.

Hoover Reaches Home.

PALO ALTO, Cal., April 18.—Former President Herbert Hoover returned to his home on the Stanford campus here today after a two-week "business trip" to New York. Through his secretary, Paul Sexton, who accompanied him, he denied there was any political significance to his trip.

who had conferred with the Circuit Attorney's office.

The concealed weapon charge grew out of an arrest April 18, 1933. Etzel served three years of a 60-year term in Illinois following conviction in the murder of a Madison bank cashier in a $23,500 holdup. About a year and a half ago he was acquitted of a $550 holdup of a money car in St. Louis County. Two veniremen tentatively selected for the trial were excused when they told the Court someone had visited them at their homes, asking them to "do their best" for Etzel.

STRIKER KILLED,
4 MEN SHOT IN RUSH ON PLANT

About 100 Trying to Storm
Kaul Clay Co. Building at Toronto, Ohio, Stopped by Bullets.

By the Associated Press.
TORONTO, O., April 18.—One man was killed and four were wounded when about 100 strikers and strike pickets tried to rush a building of the Kaul Clay Co. here yesterday afternoon. Eighteen imported strike-breakers were in the building. Deputy Sheriff Charles Merryman said the shots came from the company plant. About 100 shots were fired.

Andy Latiska, 30 years old, of Port Homer, a clay worker, father of two children, was the man killed. The wounded: Andy Straka, Toronto, a picket; Roosevelt Hart, Negro, Toronto, a picket; Steve Vasiloff, Stratton, a picket; and George Roney, mill worker, Toronto. Roney was not a picket.

Prosecutor Arthur L. Hooper ordered all firearms confiscated and summoned six of the 21 guards on duty at the plant to report for questioning today. He said he had not decided whether to call the grand jury to investigate the shooting.

James J. Dyer, general manager of the plant, which resumed operation Monday in an attempt to break a month-old strike resulting from a wage dispute, said work would be suspended indefinitely.

Merryman, a regular county deputy on duty at one of the two gates to the company property, gave the following version of the shooting: "About 1 o'clock a crowd of strikers, 100 or more, came down the railroad tracks from the direction of Port Homer. They came to my gate and demanded admittance and said they wanted to talk to the men in the plant and try to induce them to quit work."

"I would not allow them to enter and told them to go away before someone got shot. They went to the other gate and were told the same thing. Then they split up and a crowd of them rushed through an unprotected spot along the property line. They rushed toward the main plant and as they went forward the shooting started."

None of the regular county deputies on duty did any shooting. As the shooting started, the invaders turned and fled. I did not see any weapons on the men who broke into the plant. They hadn't any clubs or bricks as far as I could see, but they seemed determined to go in despite warning to stay out."

BORAH SAYS CENSURE SHOWS
LEAGUE IS 'SPINELESS TOOL'

Does What a Few Nations Tell It to Do, He Comments; Would Bar European Loans.

Earlier, Borah, a former chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, had introduced a bill to prohibit any new public or private loans to foreign governments except those on the American continent. He asserted any money lent to Europe "is in aid of war."

Borah spoke only briefly in criticizing the League's action. He said "nothing in the history of this institution better illustrated that it is not an independent body for peace, but a spineless tool in the hands of a few nations to do what those nations elect."

"This institution," he asserted, "should no longer pretend to be an independent body seeking by independent methods to advance the cause of peace."

J. N. DARLING THREATENS TO QUIT BIOLOGICAL SURVEY

Impatient Over Official Delays Which He Says Hold Up His Wild Life Program.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Impatient over official delays which he says are holding up his wild life conservation program, J. N. Darling is threatening to quit his post as chief of the biological survey. He said today that unless the situation was corrected "very rapidly" he was ready to resign.

Darling, widely known newspaper cartoonist, attacked Congress for its failure to include in the work relief bill provisions for wild life restoration activities; charged that his bureau of biological survey had been virtually "dissolved" because of the failure of other departments and bureaus to act on its recommendations and criticized the general official "inaction" on required wild game legislation.

"There has been a great expectancy built up among sportsmen and conservationists during the past year," he said. "Great promises have been made and hopes have run high but, despite the fact that President Roosevelt has supported the program from the very beginning, it has been blocked, hampered, sidetracked and pigeonholed until it begins to appear that it is almost useless to continue."

MANUFACTURERS ASK FOR DELAY ON NRA LEGISLATION

Request Congress to Wait for Supreme Court Decision on Extent of Jurisdiction Over Commerce.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 18.—The National Association of Manufacturers urged Congress today to hold up action on the Wagner labor disputes bill, the 30-hour week bill, and proposed changes in NRA until the Supreme Court has determined the extent of Federal jurisdiction over commerce.

The association's recommendation was in a statement approved by the board of directors, which yesterday accused the American Federation of Labor of "coercion" and the deliberate fostering of "strike talk" to force through Congress "such unwise legislation as the Wagner labor disputes bill."

The manufacturers today commended the administration for its appeal to the Supreme Court in the Schechter poultry cases, scheduled for review at the present term. "This case will further afford an opportunity to make clear the nature and extent of the power to regulate interstate commerce," the board said.

Reliable Guide Needed. "It will afford what is sadly needed, an opportunity for legislators, as well as the average citizen, to find a reliable guide in determining their duties under the law."

"A decision by our highest court will dissolve the fog of uncertainty which has hung over the country for the past two years and tended to contribute to the multiplying obstructions which have beset the pathway of recovery."

Attack on Labor Federation. "In view of the fact that 21 Federal courts throughout the United States have emphatically declared that various assertions of the right of Federal authority to control local relations under the guise of commerce power were all outside the authority of the Federal Government, it is important that pending legislation relating to the 30-hour week bill, Wagner labor disputes bill and the extension of the NRA be held in abeyance until the Court responds to the request of the Government clearly to define its powers."

The statement said that at the A. F. of L. convention last fall, the demands were stated and the declaration made that "economic pressure" would be exerted, if necessary, to enforce the demands. "Reaping the Whirlwind."

"Obviously this country is now reaping the whirlwind of that threat," the statement added. "There can be little doubt," the statement went on, "that the American Federation of Labor is deliberately fostering strike talk throughout the nation at this time with the intention of coercing Congress into enactment of legislation sought by labor officials without regard to its effect upon recovery. Every recent utterance of this group has further born out this conclusion."

"Strikes have been at a minimum for months following the proposal by President Roosevelt of an industrial truce to permit industry to have full sway. Industry publicly accepted that truce and challenged the American Federation of Labor to do so. It never did."

"However, for months the word has been whispered around that strikes would be renewed as Congress convened, with the intention of forcing Federal intervention and seeming to create a need for such unwise legislation as the Wagner labor disputes bill, which would place the Government in a position of interfering in every local labor relation."

"There can be no better illustration of why Congress should reject the demands of this organized minority, which has steadily refused to accept legal responsibility for its acts and has through the years engaged in unbridled coercion and intimidation at individual plants."

Methods Used Against Congress. "On a nation-wide scale the same methods are now being used to influence Congress."

"To appreciate the full significance of these demands, it must be understood that the American Federation of Labor, by its own reports, represents less than 10 per cent of the industrial workers of the country. In such important key industries as automobiles, steel, and rubber the percentage is far less."

7 PCT. INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES GOES INTO EFFECT

Federal Court at Richmond, Va., Denies Injunction Sought by Appalachian Coal Mines.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., April 18.—A court of three Federal Judges declined late yesterday to interfere with emergency railroad freight surcharges, authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which will go into effect today.

The court denied a petition for a temporary injunction against the increases after hearing argument by counsel for 180 coal-mining companies in the Appalachian area, who sought the restraining order, and attorneys for the commission, the Government and the railroads.

Counsel for the mining companies were given 10 days in which to file a further brief, and the defendants' attorneys were granted an additional 10 days to file their brief. The plaintiffs may file an answering brief in another five days if they desire.

Arguments in Case.

J. Stanley Payne, assistant counsel for the commission, contended that the coal operators had no standing in court and that their remedy lay in a complaint to the commission that the 15-cents-a-ton surcharge on bituminous coal was found to be burdensome and unreasonable after a period of trial.

J. Van Norman, counsel for the mine operators, replied for his clients to apply for redress to the commission which authorized the increases, would be hopeless.

Payne, R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, and Elmer Collins, assistant to the Solicitor-General of the United States, contended that an injunction would "create turmoil" in the administration of rates by the commission, particularly the temporary increases effective until June 30, 1936.

Commodities Exempted.

The temporary increases in the form of surcharges apply to nearly all commodities. The only exceptions are major farm crops, including wheat, corn, barley, rice and livestock and building materials.

The lowest additional charges are 10 cents a ton on iron ore and 3 to 15 cents a ton on coal. The highest is 4 cents per 100 pounds—50 cents a short ton—on binder twine and rosin sizing.

The increases were granted three weeks ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroads had asked for a permanent increase of nearly 10 per cent, but the commission allowed advances of about 7 per cent.

12 CONVICTS TO BE FREED

Mississippi Governor Intercedes for Friendless Men.

PARCHMAN, Miss., April 18.—Twelve convicts who have been in the State penitentiary here for years will be freed today as a result of Gov. Sennett Conner's intercession.

Some weeks ago the Governor went to the prison to hear the pleas of men who had no one "outside" to intercede in their behalf. About 70 appeared and when he returns today for further hearings, he will give pardons or suspensions to 12 of them.

PATMAN EXPECTS HOUSE TO STAND BY HIS BONUS BILL

"Would Rather Lose Battle Than Compromise," He Says Attacking Harrison Measure.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Representative Patman of Texas, whose bill to pay the bonus with new currency already has passed the House, appeared today to be the most bitter opponent of the compromise bonus bill offered yesterday by Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi.

Former service men would rather lose "the bonus battle" than accept the compromise, Patman contended. He predicted the House would stand by his bill.

The leading advocates of cash payment were generally hostile to the Harrison measure, which would offer the veterans negotiable bonds in exchange for their bonus certificates. However, many others withheld comment pending further study of the bill or professed to see some good in it.

"The Harrison bill is a step in the right direction, but only a step," said a statement issued by James E. Van Zandt, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. "As it stands, the measure would fall far short of what World War veterans consider an equitable settlement of their adjusted service pay."

The V. F. W. leader renewed his support of the Patman measure. Frank N. Belgrano Jr., commander of the American Legion, in a statement at Columbia, S. C., today said the legion would insist that any bonus bill passed by Congress provide for cash payment.

Belgrano, now on a speaking tour of North and South Carolina, said he and other legion officers would appear before the Senate Finance Committee to protest against any sort of "compromise."

He indicated the Harrison adjusted compensation bill would not be acceptable to the legion. He said he had not read the bill and was sending for a copy to familiarize himself with it.

"The legion is not trying to tell the Government how to finance payment," he said, "since that is the function of properly constituted officials, but it feels that the Government should pay this debt in full. The veterans need the money and payment will benefit every line of business."

Explanation of Harrison Bill. Experts who aided in drafting the Harrison bill explained, meanwhile, that under its terms a veteran holding a bonus certificate which would mature under the present law at $1000 in 1945 either could exchange it for negotiable bonds for which he could obtain $770 in cash, or hold the certificate for 10 years and collect $115.

It was said that the average veteran holding such a certificate already has borrowed $500 against it. He would have to pay off his loan and interest if he converted his bonus into cash. If he did this immediately under the Harrison plan, Senate finance experts said, the veteran would be left with about $175.

Failure of the Harrison measure to provide for cancellation of interest on bonus loans, as both the Patman and Vinson bills do, was one of the points mentioned most frequently by critics.

Senator Harrison estimated his bill would cost $1,300,000,000, or a billion less than the Patman bill.

Dr. R. A. Millikan Warns Against "Stupendous Bonus Racket." NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 18.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, California scientist, warned a Rutgers University audience last night against a "stupendous bonus racket."

"If a selfish minority organizes to intimidate our lawmakers into voting them privileges and benefits that are inimical to the interests of the country as a whole, you may count upon it that the same or another equally selfish minority will follow their example again and again," he said.

Dr. Millikan recalled predictions of Thomas R. Macaulay made 100 years ago that the "bonus tendency" would end in the overthrow of the American Government by revolutions springing either from within or engineered by barbarians without.

HOUSE LAYS OUT ITS WORK,
HOPING TO ADJOURN BY JULY

Social Security, Naval Appropriations and Omnibus Banking Bill First on Program.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—A program was drawn up today by House leaders with a view to adjournment by June 15 or July 1. Speaker Byrns conceded, however, that Senate delays might hold Congress until August.

On the tentative program were these bills:

Social security, naval appropriations, omnibus banking, farm legislation, utilities holding companies.

NRA extension, ship subsidy and merchant marine, motor bus regulation and tax extension. Others may be added, or some of these dropped.

The schedule is to pass the security bill Monday, take up the $480,000,000 naval appropriation measure for two days of debate the same day and, before the end of next week, pass the omnibus banking bill.

Byrns said that if the utilities holding company bill was submitted to the House in its present form—designed to abolish the companies—"there'll be a fight over that."

"But if the committee should bring in a bill that just provides for regulation of utilities holding companies, there would be no trouble," he said.

DEATH DISCLOSES MARRIAGE

Charles Edward Locke, East St. Louis, Wed. Three Years Ago. With announcement yesterday of funeral arrangements for Charles Edward Locke, National Stockyards National Bank clerk, his marriage three years ago to Miss Lula Herz, 610 North Sixteenth street, East St. Louis, was disclosed. The wedding had been kept secret from all but parents of the pair.

Locke, 26 years old, died of appendicitis at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, Tuesday evening. He had been employed at the Stockyards bank for seven years. Funeral services will be at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at 4104 Caseyville avenue, where he lived with his mother, Mrs. Georgia Locke.

GIL BERRY'S FIANCEE

MISS MADELINE LEONARD, AMATEUR dancer and daughter of Police Lieut. and Mrs. John M. Leonard of Chicago, who is engaged to the former University of Illinois football star. She is 21. Berry was divorced two months ago by the former Winifred Hunt, once a beauty queen at Illinois.

ICKES CUTS OFF GEORGIA FROM 4 PWA PROJECTS

Says Governor Talmadge, Administration Opponent, Failed to Sponsor Necessary Laws.

SECRETARY HITS ALSO AT LONG

Says "Kingfish" Has "Hallucinations of the Intellect"—Wouldn't Debate With Him.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. 201-205 Kellogg Building. WASHINGTON, April 18.—The administration's quarrel with Huey Long grew warmer today as Secretary of the Interior-Public Works Administrator Ickes again wielded the public works stick, this time barring not only Louisiana, but Georgia, where, it is reported, a strong movement for Long is under way, from works grants.

Ickes has decided to withhold three projects of $648,000 from Louisiana, he said at his press conference today. In a formal statement, he announced that he had rescinded four Georgia allotments totaling $210,000, because Gov. Eugene Tamm failed "to sponsor the necessary legislation."

Talmadge in engaged in a general war on the administration, threatening to stump not only his own State, but the entire South in opposition to the cotton processing tax. For some time he has been at odds with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. He has quarreled on several occasions with Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

"I like to do business with people on whose word I can rely," Ickes said, when urged to explain further his action in Georgia.

"The trouble with Emperor Long," said Ickes, is that he is suffering from hallucinations of the intellect. "I wouldn't attempt to meet Emperor Long in any combat of abrogation or explication, either with or without bodyguard."

Does Not Join in Laughter. Although he spoke fighting words, the Interior Secretary did not join in the laughter that greeted his wisecracks at Senator Long, maintaining the solemn poker face that seldom registers any emotion.

He explained that the principal project for Louisiana which is being held up pending action of the Legislature in Baton Rouge, is a housing program for New Orleans. The contracts were on his desk, he said, but he had not yet signed them and would not sign them until "I know what laws the Emperor has passed."

According to press reports from Baton Rouge, Long has proposed 22 new laws which would give him absolute control over Federal allotments to Louisiana. The Louisiana Senate was expected to follow the action of the House and pass the measures today. On Tuesday Ickes referred to the Legislature in Baton Rouge as the Longist Legislature.

Talmadge Working for Long. In Georgia, where grants for an airport, a garage, a jail and county schools were rescinded, Gov. Talmadge is reported to be lining up the State for Long, preparing to take a Long delegation to the Democratic national convention next year.

Talmadge agreed, according to Ickes, nearly a year ago to put through the Legislature the necessary legislation to enable the State to take advantage of PWA advances. The Legislature met in January and there was no action. In March, Ickes sent a telegram to the Georgia Governor and as yet has received no reply, he said. The legislation was finally passed, in a somewhat modified form, only to be vetoed by the Governor. Ickes said he did not know the reason for the veto.

Georgia, it was brought out during the press conference, has received a smaller proportion of PWA funds than almost any other State. This was because of the difficulties of the State's Constitution and laws, Ickes said.

"We'll deal with any municipality in Georgia that qualifies," the administrator said, "but we don't care for any more underwriting by the Governor."

One of the six sides who stood on the Secretary confirmed the fact, about which Ickes was a little uncertain, that the legislation had been passed and then vetoed by Talmadge.

"That's co-operation for you," was Ickes' comment. Louisiana Action Not Final. Ickes indicated that the Louisiana projects were not finally canceled. The ultimate action to be taken would depend, he intimated, on what the Louisiana Legislature might do.

"Where contracts are being carried out," he said, "we will not make them suffer. But we do not feel justified in going forward with new projects."

PWA is inquiring into the $4,000,000 loan and grant to Louisiana for a bridge across the Mississippi River at Baton Rouge, Ickes disclosed. "That hasn't been started yet," he said with significant emphasis. "The Emperor will soon have a considerable share of the share-the-unemployment movement in Louisiana," he added. "It was all right in Louisiana until Long came into the picture." It has been known for some time that the Administration has been seeking an effective hand-to-hand scraper at one time that Donald R. Richberg, NRA head, would be the challenger but apparently it was concluded that he has enough troubles without taking on the Louisiana Senator. The few jibes he took at Long were so mild as to escape Huey's attention altogether. Apparently Ickes has been chosen to hold the Long front.

Louisiana Senate Stands by Long in Fight With PWA.

By the Associated Press. BATON ROUGE, La., April 18.—The Louisiana Legislature today advanced the bills giving Long control of expenditure of Federal work relief funds, finances of local governing agencies and the State's election machinery.

The House met briefly, passed six bills making minor amendments to existing laws, and adjourned until Saturday when it will concur in Senate amendments to the Long measures. The Senate Finance Committee took up the Long bills and gave them rapid fire approval after Long personally "explained" them.

National Guard troops, enforcing martial law here, rested on their arms in the State House corridors and there were comparatively few spectators. Martial law has prevailed in Baton Rouge since citizens took up arms in January against Long's dictatorship and were routed by the State soldiers.

After the Senate killed a peace move in Long's fight with the national administration over supervision of Public Works Administration expenditures, the Legislature settled down.

Long gave no intention of relaxing his fight with Washington officials over administration of PWA money in Louisiana. One of his supporters, however, surprised the Senate last night by proposing a plea to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Interior Ickes not to withhold work funds for the State. The Senate quickly rejected the proposal, 23 to 7.

The Senate's action started speculation as to the future course of Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator. Hopkins has given no indication as to his plans, but his action in naming a bitter Long opponent, Senator Frank P. Peterson, to the post of State relief director, was said in some quarters to mean he already had moved toward federalizing Louisiana relief.

Peterson's selection indicated a possible intention to ignore legislation favored by Long naming Gov. O. K. Allen as relief head. Senator John J. Wingrave of New and now goes to the Governor for approval.

 The Circuit Judges in St. Louis County formerly received $5000 a year, but they were reduced to $5000 a year after the 1930 census, which showed a material increase in population of St. Louis County and automatically placed the county in another classification under the law fixing the salaries of Circuit Judges. The act creates a Board of Pardoners, with the four Judges and Prosecuting Attorney as members, and provides they shall receive $1500 a year for serving on this board.

MAN AND WIFE ARRESTED IN NARCOTIC RAID ON HOME
 Officers Seize Five Cubes of Morphine; Agent Says He Made Four Purchases.
 Joseph Stabile, 22-year-old paper hanger, and his wife, Lena, 21, were arrested by Federal narcotic agents and police last night, after the officers had broken into the Stabile home at 3847 Evans avenue and had seized five cubes of morphine. An agent had obtained a search warrant on affidavit that he had purchased morphine there four times. He was forced, the agent said, to stand under a bright light on the back porch, while persons inside scrutinized him from the darkness until they were satisfied he was not an officer. The officers surrounded a house on North Grand boulevard, next door to a church, but the woman who lived there, from whom an agent said he had purchased narcotics, was not at home. Her husband promised to take her to Narcotic Agent John Tully's office today.

TWO NEW CONNECTIONS FOR ST. LOUIS AIR MAIL

Chicago-Seattle Service, Through Minneapolis and St. Paul, to Be Started May 1.

St. Louis will have two new air mail connections with cities on the northern transcontinental air mail route when new airplane service between Chicago and Seattle, through Minneapolis and St. Paul, is established May 1. Postmaster Jackson announced today.

Air mail on the regular morning trip from St. Louis, for which the closing time is 1:55 a. m. at the Main Postoffice, Eighteenth and Walnut streets, and which reaches Chicago at 6 a. m., will be placed on the new transcontinental plane arriving at Seattle at 8:30 p. m. The afternoon air mail, with a closing time at 3:55 p. m., reaches Chicago at 7:45 p. m., so that the new connection will enable it to reach Seattle at 8:45 a. m. the next day.

10 YEARS FOR KILLING MAN, 70 WITH CLEAVER IN TAVERN ROW

Negro, 22, Convicted of Manslaughter; Told of Fight and Pleaded Self-Defense.

James Johnson, 22-year-old Negro, was found guilty of manslaughter in a jury verdict returned in Circuit Judge Williams' court today and his punishment was fixed at 10 years in prison.

Johnson killed Alfred Wilson, 70-year-old Negro, 4224 North Market street, in a fight at a tavern at 4207 Garfield avenue last Oct. 13. In testimony at the trial he contended that he threw a bottle at Wilson and struck him with a cleaver in self-defense because Wilson was armed with a knife and a pistol. The weapons were in evidence.

When arrested Johnson resided at 4252W. St. Ferdinand avenue.

ZONING BOARD ALLOWS COOLER

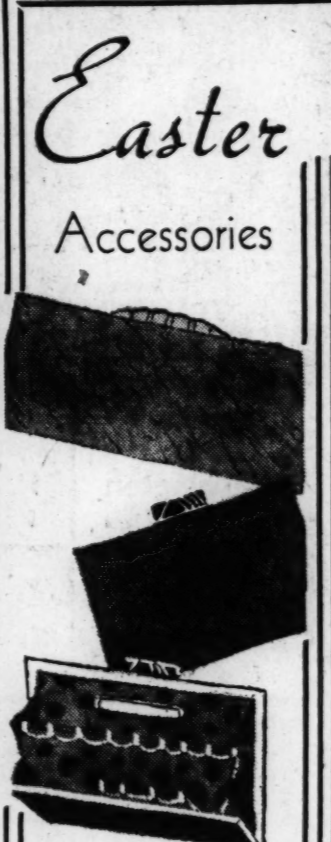

Packing Firm Request Granted, Rendering Plant Permit Denied.

After withdrawal of an application by the Sokolik Packing Co. for permission to erect a rendering plant adjoining its packing plant at 1705 North Vandeventer avenue, the Zoning Board of Adjustment granted permission yesterday for construction of a new cooler. The board would have refused to permit the rendering plant.

The Building Commissioner had declined to issue a permit for the rendering plant, because such things are allowed only in unrestricted zones, and the company had appealed to the board. The company argued that city meat inspectors desired it to have new equipment. Neighboring property owners objected to the rendering plant at a hearing, but did not object to the cooler.

LECTURER'S EX-WIFE POINTS OUT RIVAL

First Mrs. Grant Wells Cries
"There She Is" Describes Semi-Marital State.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 18.—(AP)—A dramatic clash between Mrs. Luard T. Wells of New York, former wife of Grant Carveth Wells, lecturer and writer, and counsel for the defendant in the first Mrs. Wells' $50,000 alienation of affections suit, was marked today by the first Mrs. Wells' testimony.

The first Mrs. Wells was cross-examined today by Attorney Richard Steel of New York on a statement she made yesterday that she and her husband had a "normal married life" and that Mrs. Wells No. 2 entered the picture.

Asked to explain what she meant by a "normal married life," Mrs. Wells replied: "A normal married life would mean that I would take all the kicks and get up to him and stand behind him in the married affairs. I was a normal married woman fighting for my husband's affection."

She was asked by Steel on a statement she made yesterday in which she said that she and Wells resumed a "normal married life" in 1928 after they had been a "normal married couple" for a year and a half.

She was asked to identify Miss Steel as the woman who was the defendant in the suit. She pointed to the witness who was seated close to Wells at the end of the counsel table.

She was asked to identify Mrs. Luard T. Wells, and half hour from her seat on the witness stand pointed to the defendant who was seated close to Wells at the end of the counsel table.

JEWEL BOX FLOWERS DISPLAYED FOR EASTER

Exhibits at Shaw's Garden Also —Sacred Lilies of South Africa Predominate.

Special exhibits of flowers for the Easter season are on display at the Jewel Box in Forest Park and at the Floral Display House in Shaw's Garden. White satin-like trumpets of the Easter lily, and the round white clusters of the Ornithogalum, sacred lily of South Africa, are predominant in each exhibit.

The familiar oval design at the Jewel Box has been slightly changed for the Easter display. The flower-bordered sides of the oval, instead of curving at the far end from the entrance, mount in extended lines up a rock mound and around a white cross at the top. The color scheme close to the cross is pink and white, made up of lilies, white daisies, rhododendrons, and dicentra, or "Bleeding Heart." Away from the cross the flower border was deepened in color, and planted with dark pink, red and orange tulips, dark blue and coral pink hyacinths, yellow primrose, the woolly heads of cream-colored spirea astilbe, and stalks of Easter lilies reaching above the others. White doves were placed around the mound and cross.

Banked against the sides of the Jewel Box are climbing roses, "Rosary," a shell-pink, and "Eugene Jaquet," a dark pink, combined with hydrangeas, azaleas and rhododendrons. Specimens of the blood-red rose, "Etoile de Hollande," spot the background of paler shades.

At Shaw's Garden, the central design was made in five beds. A crescent-shaped bed occupies the foreground. Clumps of lavender rhododendrons are used as accent points near each end of the crescent, and, on a lower level covering the balance of the area, are azaleas and rhododendrons, arranged to get a harmonious shading from deep pink to white. One very dark red rhododendron spots the center point of the bed.

Extending back from the foreground bed are two parallel, wide rows in a pale color scheme, devised of Easter lilies, yellow and white annual chrysanthemums, with here and there a spot of pale blue. Beyond these beds the color-scheme again is darkened with two deeper colored beds of rhododendrons and azaleas.

The background of the design fairly gleams with five-foot stalks of golden and vivid, orange-shaded nasturtiums. Interplanted were white calla and Easter lilies. There are beds, separated from the central design, of schizanthus, or "Butterfly Flower," in countless variegated shades, interplanted with snapdragons.

Of interest to the housewife is a collection of begonias, including a new purple-leaved variety for home decoration. Another display is a mass of South African daisies, unusual for their dark orange-shaded petals and deep brown centers. The Jewel Box will be open Easter Sunday at 5 a. m. to accommodate those who wish to see the display after early church services. Shaw's Garden will be open at 10 a. m.

FAVORS ADDITIONAL $60,000 FOR MISSOURI UNIVERSITY

State Senate Committee Recommends That Proposed Appropriation Be Increased.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—The Senate appropriations committee yesterday recommended $60,000 additional to the House appropriations bill for the University of Missouri.

As approved by the committee, which is headed by Senator J. S.

Rollins of Columbia, the University would get $3,220,770 out of general revenue for 1935-36, as compared with less than $2,000,000 for the last biennium.
The committee approved a $45,000 appropriation for the student labor fund, and an additional $15,000 for the crippled children's service. Except for the two changes, the bill is the same as when it was passed by the House of Representatives several weeks ago.

CHARGE OF GETTING RELIEF BY FALSE PRETENSE DROPPED

Belleville Man, Employed Only Part Time Needed Aid, Investigation Shows.

A charge of obtaining relief by false pretense was dismissed at Belleville yesterday against Joseph Shipton of 745 North Seventy-eighth street, East St. Louis.

State's Attorney L. P. Zerweck informed County Judge Fleming that an investigation showed that Shipton earns only $35 a month from part-time employment, and needed aid in supporting his wife and five children. The information, which was dismissed, charged Shipton with making false statements concerning his financial condition in applying for food for his family.

RED CROSS TO SURVEY EFFECT OF DUST STORMS ON HEALTH

Albert Evans, Disaster Relief Director, Goes to Kansas; Pneumonia Increasing.

Albert Evans, disaster relief director for the American Red Cross, left St. Louis yesterday for Liberal, Kan., to get further information on the health situation in communities, which suffered the most from the recent dust storms.

Reports of an increasing number of pneumonia and bronchitis cases have been received, and additional nursing care is being provided by the Red Cross, which co-operates with local health authorities.

The affected area includes parts of Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

ALDERMAN TO INTRODUCE BILL FOR NIGHT POLICE COURT

Would Dispose of Minor Traffic Cases and Be Convenient to Public, He Says.

A bill for establishment of a night court to hear traffic cases will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Lietchen of the Third Ward, who has asked Associate City Counselor Senti to draft the measure.

Lietchen today said such a court, conducted along the lines of similar tribunals in New York and elsewhere, would be a convenience to the public in disposing immediately of minor cases and in assuring the presence of witnesses. He thought some persons had lost their jobs because they had to go to Police Court in daytime.

A night court presumably would require a third Police Judge at $4000 a year, an Assistant City Counselor for prosecutor, a clerk and two or three bailiffs.

Lietchen also has asked Senti to draft a bill to reduce the city dog license fee from $2 a year to $1. He said 9208 dog licenses were issued in the last fiscal year, compared with 14,862 in the preceding year, and expressed the opinion that the city might collect a larger total with a smaller fee.

MAYOR BUILDING UP ORGANIZATION IN G. O. P. WARDS

Records Show Excess of Jobs Is Distributed in Sections He Hopes to Win Over.

HOW APPOINTEES ARE KEPT IN LINE

Among 7391 City Employees Are 1646 Holdovers From Previous Republican Administration.

(Copyright 1935, by the Pulitzer

In the allocation of patronage by Mayor Dickmann, who has sought to consolidate Democratic gains in recent years and build up an efficient political organization, small wards long stanchly Republican have fared better than those which have been Democratic strongholds.

A survey by Post-Dispatch reporters of Efficiency Board records of 7391 city jobs under the Mayor's jurisdiction, with an annual payroll of more than $9,500,000, indicated he was following the practical political principle that one Republican vote which becomes Democratic is equivalent to two Democratic votes, the opposition being weakened at the same time his party is strengthened.

Clamor for city jobs for their workers, committee members and Aldermen have pressed their point that political constancy should be rewarded, but the Mayor, with apparent success, has allotted more than their proportionate share of patronage to small Republican wards which he hopes to add permanently to the Democratic column.

Building Up Organization.

Perfection of an efficient organization in these wards obviously is prove of advantage when the constitutional amendment approved last November, permitting the election of St. Louis Aldermen by wards, was put into effect. While an aldermanic candidate was identified by the number of the ward in which he resided, in the past he has been elected by city-wide vote, sometimes carrying his own ward, but being defeated elsewhere. The Missouri Supreme Court, in its Missouri charter amendment to be necessary before Aldermen may be elected by wards.

Efficiency Board, which functions properly for only four years after its establishment in 1914, exists as a formality which in no way hinders the use of patronage for organization purposes. While the Mayor insists that maximum efficiency was maintained, he candidly stated that enough capable workers were to be found in Democratic ranks.

Sponsorship Kept Secret.

There has been deep interest, particularly among nearly 80,000 unsuccessful applicants for city jobs, in the identity of those whose sponsorship exercised the greatest weight with Mayor Dickmann. While the Post-Dispatch survey indicated there had been a fairly equitable distribution of jobs as to wards, it does not follow that the Committee, Committeewoman or Alderman of a given ward has equal ability to put followers on the public payroll.

The indorsement of the Democratic committee members of his ward is supposed to be necessary for an applicant to obtain a city job, but the Mayor has the last word and can control the allocation to wards. Some committee members have complained that persons have obtained jobs without their approval, while those they had sponsored were still on the waiting list.

The Post-Dispatch sought to learn who the most influential job-getters were by an examination of applications of job-seekers which contain answers to perfunctory questions and bear the indorsement of two sponsors. Mayor Dickmann conferred with City Counselor Hay, Associate City Counselor Hay, and advisers. After five days' delay, access to the applications, bearing sponsors' names, was denied, a legal opinion by Hay stating they were not public records.

Mayor Dickmann, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch, cited Hay's opinion and asserted that secrecy of applications was "consistent with good public policy and with all rights of persons in the public service."

In previous administrations reporters were privileged to examine applications and records except examination papers of applicants who failed. Mayor Dickmann gave permission to examine only the card index file, bearing the names and addresses of city employees at the time their applications were made.

Locating addresses of each jobholder on a ward map of the city, the number of employees from each ward was ascertained. These figures were compared with the number of jobs to which each ward would be entitled on a basis of population.

How Jobs Were Parceled Out.

Chief beneficiaries of the organization policy were the Sixth Ward, which received 43 jobs more than its quota; Fourteenth, 24; Nineteenth, 8; Twenty-first, 51, and

DISTRIBUTION OF CITY PATRONAGE BY WARDS UNDER DEMOCRATIC RULE

THE number of city jobholders in each ward, determined in a survey of Efficiency Board records made by Post-Dispatch reporters, follows:

First	275
Second	225
Third	227
Fourth	244
Fifth	157
Sixth	221
Seventh	258
Eighth	274
Ninth	143
Tenth	174
Eleventh	212
Twelfth	236
Thirteenth	350
Fourteenth	222
Fifteenth	296
Sixteenth	263
Seventeenth	279
Eighteenth	246
Nineteenth	246
Twentieth	246
Twenty-first	299
Twenty-second	327
Twenty-third	258
Twenty-fourth	513
Twenty-fifth	312
Twenty-sixth	294
Twenty-seventh	310
Twenty-eighth	266

Total 7391.

These figures include 576 employees under the jurisdiction of Mayor Dickmann appointed since his inauguration, and 1646 holdovers (including Fire Department members), from the previous Republican administration. They do not include 110 resident employees in city institutions outside the city limits nor 85 internes and residents in other city institutions.

Twenty-third, 28. Each is an old Republican standby. The Fifteenth, with 68 extra jobs; the Sixteenth, with 38 and the Seventeenth with 61 have been only slightly less regular in their Republicanism.

Being small in population, these wards offer the logical field for a concentrated organization campaign, the largest of these, the Twenty-third, ranks fifteenth among the 28 wards in population. The largest five wards in the city, which without exception, failed to receive the number of jobs they might expect on a basis of population, and their deficiencies, were: Twenty-fourth, 57; Thirtieth, 97; Twenty-seventh, 85; Twenty-second, 11; First, 34. These have shown remarkable Democratic strength.

Short of Quota of Jobs.

With one exception—the large Twelfth Ward of former Collector Koeln, Republican leader—other wards substantially short of their quotas of jobs have returned Democratic majorities in recent elections. The Twelfth received 39 jobs less than its share, Ninety, 64; Tenth, 39, and Eleventh, 42.

Other wards which obtained more than their quotas were: Second, 16; Thirtieth, 27; Seventh, 16; Eighteenth, 51; Twenty-fifth, 14; Twenty-sixth, 4.

Other wards short in their quotas were: Fourth, 8; Fifth, 7; Eighth, 7; Twentieth, 7; Twenty-eighth, 23.

Demonstrating the strength acquired by the new Democratic organization, at the city election, April 2, when most of the vote-cast were organization votes, William L. Mason carried 27 wards as Democratic candidate for president of the Board of Aldermen. He lost, and by a narrow margin, only the Sixth Ward, to which the Democratic organization has been applying itself diligently.

Roosevelt was beaten in only four wards in 1932, but in April, 1933, Mayor Dickmann lost 11 wards.

The ratio of the number of jobs to the Democratic vote cast in the election further demonstrates that jobs have not been distributed as rewards for producing results. In Jimmie Miller's Fourth Ward, the number of city jobholders, 244, was equal to only 48 per cent of the Democratic vote cast. In the Sixth Ward, remaining Republican outpost, the figure was 125 per cent.

Each jobholder was required to become a member of his ward club and attend its meetings, paying in most cases 1 per cent of his salary as dues. Campaign funds have been provided by a percentage of salary subscription called a "voluntary donation" in deference to the legal prohibition against assessments for political purposes.

On the Sunday before a Tuesday election day, the names of city jobholders are carefully checked to determine whether they have at-

WITNESS TO DYNAMITINGS IN ANTHRACITE FIELD FOUND

Police Chief of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Thinks Information Will Lead to Several Arrests.

By the Associated Press.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 18.—Police Chief J. Russell Taylor said today that authorities have obtained information from a witness of several recent dynamitings in mine area disorders which he thought would lead to the arrest of several persons. The information was obtained, he said, from Walter Yatko, 17 years old, who was a witness but not a participant.

Yatko was questioned for several hours yesterday as attorneys for the United Anthracite Mines, Pennsylvania and the Glen Alden Coal Co. were engaged in argument before the Supreme Court in Philadelphia over the legality of a strike injunction issued by Judge W. A. Valentine of the Luzerne County Court.

The injunction ordered rescinding of a strike call of the union at Glen Alden collieries. Later Judge Valentine incorporated Thomas Maloney, union president, and 23 other officers and members for refusing to call off the strike. The union argued that the Supreme Court should void that part of the injunction ordering the strike call to be rescinded as an order that was beyond the legal power of the lower court to make.

In addition to the 7391 city employees considered, there are 110 employed at institutions in St. Louis County and 85 internes and other professional workers in whose appointment politics has a small part. Besides the 7391 city jobholders under the Mayor's jurisdiction, there are 2268 police employees and about 500 in the courts and offices of the Sheriff, Coroner, Recorder of Deeds, Election Collector and Comptroller. The total city payroll last year was $15,220,619, police receiving $4,763,347; jobholders under the Mayor's control about $8,500,000, and other employees, about $850,000.

Last month there were but 6827 employees under the Mayor's jurisdiction actually on the payroll since laborers and certain other classes of workers shown in Efficiency Board records are employed irregularly.

From the preceding Republican administration there remain 1646 city employees. This number is accounted for largely by 930 city firemen, 156 employees of the Board of Children's Guardians and 50 visiting nurses. Republican appointees who have changed their minds about politics and have obtained the support of influential Democratic Committee members or organization leaders, and key men retained in a few important positions, account for 500 holdover employees.

594 "Temporary" Employees.

Under the charter, employees may be appointed for a period of 60 days if there is no eligible list in the Efficiency Board for the job they are given. They are required to take an examination within the 60-day period, however.

Records of the Efficiency Board show there are 594 "temporary" employees, most of whom have held jobs since soon after the beginning of the Democratic administration. Members of the Efficiency Board said the preceding board had held only four examinations during its last year, and that lists of eligible persons were not available until examinations had been given in virtually all classes of service. Fifty-nine examinations have been given by the present board.

MAUNDY THURSDAY OBSERVANCE TODAY

Special Services for Good Friday to Be Held in Many Churches.

Maundy Thursday was observed today with special services in many churches which are preparing for services tomorrow, Saturday and Easter Sunday, as the Lenten season draws to a close.

In all Catholic churches today the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the altar throughout the day, following a solemn high mass in the morning, and tonight there will be tenebrae services. In the Protestant churches most of the services will be held tonight.

There will be a communion service tonight at 8 o'clock at Christ Church Cathedral. A moving picture depicting the life of Christ will be shown tonight at St. Peter's Evangelical Church, St. Louis and Warne avenues. An inter-denominational communion service will be held at St. John's Methodist Church. The ancient custom of washing the feet, as Christ did those of the apostles at the Last Supper, will be observed at St. Raymond's Church, Tenth and La Salle streets, when the pastor will bathe the feet of 10 men of the parish. At St. Francis Xavier (College) Church, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed for adoration all night.

The Ore Services. Tomorrow, Good Friday, there will be Tre Ore services in many churches, and at the Municipal Auditorium the Metropolitan Church Federation will conduct services from noon until 1 p. m. The Rev. Dr. Edwin McNeill, Pastor of Raleigh, N. C., will be the speaker. Lutheran services will be conducted tomorrow noon in five theaters, the American, Capitol and Missouri, in downtown and midtown St. Louis; the Mikado in Wellston, and the Ozark, in Webster Groves.

Catholic Tre Ore services, from noon until 3 p. m., will be held at the New Cathedral, St. Francis Xavier, St. John's, St. Vincent de Paul, St. Patrick's, St. Charles Borromeo, St. Joseph's, St. Nicholas and St. Michael's churches, and at the Ave Maria Shrine. There will be Episcopal Tre Ore at the Church of the Redeemer, St. Peter's, Trinity, St. Michael and St. George, and Ascension Churches, and at Christ Church Cathedral.

Union services will be held tomorrow from noon to 3 o'clock at the Maple Avenue Methodist Church, Maple and Belt avenues; Trinity Evangelical Church, Grand boulevard and Itasca street; and Carondelet Evangelical Church, Michigan avenue and Koeln street. Mayor Dickmann has asked heads of city departments to permit their employees to attend church services tomorrow afternoon.

Easter Sunrise Service. Easter sunrise services will be held, as in the past, in Forest Park and Tower Grove Park and at Jefferson Barracks. The Forest Park services, under the auspices of the Church Federation, will begin at 5:16 a. m., near Kingshighway and West Pine boulevard. The Rev. Dr. George M. Gibson of Webster Groves will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the Salvation Army Band.

The Tower Grove Park services will begin at 6 o'clock near Grand boulevard and Magnolia avenue. The Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson will be the speaker. These services will be under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Union.

A group of South St. Louis churches is co-operating with the Jefferson Barracks Chapel for the services there which will be held at 6 a. m. on the bluff near the headquarters building, overlooking the Mississippi River. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Alpha H. Kenna.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Masonic services will be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3637 Lindell boulevard. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson.

Easter egg hunts in the afternoon will be held in the Waterworks Park, by the Baden Republican Club, and at Lake Park in East St. Louis by the Lions Club.

PART TWO

HORNSBY MEETS PLAYING TEST; WILL REMAIN IN THE LINEUP

Brownies' Game With Cleveland
Is Called Off

THE Browns will be idle for the second day in succession today's scheduled contest with the Cleveland Indians having been called off because of rain and wet grounds. Four games were booked with Cleveland so that, if play is possible tomorrow, the series will have been cut in half. When and if play is resumed between the two clubs, Blalock and Weiland will pitch for the Browns and Hildebrand for the Indians.

By James M. Gould.

Rogers Hornsby, the manager of the Browns, is himself again. Not, of course, that he really ever was anyone else, but, for a couple of years, he gave a sort of a part-time job to the old Greek hero, Achilles, in that he packed around with him a heel that was as vulnerable as that of the Homeric warrior. It was Achilles' heel that reared the arrow from the bow of Paris and put "Ach" permanently out of action. It was Hornsby's heel, refusing to do its part, that kept the Rajah on the bench, too long to suit him and the rest of the baseball world.

But today, preparing to lead his team against the Cleveland Indians tomorrow, providing they can shoot the ducks off the Sportsman's Park diamond, Hornsby finds that his "Achilles heel" is just a plain, regular and no longer vulnerable heel which is as ready to help carry him into action as he is anxious to go.

A Real Test. All during the spring training period, indications pointed to the possibility that Hornsby again would be an active player. He worked hard and played in several of the exhibition games. He didn't play, however, for the last three weeks in camp and so, because Jack Burns was ill, was called upon to give his best and legs an early test in the opening game of the regular season. It was quite a test, too. The game went 11 innings and, as Hornsby said today, he expected the first morning would find him pretty stiff after the extended exercise.

"I wasn't a bit," said the Rajah. "My heel didn't bother me at all and my legs stood the strain better than I had hoped. I really surprised myself and I see no reason why I shouldn't play whenever I think it advisable."

"Does that mean that you expect to begin there every day?" he was asked. "Oh, probably not," he replied. "To a certain extent my playing future is behind me and I won't take a chance and play in bad weather. But if I think I can help the club by playing, I'll play, for, apparently, there is now no physical reason why I shouldn't."

So if Hornsby's optimism is justified, and he's as spry as a gazelle this minute—the proof that he can play is much more important than the heart-breaking 2-1 defeat administered by the Indians on the first day of the season. With two games flooded out, Hornsby nor Manager Walter Johnson of Cleveland planned any changes for the next meeting. Hornsby had picked Blalock or Bob Weiland for the out-of-games and Johnson had picked Hildebrand, so those pitchers will see action when play is possible.

The Browns will take the field in the opener. Hornsby is plainly delighted with the work of his players in Tuesday's thriller. Several times, just one base hit didn't get it. This Harder is a great pitcher and it was his job to keep us from getting that needed nothing on Newsum. Buck may have tired a bit toward the end. Fourteen innings is a lot of innings for a first game. But, he's got nothing to be ashamed of; he gave

Baer Intimates to Michigan Senate He'll Fight Louis

LANSING, Mich., April 18.—Max Baer, visiting the Capitol today as an admitted lobbyist for a bill to legalize 20-round boxing matches in Michigan, intimated to the State Senate that he would fight Joe Louis, the Detroit Negro sensation, in Detroit next September if the measure is passed.

HORSE AND DOG RACING BILL IS SIDE-TRACKED

By Curtis Betts.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 18.—The horse and dog racing bill will not come to a vote in the Senate today, it having been temporarily sidetracked for consideration of the proposed new insurance code for perfection.

Even when the bill is again called up the indications are, it will be several days before a final vote is reached, due to a filibuster being led by Senator McReynolds of Carthage. McReynolds, though evading questions as to how long he expects to try to hold off a vote, appears determined to prevent action just as long as possible.

Sixteen Senators, including the six from St. Louis, have remained a solid block, voting against every amendment offered to correct the gross inequities and errors in the bill, and usually four other Senators have been with them. In each instance the amendment was defeated.

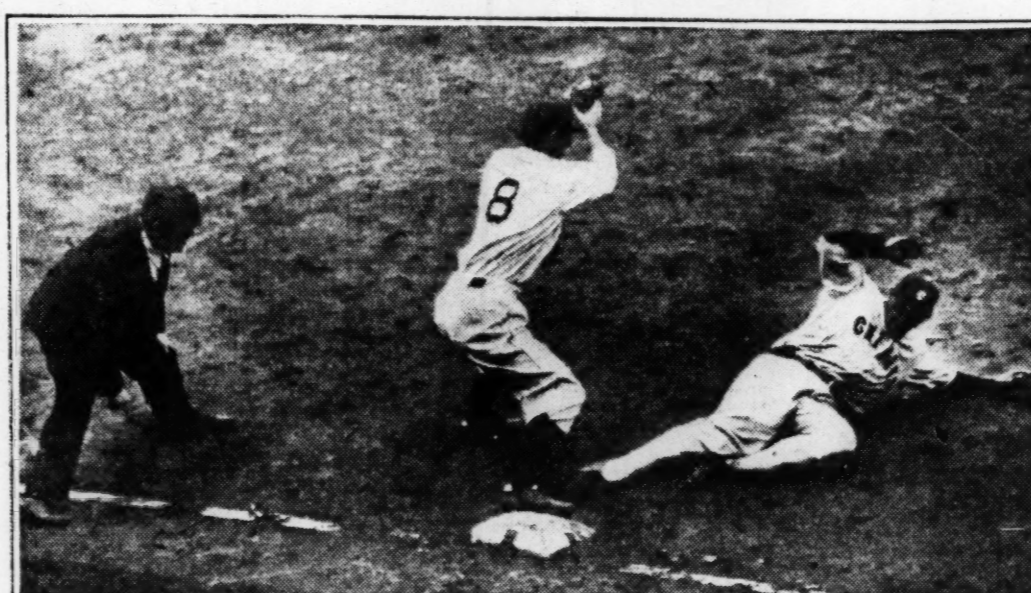

The bill holds first place on the calendar when House bills are up for passage, and no other House bill can be taken up ahead of it unless by a suspension of the rules. If Senator Brogan and other supporters of the racing bill would consent to lay it aside until action was completed on the sales tax and other important legislation, the filibuster then probably would collapse.

Ploited by Senator Brogan of St. Louis, the racing combine in the Senate has successfully met the onslaughts on the bill, determined that it shall not be changed in any particular and returned to the House, where it is known it would be certain of defeat.

It passed the House with only 76 votes, the exact number required to pass a bill, and since then many House members have gone to their homes and the promoters of racing, knowing that it could not again get the required vote, are insisting that it be passed in the Senate exactly as it went there from the House.

Six St. Louis Supporters. The 16 who have consistently voted on every roll call to prevent any change are E. A. Barbour Jr. of Springfield, Joseph H. Brogan of St. Louis, M. E. Casey of Kansas City, Clyde C. Cope of Salem, Delmar Dall of Marceline, William J. Doran of St. Louis, Gene Frost of Cassville, B. T. Gordon of Liberty, W. L. Hixson of Ozark, Joseph L. Kennedy of Marshall, Michael Kinney of St. Louis, Percy Peppon of St. Louis, L. N. Searcy of Eminence, John P. Shea of St. Louis, McMillan Lewis of St. Louis and Carroll Wisdom of Bowling Green.

Zeke Beats the Throw—His Hits Also Helped White Sox to Win

Bonura, hard-hitting White Sox first baseman, safe at third in the fourth inning of the season's opener between Detroit and Chicago. Bonura had doubled and beat Rogell's throw to third on Washington's single. Zeke made three hits in the game. The Sox have shown an unwonted liveliness this year, having beaten the Cubs four straight spring games.

"Call for Dizzy Dean!"

"Call for Dizzy Dean!" "Call for Dizzy Dean!"

"Call for Dizzy Dean!"

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 18.—Speaking of the Deans, as it is increasingly difficult not to do, now is as good a time as any to suggest to Sam Breadon, president of the world champions, that something ought to be done to protect Jerome Herman from his admiring but unreasonable public and the Cardinals from a growing wave of discontent and adverse opinion.

Dizzy is being besieged by an army of autograph-seekers, stock peddlers and get-rich-quick promoters, and while efforts are being made to guarantee him against the pests, gentlemen with legitimate business are being snubbed and the baseball world, if something isn't done, will soon be asking if the Cardinals in general and Dizzy in particular are not getting entirely too high-fat.

It is a large problem. Ten minutes after the world champions arrived in Chicago Monday evening, the Dizzy Dean telephone began to ring and it rang so incessantly that Mrs. Dean telephoned a complaint to the club secretary, who ordered the switch-board operator at the hotel to send no more calls to Dizzy's room.

That protected Dizzy for a time, except from those who managed to learn his room number, and made personal visits, hanging on the great man's door. But persistent callers then turned to Manager Frisch's room. Frank answered calls far into the night about Dizzy Dean. In the opening game Dizzy was hit on the leg by a line drive. This writer wanted to know how Dizzy was Tuesday evening. The operator wouldn't call Dizzy's room. Dr. Weaver, the club trainer, finally furnished the information that Dizzy was playing cards in Manager Frisch's suite. If you want to know something about Dizzy Dean—and who doesn't—the telephone will serve you not at all. You must turn sleuth and search without bloodhounds, until you find a hot trail.

Frisch finally tried of the calls and shut off his phone. So yesterday the inquiring reporters, who had been ordered by their superiors to find out the truth about Dizzy, began to call correspondents traveling with the champions. "Has your Cardinal club got the swell-head or what is the matter?" the sports editor of an afternoon newspaper wanted to know. "I had a photographer at the hotel Monday night, again Tuesday night and today, and he couldn't find Dizzy Dean or anybody else who would say even a kind word. If Dizzy and the Cardinals have gone high-fat, I want to know it, so we'll know how to treat them. Babe Ruth always was available and other baseball stars have been courteous to the press, but if Dizzy and the Cards don't want to play ball with us, it's all right. We just want to know."

Call followed call and while all correspondents with ball clubs want to be courteous, they have duties to perform. There are hours when they must have the nose to the grindstone.

PAUL DEAN VICTOR OVER LARRY FRENCH IN PITCHERS' BATTLE

By J. Roy Stockton.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CHICAGO, April 18.—The world champion Cardinals won from the Chicago Cubs this afternoon in the second and final game of the curtailed series, and gained an even break in the series.

The score was 1 to 0. Manager Frisch and his men will depart tonight for Pittsburgh where they will play a three-game series with the Pirates, weather permitting.

Moran Pittman and Quigley were the umpires. The attendance was estimated at about 1000. The thermometer in the glassed-in press box registered 40 degrees.

Virgil Davis, who suffered a fractured finger on his right hand when hit by a foul tip in the opening game of the spring series, was behind the plate for the Cardinals.

The game: FIRST INNING—CARDINALS—French threw out Martin. Rothrock grounded to Jurgens. Lindstrom threw out Frisch.

CUBS—Galan doubled to left. Heiman struck out. Cuyler fouled to Collins. Lindstrom popped to Collins.

SECOND INNING—CARDINALS—Medwick singled to center. French threw out Collins. Davis singled off French's glove. Medwick moving to third. T. Moore hit to Lindstrom and Medwick was out at the plate. Lindstrom to Hartnett. Durocher fled to Klein.

CUBS—Klein grounded to Collins. Grimm fled to T. Moore. Hartnett struck out.

THIRD INNING—CARDINALS—P. Dean was caught on strikes. Martin grounded to Grimm. Jurgens threw out Rothrock.

CUBS—Jurgens popped to Collins. French singled to center. Galan popped to Frisch. Herman singled to right, sending French to third. Cuyler was called out on strikes.

FOURTH INNING—CARDINALS—Frisch doubled to left center. French threw out Medwick. Frisch holding second. Collins walked. Jurgens threw out Davis. T. Moore fled to Cuyler.

CUBS—Lindstrom beat out a grounder to deep short. Klein sacrificed. Collins unassisted. Grimm popped to Durocher. Hartnett fled to Rothrock.

FIFTH INNING—CARDINALS—Durocher hit to Frisch. Herman threw out P. Dean. Martin fled to Galan.

CUBS—Jurgens fled to Medwick. French singled to center. Galan forced French. Collins to Durocher. Galan was out stealing. Davis to Durocher.

SIXTH INNING—CARDINALS—Rothrock fled to Galan. Frisch fled to Klein. Medwick hit into the right field bleachers for a home run. Collins fled to Galan. ONE RUN.

CUBS—Herman dropped a single in short center. Cuyler fled to Rothrock. So did Lindstrom. Durocher threw out Klein.

SEVENTH INNING—CARDINALS—Davis lined to French. T. Moore fled to Klein. Jurgens threw out Durocher. CUBS—Grimm fled to T. Moore. Hartnett singled through the box. Jurgens struck out. French fled to Rothrock.

EIGHTH INNING—CARDINALS—Herman threw out P. Dean. Martin walked. Rothrock beat out a bunt down the third-base line. Martin stopping at second. Frisch hit into a double play, Jurgens to Herman to Grimm.

CUBS—Galan beat out a grounder to Martin and took second on his high throw. Herman lined to Collins. Cuyler popped to Frisch. Lindstrom fled to Medwick.

NINTH INNING—CARDINALS—Jurgens threw out Medwick. Collins grounded to Herman. Davis fouled to Grimm.

CUBS—Klein lined to Frisch. Grimm struck out. So did Hartnett.

Owner Is Player.

Joe Boley will manage the Mount Carmel (Pa.) club in the new Keystone League, and play shortstop. The owner, Billy Josephs, will play second.

F. W. FOSS MAY REPLACE TAYLOR ON COMMISSION

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—Gov. Park said today that he would appoint three members of the State Athletic Commission, which controls boxing and wrestling in Missouri, within the next few days.

The Governor has decided to reappoint Garrett Smalley, Kansas City Democrat, but said he had reached no definite decision regarding the two other members.

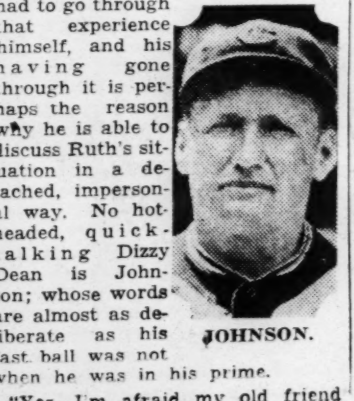

Frank W. Foss, St. Louis coal dealer, a Democrat, and Ben Harrison of Springfield, a Republican, are believed to have the inside track. Foss, a former boxing instructor in the Marines, has the active support of Senator W. J. Doran of St. Louis, while Harrison has the endorsement of Senator E. A. Barbour Jr. of Springfield. Harrison is a former secretary of the commission, a post now held by Robert Mundorff of Cassville.

Foss is expected to succeed Seneca C. Taylor of St. Louis, who is in ill health.

The athletic director of the University of Missouri formerly served as chairman of the commission, but the law was changed by the present Legislature after the athletic directorship had been abolished. Under the present law the Governor names all three members. One member must be of the minority party.

Carleton Ill. Wins.

MONMOUTH, Ill., April 18.—Scoring eight runs in the first inning on two hits, three errors and three passes before a man was retired, Carleton College of Northfield, Minn., built up margin enough to defeat Monmouth College, 15 to 11, in a slip shod ball game yesterday. Nine errors were made by the two teams.

JOHNSON.

Walter Johnson Says Babe Ruth Is "Through" as Player; Sees a Wide Open Race in American League

By Damon Kerby.

Not unkindly, but calmly, dispassionately, Walter Johnson counted Babe Ruth out as a serious playing factor for the Boston Braves this year, in a conversation made possible yesterday afternoon when rain washed out the scheduled game between the Browns and the Indians.

Johnson, for more than 20 years one of the greatest of all pitchers, knows how hard it is to quit the playing field—he had to go through that experience himself, and his having gone through it is perhaps why he is able to discuss Ruth's situation in a detached, impersonal way. No hot-headed, quick-talking Dizzy Dean is Johnson, whose words are as deliberate as his fast ball was not when he was in his prime.

"Yes, I'm afraid my old friend Babe Ruth is through as a player and doesn't know it," he said. "That he can be of value to the Braves on the playing field is almost too hard to believe."

"I am aware that he was the big star in this first National League game. That's the Babe for you. He could always rise to the heights on the big occasion. But there are lots of games that are not big occasions in a 154-game schedule, and to be of value to the Braves, Ruth would have to come through every day—if the Braves are thinking in terms of a high spot in the first division."

"You have only to remember the Babe of last season, when the heat was on, to realize that he can't be of real help to the Braves of this year. He couldn't field, he couldn't run, and speaking strictly from

Babe and Rabbit Send Baseball to Boy in Hospital

By the Associated Press.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 18.—JIMMY NEILSON, California boy recovering from a diaphragm operation at Truendale Hospital, today was looking forward to the time he will be able to romp about a baseball diamond with his playmates back in San Jose.

It is likely, however, he won't use the ball he fingered proudly as he lay in his hospital bed. Fall River friends gave it to him yesterday, and on it is written:

"To Jimmy Neilson. From Babe Ruth and Rabbit Maranville."

Edwardsville Meet Put Off Till Saturday

The Edwardsville invitational track and field meet has been postponed from Friday night until Saturday, according to an announcement made today by Stephen Koler, Edwardsville coach, who is in charge of the event. The reason given was that, owing to a strike of employees of the Illinois Light and Power Co., it will be impossible to get the flood lights turned on at the athletic field.

Under the new arrangement the field events will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and the track events, including the relay races, will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

About 250 athletes, representing six conferences, will compete. Four schools from the St. Louis district are entered. They are Cleveland, Chester, Freeburg, New Athens, Duplo, Highland, Hardin, Livingston, Jerseyville and Marissa.

EIGHT TEAMS IN BOWLING LEAGUE AVERAGE 1046 A GAME

SCHAEFER ROLLS 711 TO LEAD IN A. B. C. CIRCUIT; HERMANNS HIGH

That the bowling season, now drawing to a close, will go down in history as one of the best on record, was again indicated last night in the regular round of the A. B. C. Scratch League on the Washington alleys, when the eight teams had a combined total of 25,121 pins, an average of 1046-2-3 a game. Not so long ago bowling of that sort was unheard of.

Of the 40 individuals competing in the league, 23 had totals of better than 600, with two over the 700 mark. Harold Schaefer of the Budweisers was the individual leader, with games of 226, 248 and 237 for a 711 total, while Lowell Jackson had 707, with counts of 226, 247 and 234. Of a total of 120 individual games, 73 were over 200.

The Hermanns topped the teams with a total of 3297, but in spite of this lost the odd game to the Rogers Recreation five, with 3115. The Hermanns won the opener, 117 to 98; then lost, 192 to 105, and 194 to 104. Jackson's big score was high for the Hermanns, while Bob Bruce hit 676 for the Rogers, including a 278 game.

The Old Judge five counted 3143 and won two games from the Silver Seals, despite the fact that the losers hit 3205, Whitehead, 655, and Grueber, 678, were the team leaders. The Budweisers' 3188 score enabled the team to win two out of three from the Say It With Flowers, while the Wooster Lamberts, with 3153, took the odd game from the Lamberts. Ray Holmes of the Lamberts totaled 678, with a 260 single game.

Los Angeles Ace Retains Women's Fencing Honors

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 18.—Helene Mayer, representing the Los Angeles Athletic Club, won the women's national fencing championship for the second consecutive year.

The blonde German 1928 Olympic champion successfully defended the crown last night, winning her five final bouts without a single setback and with only eight touches scored against her. Dorothy Lockett of New York, twice former champion and runner-up to Miss Mayer, a year ago was outscored by the German foilswoman in the final bout, five touches to four.

In her other bouts in the final round Miss Mayer defeated Mrs. Bela Tuscan of Detroit, 5-0; Marion Lloyd of New York, 5-3; Carol Allessandrini of New York, 5-0, and Muriel Guggolz of New York, 5-1.

SAM GRAY, WELL ACQUAINTED WITH SOTHORON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 18.—Sam Gray, veteran pitcher, walked into Brewer headquarters here Tuesday morning and startled everybody by announcing he was ready to pitch. Reported near death last December, Gray today is only three pounds short of his normal weight of 171 pounds.

"I've been doing light work for more than a month," Gray told Sothoron, "and I'm sure I can pitch a lot of winning ball this year. The doctor told me I'm physically O. K. and that I should return to baseball."

If Gray can come back, says Sothoron, he ought to win 20 games.

After renewing acquaintances with Brewer players, who were with him in St. Louis, Gray conferred with Henry J. Bendin, Brewer president, and Sothoron about terms.

Sothoron told Gray to return to his home in Fort Worth, Tex., where he can work out with the Texas League club of that city.

If after a month's work he feels he can stage a comeback, Gray will be ordered to join the Brewers, Sothoron announced.

RANCHERS COMPLAIN; DEER TOO NUMEROUS

By the Associated Press. FORT DAVIS, Tex., April 18.—It might be a hunter's paradise, but Fort Davis County ranchers don't like the rapidly increasing deer herds in this vicinity.

W. T. (Bill) Jones, rancher, reports he has chased fawns from his horse troughs. "I believe there are a thousand on my ranch," he said. "They eat good grass, like expensive salt and drink scarce water. All I can do is shoot them off."

MACK GARNER SIGNS TO RIDE FOR MILAM

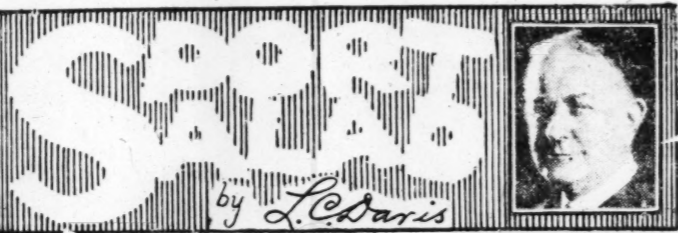

By the Associated Press. LEXINGTON, Ky., April 18.—Mack Garner, one of the country's foremost jockeys, who piloted Caveale to victory in last year's Kentucky Derby, has been signed as stable rider for J. Cal Milam, owner of Merrick place, near here, it was announced today.

A resident of Covington, Ky., Garner is a saddle veteran of 20 years' experience. He was previously employed by Milam in 1920, 1921 and 1922.

The Passing Show.

THE Browns and Indians went to war. And staged a battle royal: They pulled the epic off before Three thousand of the loyal. It was a 14-inning show. A thrilling pitchers' twosome. Which Cleveland won on Myatt's blow. And the blow almost killed New-som!

Jack Frost was there with braided hair. And showed no sign of slipping: His snowball fairly split the air. And o'er the plate went zipping. All afternoon he threatened snow. The customers to bother. Then paused to give his nose a blow. And the blow almost killed father!

The Cardinals went up to Chi To do some pennant piling. And got a wallop in the eye To start the ball a rolling. The Cards were out to win the game. Their uniforms were swanky. But a batted ball made Dizzy lame. And the blow almost killed Frankie!

Distinguished Guests. Sam Bredon sat behind the screen at Sportsman's Park. Doc Hyland also sat. They both wished they were in Chicago to render first aid to the great Dean.

Barney Dickmann was announced as the opening pitcher but due to the weather conditions or something, a last minute switch was made to the President of the Board of Aldermen. They are probably saving Barney to open against the Cubs April 23.

Both the Browns and Cardinals' ball games were called off yesterday.

CLAYTON TRACK TEAM TO DEPART TOMORROW FOR CHILLICOTHE RELAYS Clayton High School's track and field team, Class "B," State indoor champions, will depart tomorrow for Chillicothe (Mo.), where the team will defend its Chillicothe Relays title, won last year through the great work of Bob Ehrhardt.

A squad of nine men will compete for Clayton, two of them State indoor champions. They are Charles Nickel, pole vaulter, and Marion Schaeffer, 60-yard dash winner who will compete in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the relays, as well as running anchor on the two relay teams.

Others who will make the trip with Coach James Cretcher and the team will be Glen Dawson of Tulsa, Ok., and Harold Manning of Wichita, Kan.

grindstone and you can't do much with a nose on a grindstone. If the telephone is ringing all the time and people are wanting to know the truth about Dizzy Dean.

A Real Problem. It is a problem. If there are five newspapers in a town and each wants a reporter and a photographer to have an hour of Dizzy's time, that makes a total of five hours, which is quite a chunk out of anybody's day and especially the day of a Dizzy Dean, who must go to department stores to tell customers that a certain kind of underwear is very ducky and that they will live much longer if they always eat Dr. Fufu's sawdust wafers for breakfast.

But it would not be pleasing to the Cardinals to have the newspaper men of the country, not to mention the photo-aphers, spreading the word through barber shops and taverns that Dizzy Dean was a swell-headed such and such and the Cardinals were unable to wear their hats any more, since they were fortunate in having so many base hits fall safe at Detroit last October.

The writer explained over the telephone that Dizzy Dean had a heart of gold and that if Frankie Frisch told a photographer to get out and go to a certain place, he was just spoofing and also had a heart of gold. Five sports editors were glad to hear it. They wouldn't be as mad as they thought they were going to be. But could a meeting with a reporter and a photographer be arranged? And that's the way it stood at the last telephone call—or at least let's hope it's the last. But will the conference be arranged or will Dizzy continue to be unapproachable and will Mr. Frisch prove that his cardiovascular system operates with a central unit that is on the gold standard?

Something must be done to protect Dizzy. He is not himself. The writer hasn't been able to determine just yet who he is. Let's hope he isn't just a couple of other guys, both losing pitchers. He needs more rest. It is good to pick up extra money, but the word "far-sighted" is still in the lexicon. He is nervous, jumpy, annoyed in spite of his innate good nature, by all the pestiferous autograph-hunters and time-taking well-wishers.

Frisch knows that if Dizzy isn't a winning pitcher, the Cards won't be a winning team. And if he is rude at times, it is because he is indignant at the necessity of being a bodyguard for Jerome Herman. Somebody ought to be traveling with the club to absorb the shocks, to arrange daily press conferences, if necessary; to answer the calls that have been detoured to Frisch and to the hard-working baseball writers. Letters ought to be sent to the sports editors, telling them about the situation and offering to arrange conferences, but urging that Dizzy be permitted to get his rest at other times.

Jerome Herman, with all his dizziness and playboy tendencies, is a high-strung fellow. He disturbs very easily. It wouldn't take much of this to cause a nervous breakdown. And when Dizzy goes, Frisch will go with him, and probably the pennant. Going back to innate good-nature, that probably will save the baseball writers.

bat. When it comes to hitting that old apple right on the dollar-mark, the team has no equal. Ask Col. Ruppert, he knows. It was a great day for Babe, one of the greatest of his career. And the Ball's calendar is replete with red-letter dates. President Roosevelt has received his gold-engraved pass for both leagues and the old pastime is again back on the gold standard. Incidentally, the American League ducat was slipped him by silver-haired Clark Griffith of the Senators.

207 RUNNERS TO FACE STARTER IN MARATHON RACE

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, April 18.—Weighing three more pounds than last year, when he finished a close second to Dave Komonen in the Boston marathon, 27-year-old Johnny Kelley of Arlington is an outstanding favorite in the field of 207 that starts in tomorrow's 26 miles 385 yards grind from Hopkinton to the B. A. A. clubhouse.

This extra poundage, say experienced trainers, should provide Kelley, who has been going well in his preliminary distance runs, with the extra bit of stamina that would have enabled him to outrace Komonen a year ago.

Komonen, who will wear No. 1, will compete against five other former winners, Leslie Pawson, maker of the course's 2:31:01 3-5 record; Clarence Demar, the Keene (N. H.) veteran who has won seven of these distance classics; Old Bill Kennedy, Jimmy Henigan, and the always dangerous Paul Dobryn.

Like Kelley, Pawson is a speedy performer. This pair probably will cause Komonen, whose judgment of pace is his best marathon asset, more trouble than all the rest of the field.

The entries include the usual large Canadian delegation, which numbers 18 this year. The only important absentees probably will be Whitney Michelson, first American to finish in the 1932 Olympic marathon, and those great New York Finns, Karl Koski and Villar Kyronen. Fred Ward was the only entry sent in by New York's Millrose Club.

Wisbar Meets Anderson. Gus Wisbar, who has not been defeated during the past year, will be given a chance to test his ability against John Anderson, middleweight, in one of the two feature matches on Bill Schwabe's wrestling card at the Coliseum, next Tuesday night.

A Good Idea Fails. IN Florida, President Will Harridge of the American League turned down a project of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce whereby cut-rate tickets were to be sold to fans in the country districts adjacent to St. Louis, with the idea of stimulating interest and business in this city.

It seemed a mighty promising thought and the Chamber is really to be congratulated, even though it didn't go through. That was because President Harridge is said to have ruled against it on the ground that it violated an interleague agreement not to reduce prices in any way or manner.

The Browns had to notify the Chamber of this decision. Perhaps the C. of C. felt that it was not getting co-operation. And in these times, you can hardly blame it. In view of conditions it might have been better for the league to have suspended such an agreement, especially as an indirect result was to put a stop to the sale of cut-price "books" of tickets by both the Cardinals and the Braves.

WRAY'S COLUMN

No Baseball Price-Cuts. No matter what happens to the depression there will be no cutting of baseball ticket prices this year—not even an eeny, teeny little one like absorbing the taxes. Commissioner Landis has so ordered.

As a result, the St. Louis Cardinals club has issued a circular letter to its patrons advising them that it will have to charge full price for those books of five tickets which last year were sold for $5 and which have the added value of allowing the holder of two to purchase a world series seat per ferentially.

Under the old price list, the customer on the book plan saved 50 cents on each five tickets, which was the amount of the Government tax.

We had hoped to continue this book plan for 1935, but due to objection from other clubs, Commissioner Landis ruled it imperative that we charge the full price of $5.50, which includes the tax, for each book of five tickets, and there is no alternative for us," reads the club's letter to customers.

Judge Landis gets into the picture because the clubs of both leagues, it appears, entered into an agreement not to cut prices and any reduction, however small, is a violation of the agreement.

The Braves and the Cardinals, exponents of the book plan, were both hit by the ruling, although they contended that in absorbing the taxes they were NOT cutting seat prices.

Bredon for Night Baseball. PROBABLY St. Louis will not see any night baseball games between big league teams, this year. But President Sam Bredon of the Cardinals is interested and has taken up the matter with a lighting company and also with the Dodder Realty Co., owners of Sportsman's Park.

"All I've done is to inquire about the cost," Bredon told this writer. "That will run over $40,000. There are a lot of things in favor of installing a lighting plant, but only for a few games a season."

"I'm not for night baseball as a season proposition; but seven games would not do any harm and would be productive of a lot of interest. I figure night games, if separated by wide intervals, would draw big crowds. Why are our Sunday games so well attended? The people are not working. The same would apply to night time baseball."

American League Hostile. THIS writer gathered from Bredon's words that he was almost sold on trying out the proposition this season. However, the Cardinals do not own Sportsman's Park and can't build without the consent of the Dodder Realty Co.

Probably if the reality owners consented—and they would acquire a $40,000 additional property thereby—the American League, which turned thumbs down on night baseball when it was proposed, would forbid the Browns from being a party to the arrangement.

The American League has opposed two or three radical innovations of some of the National League clubs. It is particularly hostile to the Cardinals' double-headers and night baseball.

However, there really seems to be some merit in testing out night baseball, where only seven widely scattered games are to be played by any club during a season. Such contests would create variety without monotony. Practically every rookie of the upcoming players from the minors has at one time or another competed in night games, so that no playing hardships would be worked. The public certainly would not object.

CALIFORNIA TO START VETERAN CREW, JUNE 18

By the Associated Press. BERKELEY, Cal., April 18.—A fleet by two-fifths of a second, result in ousted veterans regaining their seats in the University of California's shell which will defend the intercollegiate rowing championship at Poughkeepsie, June 18.

When the University of Washington's eight-oared crew, named California's entry, April 13, in the regatta which annually determines Far Western rowing supremacy, Coach Ky Ebricht told his Golden Bear varsity and junior rowers: "Jobs in the first-string boat are wide open again."

The regatta on Oakland estuary was a "clean sweep" for Washington, the Huskies winning freshman, varsity and varsity B regattas. Coach Ky Ebricht told his Golden Bear varsity and junior rowers: "Jobs in the first-string boat are wide open again."

None of the Californians were in the regatta. Washington won the three-mile race in 16 minutes 12 seconds, with California less than a foot behind after leading until the last 100 yards.

California thus moves on to Poughkeepsie in the same position it occupied a year ago. Washington defeated California on the Pacific Coast, but in the Hudson River it was California shell that led its rivals across the finish line.

None of the Californians were in the regatta. Washington won the three-mile race in 16 minutes 12 seconds, with California less than a foot behind after leading until the last 100 yards.

Those who gave up their places to newcomers were Dick Burdette, Ewald Swanson, No. 3, Frank E. Lap, No. 1, all juniors, and Fred Vin, No. 6; Ray Andersen, No. 4, and Jack Yates, No. 2, all seniors. Carroll Brigham, No. 4, and Edwin Reggie Watt remained on the varsity boat.

The varsity crew, which has won against Washington, averaged 190 pounds to the man, with an average height of 6 feet 2.15 inches. Last year's varsity, now the current junior varsity squad, had an average weight of 180 pounds and a height of 6 feet 3.15 inches.

That's because the chamber is throwing a party for the Cardinals, next Monday night, on the eve of their season's opening here; but did not do the same for the Browns, who really started the big league season in this city. No hurrah over Hornaby.

Considering that both teams spread the name of St. Louis in the headlines throughout the country, some friends of the American League club have asked us: "Why the snub?"

We passed the question on to the Chamber of Commerce. "The Browns players will be but of town next Monday night," was the reply. "Besides, we have invited the Browns' officials to be present. Of course, there was no thought of ignoring the Browns."

Still, it appears that it would have required no great effort to have thrown a party last Saturday night, say, when players of both clubs could have been present.

True, the Cardinals are up today. But the Wheel of Chance keeps turning and, who knows, the Browns may be on top tomorrow. That might bring some red to the faces of our C. of C. officials.

Riggs Stephenson Batting Star for Association Club

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 18.—From the way his St. Paul club has dashed away from the starting gate, Lou McKenna looks like another sports writer with baseball managerial magic.

Like the late William Veck of the Chicago Cubs, Lou was a sports writer until late last year when he covered his typewriter and became the general manager for the organized St. Paul club of the American Association. He forgot about copy and started a search for baseball players, with the result that he lined up a team that had all appearances of a fine club today.

With Marty McManus, the old American League star, as field manager, the Saints opened their American Association pennant drive Tuesday with a 13-000 shutout over their great natural rival, Minneapolis. Yesterday they came right back with a 13-hit attack that mowed the Millers down again, 10 to 2, at Minneapolis, where they seldom won ball games. A crowd of 6,500 saw the game.

The "Old Hoss" of the Chicago Cubs, Riggs Stephenson, made his debut auspiciously as Indianapolis made it two in a row over the Saints with a 9-0-7 victory. Riggs got two of the 11 Indian hits and scored twice.

Completely outslugging their rivals with 17 hits, the Louisville Colonels made it two in a row over Toledo, 5 to 4, in an 11-inning game.

Milwaukee and Kansas City were rained out.

COAST FIGHTER STOPS STILLMAN; DAVIS IN DRAW

By the Associated Press. OAKLAND, Cal., April 18.—Leo "K. O." Kelly, 173, Los Angeles, won a technical knockout victory over Al Stillman, 170, St. Louis, in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round main boxing event here last night when Referee Frankie Burns stopped the fight.

The contest was fairly even until the latter part of the sixth round when the Los Angeles Negro dropped Stillman for a nine count with a right hand uppercut. Stillman came out groggy in the seventh and Kelly dropped him again for a nine count with a right to the chin. Stillman arose and was taking severe punishment on the ropes when the referee intervened.

"Babe" Davis, 187, St. Louis, and Henry Andrew Grigsby, 168, Negro, Sacramento, went six uninteresting rounds to a draw in the semi-wind-up.

Bill's Passage Doubtful.
While the vote on the amendments would seem to indicate that the bill on passage would get the necessary 18 votes in the Senate, its passage is not a certainty, though the vote will be very close.

The reason assigned is that a law legalizing gambling will result in a very widespread protest in the rural districts of the State and that there are some Senators who, though they have voted against amend-

Ruth Will Get Along Without Yankees, But Ruppert's Entry Needs Babe, Early Games Show

By Davis J. Walsh. NEW YORK, April 18.—Being no better than a boor at heart to whom the mortification of others is something to greet with a well bred leer, I'm all for giving the New York Yankees this morning my Saturday, Sunday and holiday leer about that idea of theirs that they were going to get along so superbly without Ruth. After two days of 1935 baseball, in fact, it begins to seem that if there's any getting-along-without to be done, Ruth will do it.

On opening day in Boston, he stole the show with a home run, a single and a great gloved hand catch. Yesterday, the Braves didn't play; this left the old man's shadow to lurk in the corners of the stadium throughout a dank and desultory afternoon, making a mockery of the efforts of his ex-team to win a ball game.

Frankly, they didn't, although they went all the way to the tenth inning before losing to the Red Sox, 4 to 3, for the second straight day. That may have been bad enough. The setting was worse.

Gehrig's Error Loses Game.
In the first place, there were only 2000 present, a pitiful few in a park like that. In the second place, Gehrig, the re-paint job on last year's Ruth model, threw wild for the second time in two days to lose the ball game. And in the last place, that's where the Yankees are this morning, with no victories and two defeats.

They finally scored two runs in the seventh, after 15 scoreless innings, on hits by Lazzeri, Crosetti and Ruffing. But the latter blew the lead in the ninth, R. Johnson's single being followed by Bishop's home run.

In the tenth, R. Ferrell walked and both runners were safe when Gehrig carefully threw to the stands on Solters' sacrifice. Bing Miller, the patriarch, then singled to score two. They needed two, Gehrig coming through with a homer in the last half of the tenth.

Senators Beat Mackmen.
This was one of four games played during the day, the rest going into cold storage for a later showing. The Washington Senators finally got themselves into circulation with a 1935 opening and won from the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 2, on a three-run outburst against Cain in the opening inning. Earl Whitehill pitched well for six innings, then gave way to Jack Russell. The only Philadelphia runs were produced by Jimmy Fox's first homer of the season with one on.

Meantime, the Champion Tigers were absorbing a 7 to 6 beating from the White Sox in the delayed Detroit inaugural. A great ball town, it turned out a crowd of 25,000 rabid souls who suffered alike from the chill weather and the fact that Schoolboy Rowe, their ace pitcher, had nothing but a petition. The Sox got away to a 4 to 1 lead, but Goose Goslin tied it in the sixth with a home off Jones with two on. The blow off came in the eighth on Bonura's third hit, a pass to Appling and Dykes' triple. Goslin topped the Tiger attack with a single, double and homer, just by way of confirming those stories that he's all over and done with.

The Cincinnati Reds, with their juvenile infield making dazzling plays, won the only National League game, beating the Pirates, 7 to 4, in the Pittsburgh opening. The Pirates hit Derringer 12 times, but Kampouris and Myers figured in three double plays that choked should be the most enjoyable cigar you have ever smoked

—regardless of price

A strong claim—but here are facts to support it.

For years—at 10c—Bayuk PHILLIES enjoyed the largest sale of any 10c brand in America.

Today—at 5c—this same identical cigar enjoys the largest sale of any brand on the market—at any price.

Dealers tell us that men smoke PHILLIES who could well afford to pay double and even triple its price for their cigars.

Why this amazing preference? Simply this: PHILLIES is a mild cigar that has mellow flavor and pleasing taste. And that's what men look for—and demand—in any cigar they regularly smoke.

This mildness with mellow flavor comes from long-filler Havana and Domestic tobaccos of the finest and mildest grades grown. And you are guaranteed exactly the same tobaccos in PHILLIES today—for 5c—as when millions of smokers gladly paid 10c. What other cigar offers you so much—and for only 5c?

BAYUK'S GUARANTEE
In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine Domestic and Havana long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

GAME CHAMPION MAX BAER AND BROTHER TO BOX HERE, APRIL 26

WITTEHOLDER TO FACE BABE HUNT IN NO-DECISION BOUT AT ARENA

By the Associated Press. BERKELEY, Cal., April 18.—The result of a second round fight in ousted veterans regaining their seats in the University of California shell which will defend intercollegiate rowing champions at Poughkeepsie, June, 18.

When the University of Washington's eight-oared craft nosed over California's entry, April 13, in the annual regatta which annually determines Western rowing supremacy, each Ky. Knight told his Golden State varsity and junior varsity crew.

"John in the first-string boat and open again."

The regatta on Oakland estuary is a "clean sweep" for Washington, the Huskies winning freshman, sophomore and varsity races, but the varsity rowers were not dispirited. Washington won the big five-mile race in 16 minutes 12 seconds, with California less than eight minutes behind after leading until the last 100 yards.

California's "huskies" moved on to the highlands in the same position occupied a year ago. Washington defeated California on the Pacific Coast, but in the four-mile race on the Hudson River it was the California shell that led its rivals across the finish line.

None of the Californians who helped win the national title last year was lost to 1935 competition, but in the fierce scramble for places during the intervening practice season, seven of the 1934 varsity rowers were unseated by inexperienced candidates.

Those who gave up their places to newcomers were Dick Burnley, Brock, Laurence Dodge, No. 1, David Swanson, No. 3, Frank Dunlap, No. 1, all juniors, and Fred Dunlap, No. 6, Ray Andersen, No. 4, and Jack Yates, No. 2, all seniors. Carroll Bingham, No. 4, and Captain Reggie Watt remained in the varsity boat.

The varsity crew, which rowed against Washington, averaged 17.7 seconds to the mile, with an average height of 6 feet 2.5 inches. Last year's varsity, now the current junior varsity squad, had an average weight of 180 pounds and height of 6 feet 3.5 inches.

BILLIKENS-ALUMNI BALL GAME IS OFF

Because of the rain, the baseball game scheduled today between St. Louis University and the Billikens Alumni, was postponed to a later date.

NEAVLES TO AGAIN LEAD MUNY BASEBALL LEAGUE

The Municipal Baseball Association elected C. A. Neavles as president of the organization for the coming season at a dinner party yesterday at the Claridge Hotel. Elmer Schmidt was elected vice-president, Miss Olive Pfeiffer, secretary-treasurer and Fred Purdy, president.

Members of the Executive Committee were Jim Rick, John Kaske, M. F. Parker and John Scully. On the Nominating Committee were Harry Rezek, chairman, and Tony Rezek and Joe Galusha, assistants. Neavles would be elected no further changes in the roster. Next Wednesday will be the final day for the members to vote for the opening of the season, on April 22 and 24.

But he was quiet at shortstop, then told me he couldn't play that today. I'm convinced in his mind that he's not a regular in the right field. But I don't hit in the outfield and I don't know if you recall that he did a trial of Cleveland's country. I believe he'll stay in the infield.

"I was completely satisfied with the play of the club and if they keep playing the kind of baseball we've been playing, we'll have a great season. In the first division we're in a shooting."

GREEN

Some Easter Eggs are GREEN. So is the label on Brennan's "518" GREEN Label Whiskey, Straight or Blended, at only 90c a pint. But you won't find the whiskey GREEN. Brennan's would be pretty GREEN to make a money-back guarantee if you don't find this the greatest whiskey value in St. Louis. In competition, turn GREEN with envy. That's why Brennan's can offer to refund your "Long GREEN." The GREEN light is for you, so rush to Brennan's. Don't be a GREENHORN. Buy where the connoisseurs buy. And when you serve the liquor, your guests will sing, "The GREEN grass grows all around."

THIS GIGANTIC NEW

STUDEBAKER

IS UNDOUBTEDLY THE BEST "BUY"

IN ST. LOUIS AND WE DON'T EXCLUDE ANY CAR, EVEN THE LOWEST PRICED, WHEN WE MAKE THAT STATEMENT!

LADIES and gentlemen, this isn't just another automobile. This is a Studebaker—a Champion—built as only Studebaker builds—with the finest engineering in the world and the most expert craftsmanship.

It's a long, sleekly streamlined, steel-reinforced-by-steel sedan, with slender silvery radiator, sweeping gull's wing fenders, air-curved top and rear deck—a car that challenges the costliest in good looks.

It has compound hydraulic brakes and a literal masterpiece of a Studebaker engine.

Now priced as though built to meet a price

Here's a sedan so roomy you actually feel cramped in other low priced cars after riding in it. A sedan so luxuriously fitted, finished and upholstered, you're sure it's a special, costly custom job when you first lounge down inside it.

And yet it actually delivers to you, completely equipped, in this city or suburbs, for just a few dollars more than those lowest cost cars that are definitely built to make a price appeal.

New and greater Studebaker Corporation shares its unique economies

This gigantic new value is the challenge the new and greater Studebaker Corporation makes to its entire industry—the result of new economies Studebaker alone enjoys.

With millions in new capital, with no bank loans, no burdensome overhead, no excessive plant valuations, Studebaker is now operating on a thriftier 1935 basis than any other manufacturer.

And the victorious Studebaker Corporation is instantly and unreservedly sharing this achievement with the public—and provably offering the greatest value in America in this sedan.

Get out of the "low price" class and into this Studebaker

The money you've been intending to pay for a mass production car needs just a trifle of stretching to buy you this Studebaker.

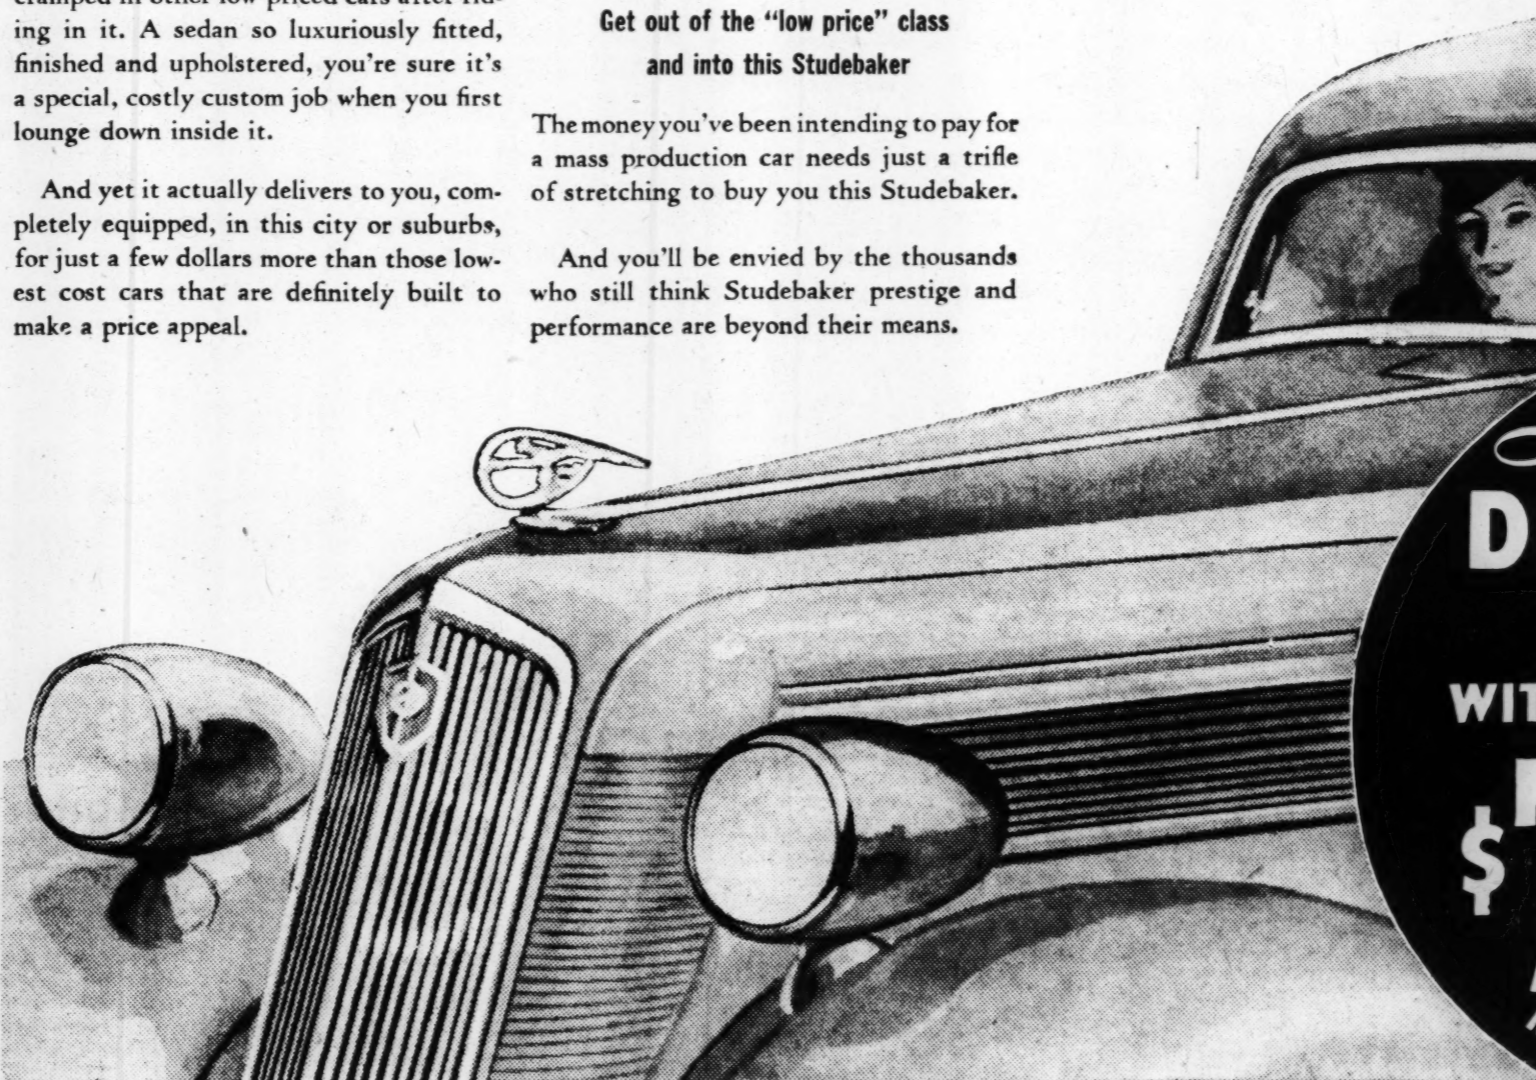

And you'll be envied by the thousands who still think Studebaker prestige and performance are beyond their means.

You'll have a car with years of triumphs in stock car and speedway racing as your assurance of its stamina and soundness—a car that had an international reputation long before anybody even heard of most of its competitors.

A Studebaker—and a Champion—for an amount of money so small, it's unmistakably the year's greatest bargain not only in an automobile but in anything else.

TOP PRICES FOR USED CARS

More than likely the trade-in value of your present car will easily cover the down payment on this new victory value Studebaker. Nobody in town pays more for used cars... and our monthly terms are very liberal.

Negro Man, Woman Wounded.
A Negro man and woman were shot and slightly wounded by an unidentified white man, last night, who entered an establishment at 440 North Third street, in the East St. Louis "valley" district, fired several shots at the pair and fled. The Negroes, Lee Roaland and Ann Rhoe, treated at Christian Welfare Hospital, said they knew no motive for the attack.

RFC FILES BRIEF IN SUIT OVER MISSOURI PACIFIC DEAL

It Argues $20,000,000 Terminal Purchase Involved Misrepresentation and Was Unfair.
The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has filed a brief in Federal Court in support of its contention that trustees of the Missouri Pacific Railroad should be directed to file suit to rescind a $20,000,000 contract for purchase of certain terminal properties from the Van Sweringen interests which controlled it, and to recover payments totaling $3,200,000.

In the brief, it was argued that the transaction involved misrepresentation; that the contracts were not authorized by Missouri Pacific directors and were unfair to the railroad, and that the contracts were in violation of the Clayton anti-trust act. Federal Court Master Early had found that the contracts were entered in good faith and that the evidence did not support RFC contentions that they were unauthorized and in violation of the Clayton act. He recommended a $6,000,000 reduction in the purchase price, however.

VETERAN ENDS LIFE IN PLUNGE

Chicago Man Leaves Note Saying He Also Took Poison.

CHICAGO, April 18.—Herbert Allardice, 50 years old, World War veteran, plunged to his death today from an eighth-floor window of a loop hotel.

A note found in his room, addressed to his brother, Thomas, said, "Tom, I took enough poison to kill a dozen. I thought, about 3 o'clock this afternoon, but I knew the way I am going now will do the job. I think naturally I would have gone the easy way but I didn't have the gun."

$200 TAKEN BY TWO MEN IN HOLDUP OF TEA COMPANY

Robbers Warn Victims Not to Try to Identify Them.

The Jewel Tea Co., 5988 Minerva avenue, was robbed of about $200 this morning by two men, armed with pistols, who fled after forcing two office employees, one a woman, into the storeroom.

The men entered the establishment about 9:15 and while one flourished his weapon at Miss Margaret Burns, secretary, the other ordered W. H. Moffett, branch accountant, to open the safe. "This is a holdup," they told him. "We won't hurt you. Don't try to identify us."

Moffett opened the safe and removed the cash box, containing yesterday's receipts, which the men seized. Miss Burns and Moffett then were ordered into a rear stockroom, told to remain quiet for several minutes, and the men fled.

Miss Burns has been held up at the store three times in the last year.

BELLEVILLE OWES $14,745 NOT $18,178 FOR WATER

Illinois Supreme Court Rejects Company's Claim in Reversing Lower Court.

The Illinois Supreme Court, in a decision yesterday, held that the City of Belleville owed the East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. $14,745 instead of $18,178 claimed by the company for rental of street hydrants. The St. Clair County Circuit Court was instructed to enter a judgment in favor of the water company for the smaller amount.

The suit grew out of the refusal of the city to pay fees on 27 hydrants, which were no longer needed. The Circuit Court held that the city was liable for $18,178 fees for 410 hydrants under a 1907 ordinance covering the water contract. The city protested that the ordinance was void, but the Circuit Court overruled the contention.

The Supreme Court, in reversing the lower court, ruled that the ordinance was void, because it created a subsisting indebtedness at the time it was passed in excess of the constitutional debt limit for Belleville. The Supreme Court held, however, that the city, through its issuing vouchers for water fees, acknowledged the obligation and, therefore, was liable for fees on the 383 hydrants it used.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH ATTENDS ROYAL ALMSGIVING CEREMONY

Watches Archbishop of Canterbury Distribute Maundy Thursday Money to Pensioners.

LONDON, April 18.—Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, for the first time today saw the distribution of the royal Maundy Thursday money, a minor British historic pageant. Elizabeth will be 9 years old Easter Sunday.

From a stall in Westminster Abbey with her mother, the Princess watched the Archbishop of Canterbury, in his office of Lord High Almoner, distribute the coins. She wore a nosegay of white lilies, reminiscent of the days when the nosegays were carried at the Maundy service as a safeguard against plague.

Seventy pensioners, one for each year of the King's age, were drawn up along the choir aisle. They were given red and white purses. The red contained one pound in gold, the white "as many pence as the King is years of age." The pence are silver coins instead of the usual copper and are minted for the occasion.

TWO CLOSED BANKS SEEK PERMISSION FOR RFC LOANS

Lowell and Grant State Depositories Propose to Borrow $575,000 to Pay Creditors.

Applications for authority to borrow money from the RFC to enable additional payments to depositors and other creditors of excess of the Lowell Bank and the Grant State Bank were filed in Circuit Judge O'Malley's court yesterday by the Deputy Finance Commissioner in charge of liquidation of the banks.

About $400,000 was sought for the Lowell Bank for an additional distribution of 25 per cent on approval claims totaling $2,088,417. Previously a payment of 30 per cent was made through an RFC loan which has been repaid. The application for the Grant State Bank contemplated a distribution of 20 per cent through a $175,000 loan. Creditors of this bank have received 30 per cent on approved claims aggregating $882,250. The RFC loan enabling the first distribution having been repaid.

POLITICAL USE OF FUND FOR RELIEF CHARGED

G. O. P. Legislators in Illinois Ask for Investigation by FERA.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18.—Charges that the Democratic State Administration has used relief funds for political campaigning were made today by Republican Representatives, who asked the Federal Emergency Relief Administration to investigate immediately.

The charges were made public following a conference of the House Republicans. A resolution was adopted asking for a thorough inquiry into the reported abuses in dispensing relief.

The conference made the specific charge that Joe Montgomery, Jackson County Democratic chairman and deputy warden at Chester penitentiary, wrote letters March 25, asking all persons on the relief rolls to support his ticket at the recent township election. The resolution quoted Montgomery as having said the letter he signed had been sent to him from Democratic headquarters. The FERA was asked to investigate the use and abuse of the relief and the recently passed work relief appropriation and its proposed use in the future for political ends by the Democratic administration in control of the State.

L. M. Green of Rockford, Republican House leader, said: "To date, the Governor has done nothing to condemn either Montgomery or the use of relief rolls for political purposes."

"The resolution demanded that the 'person or persons responsible for the use of the methods set out in the letter be reprimanded and punished.'"

Horner last week charged that Republicans had blocked relief for purely political purposes. Green described that statement as "full of misrepresentations, unfair conclusions and downright falsehoods." He asserted the Governor's delay in submitting the budget constituted misfeasance in office.

Representative Joseph H. Davis, Murphysboro Democrat, denied on the floor of the House today the charges by Republican legislators that the Jackson County Democratic Committee had drafted relief clients in the recent election campaign. He categorically denied the charges and said Republicans had deleted part of the letter signed by Joe Montgomery, county chairman and Deputy Warden at Chester.

PAIR, DEAD IN FIRE RUINS, APPARENTLY SHOT AND ROBBED

Aged Kentuckian and Wife Said to Have Had $50,000 Hidden in House.

By the Associated Press.

MARION, Ky., April 18.—The opinion that Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Yates, an aged pair whose bodies were found in the embers of their home, had been shot and robbed was expressed here today by Sheriff Roy Malcolm and other Crittenden County officials.

Neighbors said Yates, a retired ferryman, was thought to have kept his life's savings, about $50,000, in his house. His body was so charred that first inspection did not disclose any wounds, but Malcolm found what he thought was a bullet hole in Mrs. Yates' back. He said he thought the house had been fired after the robbery.

PROCESSING LEVY AGAIN ASSAILED

One Manufacturer Says It Has Increased Price of Ordinary Bed Sheet by 13 to 19 Cents.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 18.—The belief that the New England cotton textile industry is suffering from over-production as well as from over-taxation is expressed in a symposium on manufacturers, given today by the New England Council. The council conducted a survey among the producers at the request of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Industrial Conditions in New England, headed by Frank W. Dugan of Fall River.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in a speech at Burlington, Vt., last week, said over-production, inefficiency and obsolescence caused the present conditions. He denied the processing tax was the cause. The manufacturers included the processing tax, Japanese competition, and a high wage differential, state regulation and local taxation, as well as over-production.

The council survey was based on reports from 27 textile companies representing 105 mills employing 142,000 workers.

General dissatisfaction was expressed over steadily rising local and state tax burdens. The survey also pointed to the fact that the processing tax was the cause of the present conditions.

Objections to State Taxes. New Hampshire mills favored reduction of the State "stock in trade" tax. Massachusetts manufacturers complained of double taxation and Maine owners requested a comprehensive study of the relative burden on Maine mills compared to other states.

A large manufacturer of sheeting goods had to absorb 43 per cent of the processing tax for the last six months, and the tax has caused the price to the consumer to rise 25 cents per ordinary size sheet for a double bed, the report said.

Number of returns from manufacturers, the survey said, indicated that the tax was pyramided. It said that a tax of 1 per cent on the first may increase to 5 cents by the time the goods reach the consumer.

Mill Treasurers Report. At Manchester, N. H., Frederic D. Mather, treasurer of the Amoskeag Mills gave over-production as the chief factor in the industry's troubles. Reporting to the annual stockholders' meeting, Mather said the North-South wage differential and foreign importation were the chief factors.

He asserted that importations from low cost countries must be controlled and local taxes reduced to a minimum if the industry was to survive.

The company reported a net loss of $1,000,000 for the year against $1,200,000 net profit in 1933. Profits for the year ended December 31, 1934, were $1,274,173, last year's being $1,200,000.

Three Cabinet Members Confer on Cotton Textile Situation. WASHINGTON, April 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Dr. Isadore M. Gluskin of the Bureau of Labor Statistics discussed at length today the cotton textile industry.

The President referred the cotton textile industry to these four department heads at a conference last Friday with a delegation who told of the processing tax and imports from Japan.

At today's session, G. H. Hottel, president of the National Textile Institute, and Frank W. Dugan, president of the New England Council, were present.

The cotton textile code was discussed.

Tungsten Boom in China Brought on by Arms Race

Production Grows So Rapidly Government Creates Monopoly in Mining to Keep Industry Under Control.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

NANCHANG, Kiangsi, China, April 18.—The increasing world demand for tungsten—essential element in the manufacture of steel which goes to make battleships and big guns—has brought boom times to the mountainous regions south of here. One-half the world's output of this scarce metal is produced in this area.

With nations racing to rearm, the production of tungsten has grown so rapidly the provincial Government has created a monopoly to prevent the industry from getting out of control. The monopoly is intended to regulate sales, modernize mining methods, make a thorough survey of all known tungsten deposits and improve methods of transportation in preparation for an expansion of production in the event of future wars.

Tungsten was first discovered in Kiangsi in 1911. Its output reached the highest level during the World War and slumped to its lowest during the recent Communist disorders when the Reds overran the mining territory. The present methods of production are primitive. Hand labor is relied on entirely and the tungsten ore is carried scores of miles on the backs of men over precipitous mountain trails too difficult for even a horse or donkey to negotiate.

Major C. L. R. Harries Threatens to Be Chief Himself if Tribes Don't Quit Fighting.

LADYSMITH, Zululand, April 18.—The Zulus are engaged in inter-tribal warfare and the Mangwenis are stalking each other in the Thorn Country. Maj. C. L. R. Harries called together 53 Zulu chiefs and headmen to an "indaba" to debate their differences. He said he was determined to put a stop to the fighting, but Chief Bevu said he would find that trying to stop it would be like trying to extinguish a running wild fire.

In a statement to the assembled chiefs Maj. Harries recounted the origin of the civil strife among the Zulus and the Mangwenis, which he said was caused by a dispute over a woman.

He returned home with wounds on his head. He was a member of the Mobasa tribe. After his wounds had been washed he said it was the work of Mangwenis and so, with others, he set out armed. The first Mangweni they came across they set upon. His body was found the next day. As a result, three men who are alleged to have committed the crime are today awaiting trial.

"What has caused the recent trouble is the fact that the Mangwenis and the Mobasa, instead of waiting to see what the white man's justice would do, took the matter into their own hands. This is absolutely contrary to the law and will not be tolerated any longer."

The Mangwenis seem to think that because one of their men has been killed there cannot be any peace until they have spilt blood. That is an old law, the law of Thaka. It will not do today.

The "indaba" ended like a chapter out of an adventure story, with Maj. Harries haranguing the Zulu chiefs: "As sure as I stand here there is going to be no further nonsense. If these troubles do not stop I am packing up and I am going to live in the Thorns and be chief myself, and then you will learn whether I am weak or strong. I am an old man and I do not want to travel to these parts but I will do so if it means ending this strife. I have spoken." The Zulus saluted him.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Lawrence Richey, long associated with former President Hoover, disclosed today that thousands of letters addressed to Hoover have arrived at his office recently. The letters indicate the writers are "very keen" for Hoover and are in sympathy with his views, Richey said.

In response to a question, he described the letters as "99 per cent" in favor of Mr. Hoover accepting the Republican nomination for President next year if it is offered to him. Richey has been forwarding the letters to the Hoover home in California.

ELABORATE PARK FOUNTAIN BEING BUILT IN NORWAY

Oslo Project Claimed to Be Largest of Kind in World; Cost Placed at $1,250,000.

By the Associated Press. OSLO, Norway, April 18.—What is claimed to be the largest fountain in the world, as well as the most expensive one, is being constructed here. It is being made under cover, with enough mystery to keep Norway in suspense for several years to come.

It is to be placed, when completed, in Frogner Park, in Oslo, to form a tremendous array of terraces, pillars, sculpture and babbling water. The whole is to be topped by a monolith, hewn from solid granite, rising 45 feet above the ground, and placed at the top of a hill.

It is believed the fountain will cost more than $900,000 kroner (about $1,250,000). The fountain is the plan and work of Gustav Vigeland, greatest of Norwegian sculptors, who first submitted plans for its construction in 1900. For 35 years, work on the project has proceeded without interruption.

HATFIELD CONTESTS ELECTION OF HOLT TO THE SENATE

West Virginia Republican Charges Democrat Is Ineligible Because He Is Under 30.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 18.—A contest against the election of Rush D. Holt as Democratic Senator from West Virginia was filed in the Senate today on behalf of Henry D. Hatfield, Republican, who opposed Holt last November.

The protest contended Holt was ineligible for the seat because he has not yet reached the age of 30 required by the Constitution. He will be 30 on June 19 and he has refrained from presenting himself for the oath until that time. The petition declared Holt "misled" innumerable voters in the 1934 campaign by contending he was qualified because Henry Clay had been allowed to take his seat in the Senate before reaching the constitutional minimum requirement.

Holt was on the floor when the petition was read. He consulted frequently with Senator Neely (Dem.) of West Virginia, and then took the seat he was assigned in the back row at the outset of the session. Hatfield pleaded that he be seated as Senator. The petition was referred to the Elections Committee.

NATIVES OF PITCAIRN ISLAND HAPPY, SCIENTIST REPORTS

Descendants of Mutineers From the Bounty Increase Contacts With Outside World.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Descendants of mutineers from His Majesty's ship, the Bounty, live a primitive but happy life on lonely Pitcairn Island, Templeton Crocker, San Francisco millionaire scientist, reported yesterday on his return from the South Seas.

"Not one of them wants to leave the island," Crocker said of the 200 persons who live on the craggy island in the South Pacific. "They are glad to see visitors, and their contacts with the outside world have increased. One ship named Pitcairn after the island, calls monthly with supplies. There is one radio on the island."

The colony was founded in 1790 by nine of the mutineers who seized the Bounty, and fled to escape capture. They took with them 18 native Tahitians, six men and 12 women. It was not until 20 years later that the colony was discovered.

FASCISTS WIN 39 SEATS IN NETHERLANDS ELECTION

Party in First Appearance at Polls Gains 1 Pct. of Total Vote for Provincial Councilmen.

By the Associated Press. AMSTERDAM, April 18.—The National Socialist party, in its first appearance in a Netherlands general election, gained 39 seats or 7 per cent of the total in yesterday's balloting for members of provincial councils. The councils elect new members for the Netherlands upper chamber.

The party, which claims a membership of 40,000, is described in some quarters as "the Netherlands edition of Hitlerism" because of the similarity of its name with that of Germany's National Socialist party. Actually, however, the party is modeled more nearly along the lines of Mussolini's Fascists.

The pro-Government parties retained a 58 per cent majority in the provincial councils. The party made its greatest inroads at the expense of the liberals, who took only 29 seats compared with 50 at the last election. The Communists won 12 seats, a gain of three, while the Roman Catholics with the largest representation, dropped from 160 to 151.

HITCH IN U. S. COMMERCIAL NEGOTIATIONS WITH ITALY

Trade Treaty Conferences, Previously Set for May, Postponed Indefinitely.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.) ROME, April 18.—Negotiations for a new commercial treaty between Italy and the United States, originally set for May, have been indefinitely postponed, it was learned last night.

Moreover, Italy has decided not to send a special delegation to the United States as had been planned. The postponement, it was learned, resulted from a decision made in the United States but this, in turn, it was understood, was the result of import regulations imposed by Italy. These regulations forbade Italians to import more than 35 per cent of the goods which they bought in 1934. The percentage has since been increased.

The United States, it was explained, felt it was being discriminated against, owing to the fact that some countries were given 100 per cent import quotas with reference to 1934.

PHILIPPINE GROUP ACCUSED OF PLOT TO KILL QUEZON

Prosecutor Charges Members of Sakdal Extremist Society, With Conspiracy.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, P. I., April 18.—A plot to assassinate Manuel Quezon, Philippine political leader, was charged to members of the Sakdal Society, an extremist group, in a formal complaint filed in Sariaya, Tayabas Province, today.

Provincial Prosecutor Ramon Valdes Nieto filed charges of sedition against seven persons and included the assassination plot charge in his complaint against the society. He did not, however, charge the seven defendants directly with complicity in the alleged plot.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN PACT'S INITIALING LIKELY TOMORROW

Authoritative Source Says Action on Mutual Assistance Accord Will Be Taken in Paris.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 18.—An authoritative source said today the accord between France and Russia for mutual assistance probably will be initialed tomorrow in Paris without waiting for Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, to visit Moscow.

This source said talks this week in Geneva between Laval and Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Commissar, had so smoothed over the rough edges of the accord that this action of initialing would be possible as soon as the ministerial council should approve it.

The accord was understood to contain the following points: (1) Application of article XVI of the League of Nations covenant—calling for punitive measures against an aggressor nation—to nations which are not members of the League; (2) Procedure to be followed if the League council is unable to determine what nation is an aggressor; (3) A formula to be applied, based on the League covenant, in case of flagrant recourse to war by a League member.

This last paragraph was said to be so worded as to permit other states to adhere, thus opening the way to a general pact, particularly in Eastern Europe.

Should the pact be initialed tomorrow, a possibility was seen that Laval would postpone his contemplated trip to Moscow for several weeks.

Blowing Away

Business men bungled their chance under NRA, but are learning enough about economic law to merit another opportunity, Boston merchant says; no recovery possible, he asserts, unless mass buying power is increased; "abundance must be passed around"; urges employers and labor to co-operate to make wages higher.

From the Testimony of Edward A. Filene Before the Senate Finance Committee.

ANY failure of the NRA so far can be attributed definitely to the failure of business men to change their basic attitude toward business when basic economic change had made it necessary. I do not think, however, when all the factors are in, that business has made such a deplorable failure in this as many seem to think.

It is true that we went to bat and fanned. It is true that we burdened ourselves with innumerable and all-uncalled-for agreements governing details of business competition, for the purpose of stabilizing prices instead of stabilizing prosperity.

It is true that, instead of increasing the buying power of the masses by lowering prices and paying wages as high as we could pay, we formulated codes in many instances which actually raised prices and robbed ourselves of the market which we had to have if recovery were to come, and then we battled with labor in the hope that, if wages must be raised, they would not at most be raised enough to enable us to sell enough of our goods to keep workers employed and thus make our business profitable.

On the face of it, I admit, it looks rather stupid. But I plead extenuating circumstances. For that was the way we had all learned to do business; and this new event—this Machine Age of enormous production—which made it not only unnecessary but impossible to do business in that way any longer, was a social event, and we business men had had almost no experience in analyzing social forces.

You gentlemen know how we were. If we asked you to pass a tariff law, for instance, did we do it because we had studied tariffs and had worked out any comprehensive economic theory? You know we didn't. We came down here to Washington, one after another, and we all demanded a high tariff; but what each of us really demanded was a high tariff on the particular gadget we happened to be manufacturing.

I am not blaming anybody for this. That was business—in the old days before we got out of the age of scarcity.

Admitting, gentlemen, that we bungled our chance when you presented us with the NRA, I want to ask you candidly if the American business mind, in spite of all the formal pronouncements of the chambers of commerce and manufacturers' associations, has not made really remarkable progress toward recognizing the need of introducing order and planning into our economic affairs?

Are there not thousands today, where formerly we could hardly point to one, who are thinking in terms of the social character of production and distribution? And haven't you faith that you give us another chance, that we may yet work out a program which will apply to the age of abundance in which, if business is to prosper and the masses are to be employed, the abundance must be passed around?

Because we bungled our chance, it is now proposed to propose another chance.

The NRA, I admit, cannot be fully successful until the mind of business has become sufficiently aware of the new problem, so that it will concentrate upon the necessary central task of increasing the buying power of the masses.

ual businesses may temporarily be, it is obvious that we can't run our modern industrial machine as a whole unless the masses can buy its products—that is, we can't run it on any business system. The Government might conceivably take it over and operate it in some lifeless bureaucratic way.

Or we might install some dictatorship of labor, called Communism, or a dictatorship of privilege, known as Fascism, under which the masses might get a living instead of experiencing an abundant life. But if we are to have liberty and prosperity—including economic liberty and economic prosperity—we must have them under economic law.

We cannot operate this American machine at its present and rapidly increasing capacity unless the masses can buy on a scale which was never before heard of, and the masses cannot buy on any such scale unless wages are removed from competition, and organized business and organized labor co-operate on the task of seeing how high those wages can be raised. That means that there must be codes, with teeth in them, means that chiselers and economic traitors must be brought to book.

And I am compelled to agree with the President, who, from the start, instead of attempting to administer our economic affairs, merely opened the door by which business, with the co-operation of labor, could set up its own controls.

All I urge is that you leave that door open. Then, if business fails, it will not be your responsibility. The NRA, we must remember, was never intended to produce recovery by some power within itself. It was an act, rather, a charter under which business, if it grasped its opportunity, could attend to its own recovery, and we could have complete recovery before this coming fall if business in general were to begin concerted Business has not yet done this because, instead of thinking of its opportunities, it has been thinking of its rights—like the absolute monarchs of old who absolutely lost their thrones because they insisted upon their divine right to remain absolute.

GET RID OF GRADE CROSSINGS.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

ALL the explanations and excuses in the world cannot lessen the horror of the grade-crossing crash at Rockville, Md., that brought death to 14 school children in a motor bus, nor assuage in the slightest the grief of the parents whose boys and girls have been lost to them so tragically.

The fact remains, however, that negligence was at fault in this disaster, the negligence of the State in permitting improperly guarded grade crossings. There was no watchman at the crossing when the collision occurred, and, although a warning bell was supposed to be sounded, it either was not operating or the driver did not hear it in time.

The only sure method of preventing such tragedies is the elimination of all grade crossings. That portion of the new Federal work relief appropriation earmarked for this work will be well spent in removing one of the most dangerous hazards of travel.

THE terrible dust storms in the West producing a change in popular attitude, which years of earnest argument and policy failed to achieve. For several decades, experts in soil conservation warned the nation that it was wasting its most priceless possession. But it seemed to Congress that the time had come to pass legislation. Business is anxious that the bill be continued. Congressmen report they are receiving a considerable volume of mail from business men and farmers strongly urging the passage of a new NIRA act.

on the whole, the people remained indifferent, and so did their public officials. Now the dust storms, with their dramatic toll of human life and overnight destruction of vast areas of farm lands, have started the people. The demand that the Government do something to check the spread of a man-made desert has reached panic proportions.

The alarm is justified.

But a discouraging feature of the new demand is the utter dependence upon the people look to the national Government to perform a miracle. True, Washington should and will spend hundreds of millions of dollars. There is no other adequate to be used to fasten the loose soil by planting trees, shrubs, grasses and unproductive erosion-resisting crops. But aggressive operation by state and local governments, and the farmers and stockmen, is also needed. State governments have a duty even more important to long-range success of erosion control than all of the Federal Government's prospective expenditures. State governments have jurisdiction over lands privately owned. They should exercise their power by prohibiting further misuse of private lands by farmers and cattle and sheepmen.

JERSEY'S ANTI-NAZI LAW.
From the Philadelphia Record.

NEW JERSEY's new anti-Nazi law may be it a misdemeanor to disseminate propaganda against a race, color or form of ship. Penalties for violation run from days to three years in jail, with fines of $5000.

One can understand the motives which inspired this bill. More, one can sympathize with the many people who, naturally, resent the intolerant outbursts of Nazis in this country. These sincere advocates of the bill, however, probably failed to realize that the measure is even more dangerous to THEM than the propaganda.

What this legislation does is restrict freedom of speech. The potential evils of this restriction are almost incalculable. The restrictions in the New Jersey bill would prohibit attacks by the Nazis, and may very well be interpreted as prohibiting attacks upon the Nazis.

And if freedom of speech is restricted so far as race, color and creed are concerned it is but one step to extend that restriction to protect unscrupulous politicians and propagandists with dictatorial ambitions.

Justice Holmes once declared that freedom of speech means "freedom for all that we hate as well as for those that we love." And we are safer, by far, in the land of dictum. It is too easy to turn two-sided sword of suppression to use against us.

HOW MUCH IS $4,880,000,000?

From the Mason (Ga.) Telegraph.

An expert mathematician who helps the average layman cannot grasp the significance of a sum as huge as $4,880,000,000 gives the following comparison to make it easier:

One hour	60 minutes
One day	1,440 minutes
One week	10,080 minutes
One year	525,600 minutes
1935 years	1,017,036,000 minutes

This would permit the spending of $4,880,000,000 in 1935 years at the rate of one minute per year.

SUPPORT of this administration by the prime pundits of big business does not exist. There are two definite points of view. The first is that the profits are in the way out and that no one can stop it. Men of the mind say, "Chuck it. What are the uses of fighting? The more you fight, the fiercer the opposition. Nothing makes the country up but and big smash. The quicker it comes, the quicker we shall recover." The second people point to our waste spending by billions, to the steadily increasing number of people who are being taught to depend it for a living, the certainty that we cannot do any better at such a rate, and to express their belief that the printing of fiat money to pay these tremendous expenses of government cannot possibly

A second group are digging the trenches of last-ditch resist. They think the liberal to be following of Roosevelt will split between the moderates and the extremes; that the President will go the distance to the left in order to retain the support of a constantly increasing group of extremists and that a victory for the conservatives in this country is a certain outcome of a split in the ranks behind Roosevelt.

The best interest of most people in this country lies along a middle path. Without the firm and genuine support of those who still stand for something against the rapidly increasing strength of those who stand for nothing, the latter will control the situation even if they do not.

WAGNER labor dispute strategists have a secret they believe will greatly Big business is vigorously opposed to this legislation. Business is anxious that the be continued.

Congressmen report they are receiving a considerable volume of mail from business men and labor organizations strongly urging the vote for a new NRA act.

This anxiety to retain the act is the basis of the plan of the Wagner bill sponsors.

They propose trading the support of an NRA bill in return for acceptance of the Wagner bill. To make sure there is no slip in the swap, they will require that Wagner bill be incorporated in the NRA act.

This, they say, can be done easily by substituting it for the famous Section 7-a, the so-called "collective bargaining" provision of the NLRB.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK HEAD TELLS OF LOANS TO INDUSTRY

St. Louis Depository Advanced $4,447,000 to 54 Firms Since Last June.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis has approved industrial applications for loans amounting to $4,447,000 since the Federal Reserve Act was amended in June, 1934, to permit loans to industry for working capital, William McChesney Martin, governor, said yesterday at a luncheon of the Mid-Town Business Club.

This, he said, represented 45 per cent of the funds allotted to the Eighth District for such loans. Applications in all 12 districts have been approved to the extent of 28 per cent of the total allotment, Martin said. In this district loans were made to 54 companies in 14 types of industry.

Martin told in detail how the loans were made available to industry.

MEAT PRICE CUT AFTER STRIKE

Los Angeles Butchers Sign Agreement, Shops Had Closed.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 18.—Thirty-four of the 40 Holbeck Heights butchers who closed their shops for a few days last week because of a so-called meat strike, signed agreements yesterday with the "strike" leaders to sell meat at 5 cents a pound less than before.

Mervin Gebler, president of the Los Angeles Kosher Butchers' Association, said the agreements were signed with Mrs. Minnie Rubin, chairman, and Mrs. Sadie Goldstein, secretary of the United Conference Against the High Cost of Living. The shops were closed for several days because of lack of patronage due to picketing and intimidation, but were reopened under a guard of police and plain clothes men.

Versailles treaty to the negotiation of new pacts intended to guard against future war.

Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, who played a leading part in yesterday's condemnation by the League of Nations Council of the Reich's unilateral abrogation of the treaty's military clauses by rearmament, returned to Paris to press plans for concluding a mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

Little Entente Meets.

Members of the Little Entente—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania—met to consider the future of the proposed Danubian pact in the light of what generally was expected would be Reichstuehrer Hitler's refusal to join in guaranteeing Austria's independence as a consequence of the League Council's action.

A Czechoslovakian mutual assistance pact with Russia, modeled along the lines of that advanced by France, was outlined in conversations between Laval and Dr. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister. Dr. Benes was expected to go to Moscow in June to sign the accord.

It was understood Laval and Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, plan to work for speedy conclusion of a defensive air pact among the Western European Powers for quick aid in the event any of the signatories is attacked. There was even talk of reviving the once projected Eastern Mediterranean pact among Yugoslavia, Greece, Bulgaria and Turkey.

Laval's Moscow trip to complete the Franco-Russian negotiations, originally scheduled for late this month, is reported to have been postponed to May 6. It was expected Laval would stop at Warsaw en route to confer with Joseph M. Beck, Polish Foreign Minister. The proposed Rome conference on the Danubian pact also is likely to be postponed from May to June.

The next step in the League's program to bring international pressure to bear to penalize treaty violators will be the meeting of the committee named yesterday to decide what economic and financial penalties may be applied. The committee is expected to convene late next month.

League officials expect its work will be delicate and difficult. Grading possible treaty violations according to their relative gravity and fixing appropriately severe penalties is expected to consume considerable time and possibly involve amendments to the League covenant.

The council yesterday accepted a French offer to settle Syrian refugees from Iraq in Syria. Syrians in Iraq were having difficulties with the Government, the council was told. France indicated its willingness to settle 6000 of them in Syria. The council appropriated 40,000 Swiss francs to cover the cost of migration which eventually was expected to involve 10,000 refugees. Plans to send several thousand of them to British Guiana, in the West Indies, were abandoned.

British Expect Proposal Condemning All Treaty Violations.

LONDON, April 18.—Informed quarters said today that when the League of Nations Council next meets, in the latter part of May, it would consider a resolution of

AMERICAN WOMAN TELLS OF WORK IN TOKIO

Miss Shipps, Director, Describes Operation of St. Luke's Medical Center.

Miss Helen K. Shipps, director of the social service division of St. Luke's International Medical Center, in Tokio, Japan, described to a Post-Dispatch reporter today the first practical applications of the case work method of social science in the Orient. She is in St. Louis for a brief social visit.

Miss Shipps, who was in charge of the Episcopal Mission to city institutions here during 1927 and 1928, has been with the Tokio hospital since 1930. Social work there, she said, was closely identified with medical treatment, in that physicians prescribe for their patients after consultation with the case worker in charge.

In the Medical Center, grown enormously since its founding 30 years ago by Dr. Rudolph Leusler, an assembly of physicians meets to study records of the individual patient when he is to be discharged from the hospital. They hear a report of his physical condition from an interne and a summary of the social aspects of his case prepared by the case worker, and then determine the method of his convalescence.

"A social worker can do nothing in any foreign country until he has mastered the language and reached a complete understanding of the customs. He must learn how deeply rooted the customs are, and what the common denominator of humanity is beneath them," she said.

"The Japanese are sympathetic, naive and loyal. Cleverness and subtlety are not among their virtues, as is popularly supposed here. Their flawless manners and fine social sense arise from their sincerity and loyalty."

Although her experience in social work in America included service in several large cities, she believes that four years of teaching and field work in Columbia, Mo., were her best training for the position at St. Luke's. "The people of Central Missouri have the same brand of conservatism as the Japanese, and are as difficult to know and as fine when one knows them."

Miss Shipps, during her eight-month furlough, has exacted promises from several American schools that scholarships in social work will be provided for Japanese girls. The Japan Women's University will establish a post-graduate course in social work next year, at which Miss Shipps will lecture.

Her visit here to Mrs. Blanche Bartlett, of Washington University, and Miss Meta Gruner, 5147 Waterman avenue, will end Saturday. She will return to Tokio early in May.

500 FERTILE MISSOURI ACRES BEING PLANTED FOR NEEDY

Canning Centers to Be Set Up for Each Tract: Conditions Favor Heavy Yield.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—More than 500 acres of Missouri's richest soil is being planted in large-scale vegetable gardens to produce food for the State's needy, according to Wallace Crossley, State Relief Administrator. The production tracts, located in various counties over the State, are in addition to 114,000 State-sponsored subsistence home gardens planted by the unemployed for their own use. Similar projects were carried out last year and, in spite of the drought, the gardens produced many tons of food which is still being distributed to relief clients, he said.

Canning centers will be set up near each production tract for the conservation of perishable foods, Crossley explained.

With the moisture content of the soil approaching normal for the first time in five years, and with an outlook for sufficient rainfall this spring, prospects are good for high vegetable garden yields, Crossley pointed out. Thus State relief officials anticipate that a large part of the food requirements of Missouri's poor will be met with vegetables from the subsistence home gardens and production tracts, he said.

Ex-Mayor Finishes Prison Term.

VANDALIA, Ill., April 18.—Former State Representative Jesse Hall, who served 11 months at the State Prison Farm here for embezzlement, was released yesterday. He pleaded guilty of conspiracy to embezzle $35,000 while serving as Mayor of East Peoria, Ill. Warden George Ray said Hall, who was sentenced for a year and $10,000, received a month off for good behavior.

NUMBER OF FACTORIES CONTINUES TO DECLINE

68,093 Fewer Operating in 1933 Than in 1929, Census Report Shows.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—A decrease in the number of manufacturing establishments in operation was shown in figures on file at the Bureau of the Census today. There were 68,093 fewer such businesses in operation in 1933 than in 1929. The depression dates from the collapse of the stock market in October, 1929.

The census of manufactures, taken biennially, showed that in 1929 there were 209,862 establishments employing 8,821,757 persons. Their products were valued at $69,980,909,712.

In 1931, there were 174,255 such establishments, 6,006,701 wage earners in them, and the value of products was $41,038,402,307.

Decline in Wages Paid.
In 1933, although the number of such establishments fell to 141,767 and the value of products fell to $31,358,840,338, the number of wage earners employed showed a relatively small decrease to 6,005,736.

Wages paid by these plants fell to $11,607,287,474 in 1933, from $17,231,655 in 1931 and to $5,261,576,029 in 1933.

In the last two-year period, the greatest decrease in manufacturing establishments was in the Middle Atlantic states, where there were 43,831 plants in 1933 as compared with 56,356 in 1931. This district includes New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The East North Central group—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—which has the next greatest number of plants, showed a decline from 39,113 in 1931 to 32,256 in 1933.

Decrease in Food Industries.
By industries, the number of plants manufacturing food and kindred products dropped from 47,767 in 1931 to 40,285 in 1933, while the number of those devoted to textiles and their products dropped from 23,750 to 19,266. Plants for printing, publishing and allied industries decreased from 24,918 to 19,395.

Other industries, all showing decrease in the number of plants: Forest products, 16,016 to 12,285; paper and allied products, 1833 to 2697; chemicals and allied products, 7444 to 6257; products of petroleum and coal, 1317 to 1211; rubber products, 433 to 408; leather and its manufactures, 3702 to 3265; stone, clay and glass products, 6408 to 4528; iron and steel and their products, not including machinery, 5965 to 5133; non-ferrous metals and their products, 6310 to 4919; machinery, not including transportation equipment, 11,339 to 9713; transportation equipment, air, land and water, 2958 to 1353; railroad repair shops, 2167 to 1901; and miscellaneous, 11,758 to 8682.

Committee members disagreed whether to take Richberg to task for withholding the penalty against the firearms company. So much discord was evident that Nye announced he would wait "a day or two" before pressing the matter.

Senator Clark (Dem., Missouri), a committee member, said as the committee recessed: "I don't think it is within our jurisdiction to inquire into labor disputes."

The Colt company was declared to have refused to deal with union representatives, which precipitated a strike of 1200 men at its Hartford (Conn.) plant. Much of the business there is manufacture of machine guns for the War Department.

SENATE DRIVERS' LICENSE BILL PASSED BY MISSOURI HOUSE Enables Cities of More Than 10,000 Population to Enact Own Laws.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—The House passed the Senate drivers' license bill late yesterday after amending it so that it incorporated cities in the State will be permitted to enact local license laws. As passed by the Senate, the authorization was extended only to cities of more than 10,000 population and was designed principally to enable St. Louis to enact a drivers' license law.

The measure now goes to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendment making the bill State-wide in application. The House passed a drivers' license bill of its own, applicable to the entire State, more than a month ago, but the Senate roads and highways committee has never acted on it.

Some of the St. Louis members of the House opposed the amendment, fearing that its adoption would result in defeat of the measure in the Senate, where several Senators from rural counties are opposed to a drivers' license law.

The House vote on the bill was 85 to 33. Proponents of the amendment argued that amending the bill would bring it out on the floor of the Senate where it might have a better chance of passage than the House bill pending in Senate committee.

LITTLE ENTEENTE, ARGENTINA RATIFY ANTI-WAR TREATY Ceremony of Final Acceptance of Pact Signed in 1933 Takes Place at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, April 18.—The members of the Little Entente, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia, today exchanged with Argentina ratifications of an anti-war treaty which was signed at Rio de Janeiro in 1933. The signing took place at the headquarters of the Argentine delegation. Nicholas Titulescu, Rumanian Foreign Minister, signed on behalf of the Little Entente.

He said he had received directly from President Thomas Masaryk of Czechoslovakia authority to sign on behalf of that nation. Argentina was represented by Jose Maria Cantilo, representative of the League of Nations, Ruiz Guinazu, Minister to Switzerland, and Carlos Pardo, secretary-general of the Argentine delegation.

NRA BOARD CRITICISES SENATE COMMITTEE

Says Demand for Testimony Wrecked Negotiations to End Firearms Company Strike.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The National Industrial Recovery Board, in a statement yesterday, blamed the Senate Munitions Committee for failure of negotiations to end the Colt Firearms Co. strike.

The criticism was made after Chairman Nye of the committee decided to forego a demand that Donald R. Richberg, Recovery Board chairman, explain why the arms company was not promptly cut off from Government machine gun contracts for its alleged refusal to negotiate with unions under the NRA labor clauses.

The Recovery Administration's statement said: "Most unfortunately while the National Industrial Recovery Board is endeavoring to promote an agreement which would put men back to work and bring about compliance with the law, the Special Munitions Committee has called upon the chairman of the NIRE to give public testimony concerning this case."

"It was evident that a discussion of the legal questions involved and the progress of the investigation would result in increasing antagonisms."

"Therefore, a request was made either for a postponement of any action by the Senate Committee or for a discussion of the situation in an executive session."

"The committee postponed action, but the publication of a great many rumors and inflammatory articles had the natural effect of creating new hostilities and misunderstandings, with the result that when the representatives of the employees and employers returned to Washington for further conferences with members of the board on Monday, it was found that the opportunity for a peaceful adjustment had practically disappeared."

Committee members disagreed whether to take Richberg to task for withholding the penalty against the firearms company. So much discord was evident that Nye announced he would wait "a day or two" before pressing the matter.

BRINGS NEW BEAUTY QUICKLY BY CORRECTING SKIN TROUBLES
—say scores of nurses

AMONG the millions of women who are now using this famous "pimple" cream, there are thousands of trained nurses. They are enthusiastic—they tell their friends to use it. Their training has taught them what the skin needs to keep it healthy and beautiful. Science now recognizes that many of the common skin faults come from tiny hidden poisons that lurk unseen deep in our pores. Pimples, Blackheads, Large Pores, Oiliness, chapping, cuts, burns and many other beauty-destroying flaws are now traced to these invisible poisons.

Ordinary care is not enough. Soaps and creams that merely cleanse the surface fail to reach these insidious poisons. A special cream is necessary—a greatest medicated cream that sinks into the skin, help purging "pore" pores and soothe irritated skin. Snow-white and dairy Noxzema Skin Cream is such a cream. It keeps skin free from blemishes, it keeps skin free from itching, irritation, and Noxzema. Apply it at night and during the day as a foundation for powder. Note how Noxzema soothes irritation—how clear, soft and lovely your skin becomes—in a few short days.

A SIGN OF SERVICE

NOT CONNECTED WITH STANDARD OIL CO. (INDIANA)

For the past several years, motorists in the East and in the South have been familiar with "the ESSO sign." This big red, white and blue ESSO oval has marked the source of fine products and courteous service at more than 30,000 ESSO STATIONS and ESSO DEALERS from Maine to Louisiana.

At stations displaying the ESSO oval, discriminating motorists have been able to obtain:

ESSO (Aerotype) Motor Fuel, selling at a 2c premium over the price of regular gasoline.
ESSOLENE, selling at the price of regular gasoline, although it guarantees smoother performance.
ESSOLUBE, the premium motor oil, selling at the regular motor oil price of 25c per quart.
ESSOLEUM Greases and Lubricants.
UNIFLO Motor Oil.

All of these are products of the world's largest petroleum laboratories, refiners, producers and marketers.
Now, ST. LOUIS motorists can enjoy the same fine products and the same fine service as are available to motorists throughout the East and the South.
ESSO, INC., announces three new stations in St. Louis:

3538 SOUTH KINGSHIGHWAY AT MIAMI
5549 EASTON AV. AT BURD
6901 EASTON AV.

Call at one of these stations today. ESSO or ESSOLENE in the tank and ESSOLUBE or UNIFLO in the crankcase will make your motor do its best.

Look for "the ESSO sign." You will find it a symbol of quality and a sign of service.

Please Note That the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) HAS NO CONNECTION WITH ESSO STATIONS or ESSO, INC.

REVERENCE
For One Thing, It's 17 Years Old

BOURBON DE LUXE has long been a whiskey to command respect. As its name implies, this straight bourbon whiskey is of select quality and distinguished excellence.

But this particular Bourbon de Luxe has an even greater claim to distinction.

It was put away in deeply charred Arkansas oak barrels and lay in the racks 17 years—more than four times as long as bonding laws require.

Then it was bottled, just as it had been aged, under strict U. S. Government supervision.

Along with famous Old McBraver and Blue Grass, it's the oldest, mellowest Kentucky bourbon still on the market.

Certainly the oldest native whiskey you'll ever be able to buy.

Why not pick up some, while it's still available, to serve with appropriate ceremony on very special occasions...

Memphis police and Department of Justice Agents have joined in the search for H. S. Miller, 54-year-old merchant of Elsberry, Mo. J. F. Miller, a brother, and C. F. Miller, a son, came here yesterday in an effort to develop clues that would lead to the whereabouts of the Missouri man, who left his home in an automobile on April 8 on a trip to sell gloves.

The relatives said Miller's car was found on April 9 at Ripley, Tenn. They said the glove samples and keys were in the car. Miller owns a variety store and a glove manufacturing factory at Elsberry.

D. A. R. VOTING TODAY
ON 30 CANDIDATES

Picture of Speaker Byrnes Meeting Aspirant for Presidency Enters in Contest.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Daughters of the American Revolution were voting today on slates placed before them last night.

In addition to Mrs. William A. Becker of New Jersey and her slate of 11, and Dr. Flora Myers Gillentine of Tennessee, and her slate of 10, nine women were nominated for vice-presidents general. Seven of these nine will win. Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Gillentine are candidates for president-general. Tennessee supporters of Mrs. Gillentine charged in a statement that Mrs. Becker had been photographed with Speaker Joseph Byrnes of Tennessee through a ruse. The photograph was printed in a morning paper and the wrath of Mrs. Gillentine's supporters finally exploded in a statement:

"Mrs. Becker was in the receiving line of the Tennessee dinner for Mrs. Gillentine. A photographer was placed at an advantageous point and Mrs. Becker was introduced to Speaker Byrnes. At that moment the photographer snapped the picture. Speaker Byrnes flashed his famous smile at a pretty woman, but Speaker Byrnes is a fast friend and ardent supporter of Mrs. Gillentine for president-general."

However, Byrnes hailed Mrs. Gillentine as the "next president-general" at a breakfast given by Representative Virginia Jenckes of Indiana.

A revolt against what some of the daughters term "gag rule" reached the floor yesterday, when Mrs. John Trigg Moss of St. Louis, refused to take Mrs. Magna's ruling that her move for a "rising vote of re-affirmation" had to go to the Resolutions Committee. The parliamentarian ruled for her, and a rising vote was taken. Mrs. Moss later said she was tired of viva voce rubber stamping that sounded "weak as water." Mrs. Russell Magna is president-general.

GERMAN-AMERICAN LEADER, HENRY WEISMANN, DIES

Although Born Abroad, He Supported U. S. Actively During World War.
NEW YORK, April 18.—Henry Weismann, a German-American leader during the World War, died at his home in St. James, L. I., Tuesday. He was 70 years old.
As president of the New York German-American Alliance he was the center of bitter controversies at the start of the war. After the United States entered the war he announced his devotion to the country, made Liberty loan appeals and urged all German-Americans to support the United States.
Born in Germany, he settled in San Francisco when he came to the United States, working as a baker. For a time he was a member of the Socialist labor party.
During the '80's, while he was a member of the Anti-Coolidge League, he was jailed for six months on a charge of possessing explosives. Years later he said he was proud of having served the sentence, saying he had been "framed" by political enemies.

Later he became international secretary of the Journeymen Bakers' Union of America, and came to New York in 1880 as one of the editors of the Bakers' Journal.

SUMMER ORTHOPEDIC WORK Use of One of Community Centers Suggested

Establishment of orthopedic work at one of the community centers during the summer, so that the 232 crippled children attending public schools may join in games, was urged by Alfred H. Wyman, assistant director of the Community Council, at a meeting of the Civic Committee of the Wednesday Club yesterday.
The work should be under the care of a trained worker and supervised by a physician, he said. Among activities which could be organized for crippled children, he cited dramatics, operettas, handicraft, social activities and club groups.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TRIBUTE TO OCHS

Board's Resolution Praises His Record as Publisher, Patriot and Philanthropist.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 18.—A resolution in recognition of the services of Adolph S. Ochs of the New York Times was the first order of business yesterday of the board of directors of the Associated Press. The resolution adopted will be conveyed to the members in annual session next Monday.
Its text follows:
"The board of directors of the Associated Press has adopted the following resolution for transmission to the annual meeting, as an expression both of the board and the full membership, on the death of Adolph S. Ochs:
"Whereas the death of Adolph S. Ochs removes from the membership of the Associated Press one who has been identified with it since its organization, of which he was a charter member, and whereas his unfailing loyalty to the Associated Press, and his constructive efforts in behalf of its development have contributed in large measure to the standard of efficiency it has attained, and whereas the loss of one whose advice, encouragement and support has been so markedly felt in the steady broadening of the service as to win for him the admiration, the confidence, and the personal esteem of the full membership, therefore,
"Be it resolved, that in the death of Adolph S. Ochs the Associated Press loses one of its most valuable and most highly esteemed members, and the journalism of America one whose high standard of ethics, and whose brilliant achievement in the field of journalism placed him among the foremost of the newspaper publishers of the world.
"Ripe in years, and after a long and an honorable career, he leaves a record of notable achievement as publisher, patriot and philanthropist.
"His virtues and the gentility of his companionship endeared him to the full membership, which in his death shares the sorrow of his associates and his family.
"Resolved that a copy of this expression be sent to his family."

CONSPIRACY CASE ACQUITTAL
John G. Carr, lawyer, and Matt Robinson, coal miner, both of West Frankfort, Ill., yesterday were acquitted of conspiracy to conceal assets of a bankrupt by a jury in Federal Judge Wham's court at East St. Louis.
Carr was attorney for Robinson, who filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition Nov. 16, 1933, listing liabilities of $527 and assets of $286. The charge was based on failure to include a check for $112 due Robinson from Local 329, United Mine Workers of America, of which he was secretary.

G. O. P. LEADERS BEGIN PLANNING FOR 1936

Conferences Held in Washington and Drive for Funds Is Arranged.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—With the next presidential convention only about 14 months away, Republican leaders intensified today their efforts to prepare their party for the 1936 campaign. Conferences aimed at revitalizing the party and evolving tactics for the coming contest were planned at the Capitol.
William Allen White, the editor of Emporia, Kan., and former Senator Henry Allen of Kansas, were expected to begin a series of private conferences with members of Congress here during the day.
Senator Capper (Rep.), Kansas, said yesterday that White and Allen intended to round up the ideas of Republicans in Congress regarding 1936 so an understanding of sectional viewpoints might be given to a contemplated "F. Middle Western Republicans at Kansas City in the near future."
Regional Meetings Planned.
White, Allen, Capper, and John Hamilton of Topeka, Kan., Republican National Committeeman, have been among the leaders in arrangements for the Kansas City meeting. Other regional meetings of Republicans have been planned in New England and on the West Coast. From all three, leaders have asserted they expect resolutions which will provide assistance in framing the new party platform.
Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Dickinson of Iowa, both of whom have been mentioned as possible presidential nominees, are among those who have been invited to attend a luncheon at the Capitol on Saturday in honor of White and Allen.
Senator McNary of Oregon and Representative Snell of New York, the party leaders in Congress, and the co-chairmen of the Republican Senatorial-Congressional Committee—Senator Hastings of Delaware and Representative Bolton of Ohio—also are expected to be present.
Republican leaders in Congress asserted privately yesterday that they did not think former President Hoover had inspired plans for regional party meetings—as had been reported.
At the same time some of the guests at a recent gathering in the home of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth said it was not a meeting arranged to discuss Republican plans.
"Purely Social Affair."
Representatives Bolton (Rep.), Ohio, and Wadsworth (Rep.), New York, and Senator Vandenberg said the affair had been "purely social." One guest, who declined to be quoted by name, said there had been as many Democrats as Republicans at the party and that "if there was any political talk, it must have been in a corner."
Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Mrs. Longworth's brother, said in New York last night that the recent meetings at her home and at the country home of Lawrence Richey, former secretary to Mr. Hoover, were not prearranged conferences.
"Naturally," he said, "we talked politics. We always talk politics, but when we met at my sister's house it was just a gathering of old friends."
Richey, who was visited by the former President over last weekend, said he knew "nothing about" reports of Mr. Hoover's activity toward rebuilding the party.
In New York, Henry P. Fletcher, national Republican chairman, gave assurance that funds raised in the drive which will open next Monday in Manhattan will be divided equally among the national, state and New York County committees.

EDITOR SAYS COOLIDGE 'THREW UP HIS HANDS'

Deeply Shaken by Depression Before His Death, Asserts William Allen White.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 18.—William Allen White, the Emporia (Kan.) editor, in a speech at the annual meeting of the American Provident Association yesterday, called on "you young fellows under 50" to solve the current economic problems. "My generation got the old bus in the ditch," he said. "It's up to you to get it out."
Reviewing technological improvements, White said millions of persons had been thrown out of work and commented "the faster we move, the more inefficient we become."
The habit of thrift, he said, will come into its own again despite the setback received in the depression. "All I thought I knew about savings and investments seems to have gone. Recently I have been engaged on writing a life of Calvin Coolidge, and I know that before his death he, too, threw up his hands," White said.
"He came to feel that he was walking on quicksand in his philosophy of life. However, I can't feel that those things that have been with us for 300 years will in

NEW TRIAL GRANTED IN SUIT AGAINST GRAND NATIONAL BANK

Jeweler Seeking $38,365 Alleged to Have Been Stolen From Deposit Box in Robbery.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 18.—An opinion was handed down in Division No. 1 of the State Supreme Court at Jefferson City yesterday, reversing and remanding for a new trial the suit of Henry Kramer, jeweler, against the Grand National Bank for $38,365, representing value of cash and jewelry alleged to have been stolen from Kramer's safe deposit box at the bank. The suit grew out of the $10,000 robbery of safe deposit boxes there in May, 1930.
A jury in Circuit Judge Green's court returned a verdict in favor of the bank on April 13, 1932. Kramer charged the bank was negligent in protecting its customers' property while preparing the banking quarters. Judge Green's decision, held the trial court in error in refusing to instruct the jury on the point of negligence requested by Kramer's counsel. The opinion also called some of the instructions confusing and misleading.
The bank, now in liquidation, closed in 1933.

LIGHT AN OLD GOLD for young ideas

OLD GOLD isn't a dry Martini in disguise. But smokers do say they get a pleasant stimulation from this extremely mild cigarette. That's due to Old Gold's smooth and "biteless" tobacco. It acts as a "pick-me-up"...with never a "kick-back" either to the nerves or throat.

Stimulating... BUT NEVER IRRITATING

"Magnificent! Spectacular! Splendiferous!"

"In other words—SMOOTH!"

SEAGRAM'S is smoother. And there are two big reasons why. First, Seagram's enormous stocks of rich blending whiskey. Second, Seagram's three-quarters of a century's experience in distilling fine whiskey. Crown Whiskey is actually "custom-made" to American taste—that's why more people buy Seagram's Crown than any other brand. At home, serve Seagram's. Away from home, say, "Make mine with Seagram's." Say Seagram's and be sure.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES ACT IN ILLINOIS INVALID IN PART
Section Requiring "Approved Safe-guards" Held Unconstitutional by State Supreme Court.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18.—The Illinois Supreme Court declared one section of the occupational diseases act unconstitutional yesterday. It ruled invalid the section requiring that approved safeguards be provided in plants where workers are subjected to occupational diseases.
The objection was that the due process of law clauses are violated by failure to establish any standard for the administration of the law and that the making of regulations cannot be delegated to the State Labor Department.

PARTY POLITICIANS

AT ODDS WITH MAYOR

Defeat of Dickmann's Effort to Control Aldermen Is Sign of Antagonism.

Defeat in the new Board of Aldermen Tuesday of Mayor Dickmann's effort to control the board reflected the political antagonism which has sprung up between the Mayor and numerous Democratic politicians.

Politicians discussing the board's refusal, by a 17-to-12 vote, to concentrate authority of committee appointments in the hands of President Mason, as desired by Dickmann, regarded it as significant that the Aldermen from the strongest Democratic wards voted against the Mayor's plan. This was accepted in opposition circles as an indication that the party machine in those wards might not be favorable to Dickmann's future political ambitions; also that administration legislation could not be assured of smooth sailing.

Aldermen voting against the Mayor were from the following wards: Second to Eleventh, inclusive; Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-second and Twenty-third. In most of these wards it was not only the attitude of the Aldermen which was taken into consideration, but also the feeling of the Democratic committeemen from the wards towards the Mayor, or the alignment of the Aldermen with factions which have grown out of the party.

The so-called Democratic "delivery wards," where there has been a good vote for the party even in the quarter of a century of Republican administration, were not in this group, including the block that formed the old Democratic Eleventh Congressional District. On the other hand, among the wards whose Aldermen voted with the Mayor, only a few party organizations adhering closely to Dickmann, while in some of the others there were factional splits.

Judge Dickmann and a Liaison Man.

Judge Dickmann, who is chairman of the Court of Criminal Correction, brother of the Mayor, has been a sort of political liaison officer for the administration. The Judge formerly was a Democratic committeeman. Justice of the Peace Jimmy Miller, Fourth Ward Democratic boss, has been a frequent visitor at the Judge's office.

There has been complaint among Aldermen and Democratic committeemen over the Mayor's insistence that "fixing" of traffic charges and other minor Police Court cases, to free defendants as a favor, would not be tolerated. Judge Dickmann has indicated that he thought it was good politics to render favors like this. The party machine also has regarded "fixing" as an excellent means of building up support among constituents.

Jimmy Miller had a candidate for Twelfth Ward Alderman, James McAteer, opposing Alderman Walsh, who was elected on Mayor Dickmann's slate. After the Mayor's followers tried to line up support for Walsh many of the stronger committeemen agreed to back McAteer. Dickmann decided to use his war veterans' organization and other forces to oppose the committee. Miller, who was in Jefferson City at the time, telephoned to the Mayor and agreed to drop McAteer. However, it was apparent that Miller did not relish the setback. The action in the Board of Aldermen on the Mayor's effort for control may have reflected Miller's resentment.

Hannegan Friendly With Mayor.

Robert E. Hannegan, who was chairman of the Democratic City Committee to succeed Dewey S. Godfrey because members felt Hannegan would be more independent of Dickmann than Godfrey had been, has been quite friendly with the Mayor. He was given a $2000 job as legislative agent for the city before the Legislature.

Politicians have assumed that Dickmann would like to be re-elected in 1937, although at one time there was talk of his running for Governor in 1936. The antagonism of some committeemen and Aldermen would be an important factor in his prospects.

In a primary election contest, if opposed by many committeemen, Dickmann probably could count on support from those city employees not too closely aligned with committee members; from committeemen who are on the municipal payroll, from his independent veterans' and naturalized citizens' groups and from personal friends whom he has placed on the city payroll.

$2500 FORFEITURE AGAINST BONDSMAN MUICH SET ASIDE

Action Taken by Judge Russell When Accused Man Is Produced in Court.

The forfeiture of a $2500 bond signed by Anton Muich, professional bondsman, was set aside today by Circuit Judge Russell when Muich produced the principal, John Majajich, charged with robbery.

Judge Russell approved a new bond of the same amount, signed by Martin Lohmann, 910 Lami street, former Republican Alderman from the Ninth Ward.

Muich and his lawyer, Charles Graves, called at the Circuit Attorney's office April 9, after the forfeiture had been declared, and promised to get Majajich into court.

Today Majajich explained that he had been in Chicago and had received no notice that he was due to be in court on his bond.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Ollan Mulch, an investigation of the financial responsibility of Muich, who filed a debtor's petition in bankruptcy last Dec. 29, Muich was approved Feb. 8 as the surety on Majajich's bond to Harry J. Mulch, treasurer of the Democratic City Committee, sitting as provisional judge in Court of Criminal Correction.

MISSOURI RIVER FEDERAL BARGE SERVICE OPENS JUNE 7

Towboat "Roosevelt" to Leave St. Louis for Kansas City On That Date.

The Federal towboat "Franklin Delano Roosevelt" will leave St. Louis for the first trip in the Federal Barge line service up the Missouri River to Kansas City.

R. H. Odell, operating manager of the Federal Barge Lines, announced complete plans for service during the summer. The office here has been preparing for the Missouri traffic throughout the winter. One trip weekly will be made each way on the river, Odell said.

The "President Franklin Delano Roosevelt," now in operation on the Illinois river, probably will serve the Missouri all summer. It can tow from five to 12 barges.

Odell said the Federal barges would be listed as

Son Aids Mother in Alimony Fight

IN court at Hackensack, N. J., where Mrs. Corby is pressing a separate maintenance suit against her husband, Robert L. Lockwood

Corby, wealthy retired chemist. She asks for $15,000 back alimony.

Her son, whose father was an Italian aviator killed during the war, testified for her in a similar suit brought by Mrs. Corby at Mineola, Long Island, in 1929. A jury awarded her $500 monthly.

At the trial, Mrs. Corby's son, Eric, testified that his father was an Italian aviator who was killed during the war. He said that his father was a very successful aviator and that he was very wealthy.

$2,000,000 a Year.
Real Flight, Both Ways.
So He Bit Two Ladies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

GREATER than the Government's income have been the profits of organized crime, bootlegging, racketeering. You will recall that crime has been made "a business" if the United States Government proves to you that "Dutch Schultz" formerly known as Arthur Fugate, made a profit of $2,000,000 a year on bootlegging and similar activities.

One energetic beer runner in New York took in as much as $2,000,000 a year and have bankrupted under various names.
You suppose the total "income" of organized crime has been prohibition came to lift them from the gutter into the big time?

There is a big reason, because he never pays any income tax from the profits of "Dutch Schultz." Americans are not paying income tax, kidnapping, racketeering, but they get excited when criminals fail to divide profits with the Government.

Seasoned long flights of the great ender are important indicators of what is to come. Newsman "Pan-American clipper ship," and regular course of commercial income-producing business, has made a flight from California to Hawaii, 2,400 miles in 18 hours and 22 minutes, breaking all records for that trip means that real flight is here.

The flight means that big airlines of great carrying capacity, now flying from the United States to Europe with ease, and what is most important is the fact that with equal ease hostile forces could fly from Europe or Asia to the United States.

This dog bites a man, or pulls a woman's master out of the water, or saves the lives of a sleeping baby by waking everybody up, as the facts that is not news. You know it.

The incident of a police dog. In New York City is news. The dog was long asleep at the feet of Mrs. Rosa Larsen, 35 years old, and Miss Mary Canzani, 32 when fire alarm passed roaring through the city by the house. Much excited, the dog jumped through the open window, ran all the way around the block, came back and savagely bit the two ladies. Both were removed to the hospital to be treated for injuries to the neck, arms, shoulders.
The police dog then stretched himself out, apparently convinced that he had done all that could be reasonably expected.

Some confiding absolutely in the reputation of the so-called police dog, some relative of the wolf, it may be well to have the animal rehabilitated, especially if you expect to have young children about.

The League of Nations, unanimously condemns Germany, and demands, almost unanimously, pays attention. The League Council at Geneva is busy "storing up pencils for the future," but dictators don't worry about things that will happen in the future. Hitler has agreed, not for the first time in history, that treaties are made to be broken, especially ones that are made at Versailles.

When the French in the revolution were getting rid of monarchy, and laying the foundations of the Third Republic, Denton warned him that their success would depend on "audacity, more audacity, always audacity."
Hitler seems to have read that.

A newspaper representing Chancelor Hitler says "the time has come when Germany has bowed to destiny."
Such times pass, and sometimes come.

France bowed to dictation when Hitler sat in the palace at Versailles, in the room of many treaties, and dictated a treaty of peace.

Nearly 30 years later came Germany's turn, and she bowed to the Versailles treaty.
"Those who will come next, history will tell."
P. L. Gassman, a genuine cowboy, now representing the Fourth Congress of Oklahoma in Congress, has not yet learned to use the language of statesmanship, which he learned from a clothing store. He writes "with this kind of pension, and the soldiers' life is a hell of a mess? I am sorry, I ever went into the army."
"Congress the movies" is now appealing.

A DOCTOR TALKS OF HEALTH

By Logan Clendenning, M. D.

A YEAR or two ago, at a meeting of a learned medical society whose special field is the action of drugs and the treatment of disease, a member read a paper on the effect of tobacco.

In the discussion which followed one member delivered himself succinctly as follows:

"There have been some hard things said about tobacco, and there have been some who defend it. There has been no one able to say a good thing that it does. Why don't we dispense with it?"

Why, indeed? I know of nothing helpful that it does. I know of very little physiological effect that I feel from my own smoking. It may do some harm. It certainly costs money. I know from experience that it is a very easy habit to give up. Why don't I do it?

Ask me another. At least, I know this—the tobacco industry need not worry about any such argument. The sales will go on just the same.

Doctors Smoke. What do doctors think about tobacco? People are always wanting to know that. Well, one answer is to invite you to go into the room when an average medical society meeting is being conducted. Tobacco smoke hangs like a fog around those learned heads.

In spite of the fact that they use it, doctors don't know of any good that it does. Coffee and tea, on the contrary, in moderation, may be said to help the body. To a less extent, the same thing may be said of alcoholic beverages. But tobacco is not helpful at all. It doesn't aid digestion or quiet nerves or anything else.

On the other hand, it can't be proved that it does much harm. The amount of damage of which it is capable will be discussed tomorrow. Certainly it produces no organic changes in the body—only functional.

So perhaps most doctors agree with Carlyle. He gave up smoking for a while and then went back to it. "I am measurable with it," he explained. "And I'd rather be measurable without it."

Habits Impolite. Off the record, nothing to do with health. It's a very impolite habit. I can well imagine that the few non-smokers left in the world lead unhappy lives from the smell, the eye-burning of tobacco smoke. I abominate the smell of cigars, and the smoking room of a Pullman makes me acutely uncomfortable. Others do not relish my cigars. There is a story about another Victorian, Swinburne, who never smoked, and was sensitive to the fumes of the weed. He was driven out of the library of his club by the smoke, exclaiming, "James Stuart was a bigot, a tyrant, and a coward. But I love him. I cherish his memory, because he cut off the head of that scoundrel Raleigh who brought tobacco to England."

Women, by the way, have not improved tobacco habits. When I was young I heard much argument about the filthiness of men's tobacco habits. But since it has become feminine, the daintiest of the fair sex will indulge in the slovenly, filthy, impolite tricks of messing around with her cigarettes that can be imagined.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning are available by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, in care of The Post-Dispatch, "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Pineapple Ice Box Cake (Using Sponge Cake Slices.) Two tablespoons granulated gelatin. Four tablespoons cold water. One-half cup pineapple juice. One tablespoon lemon juice. One-eighth teaspoon salt. One-half cup sugar. One-half cup diced pineapple. One egg white, beaten. One cup heavy cream, whipped. Twelve two-inch sponge cake slices.

Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Heat pineapple juice until boiling, immediately pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice, salt and sugar. Cool until little thick. Fold in pineapple, egg and cream. Line bottom and sides of mold with sponge cake. Add one and one-half inch layer pineapple mixture. Cover with sponge cake. Add remaining pineapple mixture and top with rest of cake. Chill four hours or longer. Unmold and garnish with red cherries and bits of pineapple. Serve cut in slices.

Have cake slices 1-1/2 inch thick. Fresh or stale cake can be used. A loaf or shallow pan is advisable to use for mold.

Both Ends in Use No window shades get quite so soiled as those in the kitchen. Turn them upside down each house-cleaning and give the other end a chance.

The Rocking-Horse Breaks Up From The Bears' Weight

By Mary Graham Bonner

NOW Jupiter Bear got on the rocking-horse. He wobbled from side to side and almost fell off a dozen times, but he managed to stay on.

Then Blacky Bear took a ride, and after that Honey Bear had a turn.

But when Jelly Bear got on, the rocking horse began to shiver and quake.

All of a sudden the few cracks in the rocking-horse's two front legs split wide open and he collapsed completely, throwing Jelly Bear off, and toppling down in a broken heap at the same time.

Poor rocking-horse. He had had a jolly life and then, when he had thought his play days were over he had had another wonderful treat. Once more he had given pleasure to those who enjoyed playing.

His rocking days had ended in glorious fun.

"I was too fat for him," growled Jelly Bear.

"I gave him a strain before you got on," admitted Honey Bear. "I felt him creak when I was riding him. I thought something like this was going to happen."

The rocking-horse was all in pieces, but you could see how bright his eyes had been even with his head lying by itself on the ground where it had broken off.

"More fire wood," said Willy Nilly.

"We'll have a bonfire now!" growled Jupiter Bear. And they did, while the Puddle Muddlers jumped.

A Novel Dish

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church

An objective in entertaining adds to gaiety, such as building your party around the birthday of some friend or relative.

Take a loaf of bread, slice horizontally so that there are three layers. Pat these layers and then cover with lobster salad, chicken salad or cream cheese and relish. Then put the loaf of bread together again and put some of your filling over the top.

After this slice stuffed olives and arrange on top in such a way that the date of whatever function you are celebrating is decoratively indicated. Sliced tongue or ham at the side of your bread dish may be added. A delicious ham can be had by cooking in cider.

White Lingerie Collars LONDON.—The spirit of spring is emphasized in necklines now, the smartest of which are worn high.

Fresh white lingerie collars and cuffs introduce a feminine touch to the severest coat dress.

A practical finish on a black or navy frock is a linen collar tied with narrow strings at the throat. The center is drawn thread work.

Ruffles of lace or lawn are tied at the throat in "Scarlet Pimpernel" fashion. The tailored hosiery are often of dusty pink satin ribbon with a bow to match worn under the left side of the hat brim.

Up and down as they circled around singing:

"Rocking-horse you've given fun Since the days you first began, Goody-go rocking-horse, old dear, To the last you're giving cheer."

Parents Who Fail To Admit Errors Wrong the Child

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church

THE doctor finally gave the verdict that Mary must be sent away from home. "Summer camp now and boarding school," said Mrs. Smith. You cannot manage the child, nor can I. She needs to be put into a school where there is a student government, and taught to conform to rules and conventions laid down by girls of her own age.

Mrs. Smith was shocked and humiliated. She had prided herself on never shirking responsibility, and to her, sending Mary away was a confession of failure, and an effort to pass on to some one else a duty which she could not fulfill.

Perhaps Mary's unmanageableness was Mrs. Smith's fault. It may be that the very sense of duty which was offended now was in part responsible for the growing girl's rebellion. But if so, the mischief was done, and the only remedy was to try a new handling of the problem if Mary was to be kept in hand at all.

No parents are all-wise and infallible. Sometimes in training children they make only minor mistakes which leave very slight if any permanent traces, and so give little cause for regret. Sometimes, however, they fail completely to understand a child, and mishandle it from the outset. The only remedy then is to acknowledge defeat and do the best they can to repair the damage.

After all, the essential object is the child's welfare, and the hurt to the parents' self-esteem is a negligible consideration.

Brief Outlines Of the Movies For the Week

"George White's Scandals" Opens Here—Al Jolson on Screen.

FIRST of the Easter week shows to get under way is "George White's 1935 Scandals," which opened Tuesday at the Fox, along with "Blue Danube," an English production later withdrawn from Al Jolson's screen. George White himself is the central figure in the 1935 edition of his show. He is seen closing the 1934 show and starting for Florida. Stopping off at a little town in Georgia, he sees a tank-town edition of his own show in "Elmer" White's Scandals. So delighted with Alice Faye's singing is the Broadway impresario that he engages her for his next revue, and takes her partner and sweetheart, James Dunn; Ned Sparks, owner of the show, and Cliff Edwards, a member of the orchestra, along, as well. The scene then moves to New York, where several numbers from the new "Scandals" are interspersed with a story of how the sweethearts are separated and reunited. Song numbers include "According to the Moonlight," "Hunk-a-dola," "I Didn't Know You'd Get That Way," "It's An Old Southern Custom," "I've Got Shoes, You've Got Shoes," and "I Was Born Too Late." Eleanor Powell, tap dancer extraordinaire, makes her screen debut. The second feature picture, "When Strangers Meet," portrays the life in a group of flats.

LEWIS STATE THEATRE tomorrow is offering "Reckless," a musical with Jean Harlow and William Powell in top spots, and Allan Jones, former Municipal Opera star, in a bit part. Carl Randall, also formerly seen in Forest Park, is Jean's dance partner. Jean, when the picture opens, is a Broadway dancer in love, although not conscious of the fact, with Ned Riley, a sports promoter (Powell). She marries a worthless millionaire and after a colorful life, is free when he kills himself. Her reputation has suffered and an attempt to make a comeback is opposed on that score. The promoter backs her in a show and she wins respect, with the right to make a living for herself and her baby son, and realizes she loves Riley, who has been in love with her all along. The title song is by Jerome Kern, additional songs by Con Conrad, Burton Lane and others. In the cast are Man Mountain Dean, Nina Mae McKinney, a dusky "blues" singer, who had an important role in "Hallelujah" several years ago. One scene is built around 50 beds made of glass and illuminated with neon tubing.

WITh its closing date set for a week from today, the Ambassador will begin its final bill tomorrow, when it offers "Spring Tonic," a second feature not yet announced, and a special Easter week short, showing the spectacle of the last Eucharistic Congress in Buenos Aires. The cast of "Spring Tonic" includes Lew Ayres, Claire Trevor, Walter King, Zasu Pitts, Jack Haley, Tara Birell, Siegfried Rummant and Mitchell and Durant. "Spring Tonic," a comedy, tells the story of a spoiled heiress (Miss Trevor), who becomes bored with the elaborate preparations for her wedding to Ayres, and runs away to an abandoned resort hotel. There she becomes the object of adoration of a romantic Latin who has fled from his wife, a tiger trainer. To the hotel come a reporter, Jack Haley, the tiger trainer, the tiger and various persons. Eventually the original romance is restored. The picture was taken from the play "Man-Eating Tiger" by Ben Hecht and Rose Caylor.

"THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER," starring Norman Foster and Charlotte Henry, and "Swellhead," with Wallace Ford, Barbara Kent and Dickie Moore, open tomorrow at the Missouri. In "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," Foster takes the part of a young ex-soldier after the Civil War, who goes to Indiana to home-ward, along with a group of com-

"Swellhead" tells the story of a baseball star whose ego gets him into trouble. The picture was seen early this week, at a pre-view, by members of the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns, who autographed a picture of Dickie Moore and had it forwarded to him in Hollywood.

Charles Boyer, French actor who was seen in "Caravan," plays opposite Miss Colbert. Others in the cast are Joel McCrea, Joan Bennett and Helen Vinson. Gregory La Cava, who directed, had a hard time finding 100 actors to play the part of inmates, in that he said only people of superior intelligence could do the job well. He was assisted in directing the picture by Dr. Samuel M. Marcus, psychiatrist, who said that "directors are the sanest class of people in Hollywood." The studio rented $200,000 worth of medical and surgical equipment for scenes in the picture. In "Hold Em Yule," the Orpheum offers a Damon Runyon story of a young heiress with a fondness for a man in a uniform. Patricia Ellis,

Beauty Aids In Colorful Easter Garb

Cosmetics and Other Toilet Articles in Gay Gift Wrapping.

By Sylvia Stiles

SINCE Easter is the one day of the year when every woman is supposed to look her best, she can blame the gift giver for thinking in terms of beautifiers.

The beauty manufacturers have something to do with the gifts because they have been busy in the most alluring dress, such as practical articles as perfume, cold cream and hand lotions take on an appeal when they are wrapped in their attractive wrappings. Toilet goods counters are busy with festive merchandise, some of their wares being most artistic while others have a novel flavor. Flowers, rabbits, eggs and other things colored ribbon contribute their part of these presents and giving anyone who is in doubt as to the right to enter into the gift class.

The Easter bunny is one of the most popular purveyors of gifts in the company of soap, perfume and face powder that only the label in the container is the guide to identification. A very cunning rabbit, for example, stands guard over a can of flower-scented soap. Another tucked into the wrappings of a complete beauty kit. The design of a perfume bottle has rabbit ears on top.

The colorful Easter egg likewise is called upon to add a gay appeal to many different items. One of the most impressive of these is a compact, shaped like an egg, and hanging from a metal chain. Pack board boxes that are egg-shaped and brightly colored serve as containers for perfume, soap, cases, soap and powder. One designer who created a sensation with Easter with bottles of perfume in reality a tiny container filled with perfume, is a new creation this year that is even more attractive.

A novelty that combines the popularity both of the egg and the bunny consists of a cake of soap that looks like an egg, and is a gull so proud of having painted a windmill, but Lord! I cannot tell the vain crackpot how silly it is to gage in such misguided vanity.

Cesar Romero, Larry Crabbe and William Fraxley have important parts.

AL JOLSON and his wife, Ruby Keeler, make their first screen appearance together in "Go Into Your Dance," which opens Saturday at the Shubert Theatre. Based on a story by Bradford Ropes, who wrote "Forty-second Street," "Go Into Your Dance" describes the career of a Broadway entertainer (Jolson) who is barred from appearing in New York for his irregularity of habits. He drifts to Argentina and finds himself without a job or hope of one. A devoted sister straightens him out and persuades him to appear in Chicago with a partner. The partner is Miss Keeler in the role of a dancer from the West Coast. The team becomes a sensation and eventually gives the prodigal a chance to return to Broadway. The featured cast, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Jolson, includes Glenda Farrell, Helen Morgan, Barton MacLane, Sharon Lynne, Patsy Kelly, Benny Rubin and Phil Regan. There are seven song numbers, including "About a Quarter to Nine," "A Good Old-Fashioned Cocktail" and "Go Into Your Dance."

hold of husband and wife presented its difficulties in filming the picture. Mrs. Jolson could call her husband "Al," for that is his picture name, but he spoiled several scenes by saying "Ruby" when he should have said "Dorothy." The dance ensembles are outstanding features. One set is described, in advance notices, as "a mammoth replica of the universe interlaced with an artistic fairway crisscrossing the globe in four directions, representing the evolution of the tango from the pampas of the Argentine to Park avenue and throughout the world."

Dear Mrs. Carr: I am a young man of very good family and adequate income. Some time ago I fell in love with a lovely young girl who seemed to me, at first, to be a perfect girl. I have been courting her steadily for two years and we had planned to be married in June.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Carr, I learned from her own mother that there have been several other girls in her family. She has been very kind to me, but I am not sure that I can trust her. I believe I have been deceived. I do not know if I should continue to court her or if I should break it off. I am sure that I am not alone in this. I am sure that many other young men are in the same position. I am sure that I am not alone in this. I am sure that many other young men are in the same position.

INCE Easter is the one day of the year when every woman is supposed to look her best, why blame the gift giver for thinking in terms of beautifiers?

The beauty manufacturers also have something to do with the great interest in their products as Easter gifts because they have them backed in most alluring dress. Even such practical articles as jars of cold cream and hand lotions are given an appeal when they are doctored in their attractive wrappings.

Toilet goods counters are laden with festive merchandise, and the wares being most attractive while others have a novel floral, flowers, rabbits, eggs and fascinating colored ribbons contribute their part of these presents and convince anyone who is in doubt as to their right to enter into the gift classification.

The Easter bunny is one of the most popular purveyors of good looks this year and appears so often in the company of soap, perfume and face powder that only the label on the container is the guide to identification. A very cunning rabbit, for example, stands guard over a cake of flower-scented soap. Another is tucked into the wrappings of a complete beauty kit. The stopper of a perfume bottle has rabbit ears in its long.

The colorful Easter egg likewise is called upon to add a gay appearance to many different items. One of the most impressive of these is a compact, shaped like an egg, and glistening from a metal chain. Flat cardboard boxes that are egg-shaped and tinted bright colors serve as gift containers for perfume, vanity cases, soap and powder. One designer who created a sensation last Easter with bottles of perfume in an elegant egg case has a new version this year that is even more attractive.

A novelty that considers the popularity both of the egg and the bunny consists of a cake of soap that looks like an egg, has a tiny figure of a bunny on the top, and is sold in a decorative bunny box.

The Easter bouquet is a clever idea, and certain to be well liked since every woman likes to get flowers on this day. The clusters are arranged like a bouquet of flowers, each blossom being in reality a tiny container filled with powder, lipstick, rouge or other aids to attractiveness. Each is wrapped in cellophane, the bag which holds this flower spray looks very much as though it had come from the florist's, even to the address card.

An Easter lily which seems quite different to be an ingenious covering for a perfume bottle. Gardenias are variously used in connection with gift items, one small container of gardenia scented perfume being accompanied by a flower. Violet scents also are exploited as suggestive of the season, some of them accompanied by buttonholes when they may be worn or otherwise displayed.

In addition to these specially created Easter gift ideas, many of the beauty products on display show a preference for the yellow and green color schemes that are indicative of the spring season. Cologne and perfume bottles have green stoppers, enameled cases that hold powder and rouge feature yellow tones, and there are many flower designs in a combination of yellow and green to brighten containers.

Drum-shaped lipsticks with which many women are familiar, are considered gift items, since they have such a gala dress. They are shown in alliances of ivory tint and gold and black and gold. Vanities carry the drum motif in complete sets, and there are powder boxes in a drum shape that will look well on a dressing table.

Title Accorded Rector of Church — Conventions
In Mourning.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:
I HAVE been elected spokesman for a group of women who would like to know:

(1) Whether to call your rector Mister or Reverend in general conversation with about him, and (2) the salutation of a letter to him as well as (b) the envelope address.

A. Call him Mr. Jones unless he is a D. D., in which case you say Dr. Jones. (a) Under these same circumstances you write Dear Mr. Jones or Dear Dr. Jones, and (b) address the envelope to The Rev. Dr. John Jones or The Rev. Dr. Jones.

Emily Post

John Jones, D. D.
(2) What should a young widow wear during the second year of mourning? And (a) what is she allowed by good taste to do for recreation during this period?

A. The conventions of mourning are much less strict than they used to be and all combinations of black and white are considered proper, if dignified in style. Skin-fitting dresses without any backs would be in still worse taste than in colors. Behavior should of course be above reproach; otherwise there are no restrictions, as to her recreation.

(3) What can one say to discourage friends from asking better chance. "How much did you pay for your hat?" or "Where did you get your shoes?" and endless other personal questions the answers to which one sometimes would rather keep from one's friends.

A. The only way I know is to refuse to be enough interested to make the effort to remember. Or you might answer "How much?" "Not much," or "Quite a lot," and "Where?" as "Down the street somewhere" and then show greater interest in another subject.

(4) We know that etiquette does not allow three girls to be next to their own husband at a dinner party, but what about the dinners that include both married couples and unmarried ones? Are the younger unmarried women supposed to sit next to a staid old grand father?

A. The seating of mixed ages in America is always a test of the skill of a hostess since not only is Miss Nominal bored next to Young Bravado, but Mr. Shavian Brilliant is quite as bored in having to talk down to Miss Scatterbrain. In other words, the perfect dinner table should, I agree, be graded by maturity but determined by mentality rather than by years.

I have three girl friends. We are wonderful pals. We dance at nice places. We have never gone out with boys and our ages range from 18 to 20. We hate these ridiculous boys. So, leave them alone and be INDEPENDENT.

My Dear Mrs. Carr:
NOT so long ago my club members and myself received an invitation to a wedding shower for one of our members' daughters whom we do not wish to slight. As is customary of our club, we chipped in for a gift, the mother being aware of the gift.

We, the members, have received this invitation to the shower, and don't know if another gift (from each of us) is necessary or proper. Some of us are of modern circumstances and I know that several cannot afford it again. To save these from embarrassment we must all do the same thing. But what?

If one receives an invitation to anything at all, does not that mean a gift? Regardless if you know them real well or not? Suppose we do not wish to send a gift (for lack of money is my excuse), what can we say or do to get out of it?

STITCH AND CHATTER CLUB.

Surely this girl would not expect a separate and individual gift from those who are presenting her with the gift from the club. The one gift will quite enough.

Your second question is too general. The circumstances and nature of the invitation would make a difference. A very general invitation is not an occasion, usually, for an individual present.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM asking you, please, if possible, to help me get some plants. I have a large back yard for them and, as I am on the Relief and them and, I would appreciate very much some which gardeners may not need. The trouble is, that I have not carfare to go for them.

Dear Friend:
I AM a 16-year-old high school girl, and I notice you nearly always have a remedy for all kinds of ailments. I wish to know if you have a set of exercises that will help me to straighten up my back. I am in-

CITY DECLARES WAR ON DIPHTHERIA

38 CHILDREN DIED OF DIPHTHERIA

367 CASES LAST YEAR COULD HAVE BEEN PREVENTED

By Marguerite Martyn

ST. LOUIS has more cases of diphtheria per capita than any other large city in the United States. Chicago, four times as large as St. Louis, had one-third as many cases as we had in 1934. In Chicago 90 per cent of all children under 18 months old have been immunized by toxoid or toxin antitoxin injections.

During 1934 there were 961 cases of diphtheria in St. Louis and 38 deaths while Baltimore, a city with approximately the same population as St. Louis, had only 108 cases and seven deaths. In 1930 Baltimore had 522 cases and 20 deaths. Since then Baltimore has conducted annual diphtheria prevention campaigns with the result, as the figures show, that great strides have been made toward eradicating the disease in that community. San Francisco in 1923 had 1708 cases of diphtheria and 148 deaths. After a 10-year immunization campaign the number of cases dropped in 1933 to 43 cases and deaths to seven.

Four years ago St. Louis stood at the top of the list in morbidity or incidence of the disease and second from the top in mortality. St. Louis still stands in disgrace at the top of the list. St. Louis in 1930 had 960 cases and in 1934, 961 cases. St. Louis has stood still, doing nothing fundamental about it while 13 other cities conducting prevention campaigns show advances comparable to the figures quoted on Chicago, Baltimore and San Francisco toward controlling this definitely preventable disease.

That diphtheria is preventable and can be stamped out of a community is shown by the fact that Syracuse, a city of 21,000 through intensive effort has reduced its diphtheria record to three cases in 1934 and no deaths in two years.

For the first time, right now and in a big way, St. Louis is attacking its diphtheria problem. We are in the midst of a diphtheria prevention campaign. The Health Commissioner, the Director of Public Welfare and the Mayor, after studying the facts, have set aside this month of April for an actual educational campaign for the purpose of informing parents and all others charged with the care of children that it is possible to protect them from diphtheria and for the purpose of urging them to the immunization of all children with toxoid, which is an improved toxin antitoxin, both immunizing agents.

The whole community, public and private social and educational organizations, teachers, doctors, medical and religious organizations, industrial and insurance companies and every sort of advertising medium, have been enlisted in this fight upon a fell disease. Seven hundred doctors are co-operating, offering toxoid shots at the reduced rate of $1 each or free of charge where the applicant is un-

The Facts

St. Louis, among all the large cities, leads the country with the highest diphtheria rate.

Diphtheria leads as the cause of death here of all children between the ages of 3 and 9.

Last year 961 St. Louis children developed diphtheria and 38 died. Toxoid or toxin antitoxin could have prevented diphtheria in all these cases.

Diphtheria is definitely a preventable disease and can be stamped out of the community as smallpox has been stamped out by vaccination.

Toxoid is simple, safe, sure. It is painless, harmless, with no unpleasant after effects. It is a mild dose which should be given as soon as a child is six months old.

Parents of children of preschool age are directly responsible for having their children immunized against diphtheria.

The drive is succeeding. During the first 10 days of the month 1211 immunizations were given at public health clinics, an increase of 550 per cent over the same period a year ago.

"It is all a matter of education," said Dr. H. I. Spector, Assistant Health Commissioner, directly in charge of this movement. "People are educated on the prevention of smallpox. Where vaccination against smallpox is not compulsory, it is advised and made available and having long been preached to on the subject, people generally are glad to avail themselves of this service. A survey conducted by C. W. A. workers in 1933 revealed that 85.5 per cent of the population of St. Louis is vaccinated against smallpox, which explains why in the same year there were only two cases and no deaths from smallpox. The same survey revealed only 7.5 per cent of the people are protected against diphtheria which explains why in the same year there were 961 cases and 38 deaths from diphtheria in St. Louis.

DIPHTHERIA is a disease which commonly attacks young children. According to Dr. J. H. Humphrey, physician for the Board of Education, diphtheria leads as the cause of death among children from three to nine years of age. Older children may get it and occasionally adults. But since it most frequently attacks children under school age, responsibility for their immunization is essential. Up to their parents without waiting until the children start to school and are brought to the attention of other authorities outside the home.

Dear Martha Carr:
HOW would persons called Giovanni, Salvatore, Giacomo and Vito be called in English? What are the colors for a baby boy and a girl?

MRS. J. D.

The English equivalent for Giovanni is Joan or Joanna; for Giacomo, Jacob; for Vito, is Victor. Salvatore is, literally, Savior, but when using this name, it is sometimes the custom among Italians to use Sam.

The color for a boy baby is pink; for a girl, blue. The baby department seems to have varying ideas about this.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

reaction as the long tube of powerful counter-acting virus necessary in the treatment of a fully developed case of diphtheria. The method of treatment of the fully developed case has long been known but it is only within the last 20 years, with Von Behring's discovery and development of his toxin antitoxin, that a means of preventive treatment has been known.

After one dose of toxoid 94 per cent are found to be immunized. From six to eight weeks later a skin test is made. The other 6 per cent who do not pass this test, then are given additional doses until a favorable reaction is obtained. It is a lasting if not permanent immunity. No death from diphtheria of a person once treated with toxoid has yet been recorded.

Toxoid is given with one injection under the skin and is no more painful than a mosquito bite or a skin prick. There is no unpleasant after effect as is often the case with small pox vaccination, no fever, no sore, no scar. The operation is simple, quick, practically painless and harmless. Being so simple, so safe and so sure, it is neglect giving a child this protection against a disease which, once contracted, if not immediately recognized and immediately treated, leads to death and which when recovered from may cause temporary or permanent damage to the heart.

During this month of April immunization without charge, if you are unable to pay a private physician, can be had daily at the following health centers: Room 28, Municipal Courts Building, daily from 9 to 5; 2647A Washington avenue, after 3 p. m.; 4209 Race course avenue, after 3 p. m.; or at a co-operating physician's office for a fee of one dollar if you are able to pay, otherwise free of charge. A list of physicians in your neighborhood co-operating in the drive can be obtained at your nearest public school.

just having a supper for the family. What time should this take place? FAITHFUL READER.

I think it would be considered better taste, if your daughter wishes to be married in the Easter season, or near Easter day, to be married on Easter Monday, the day following Easter. The time most weddings take place now is at 4:30 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon, at high noon (12 m.) or occasionally at 2 o'clock in the morning. There are very few evening weddings in this part of the country, except, sometimes, in midsummer when weather is too warm for daylight weddings.

French Fried Onions
Nowadays when almost everyone enjoys onions, it is nice to serve them as an individual vegetable. Peel Spanish onions and cut across in quarter-inch slices. Cut so the onions are in strips. Roll in beaten white of egg and then in breadcrumbs. Bake a number of slices can be done at the same time. Fry in deep hot fat until a nice brown. Drain on brown paper and serve on a platter garnished with parsley. Incidentally, the parsley will help to remove any odor from the breath.

Glorified Rice
To three cups cold boiled rice add two cups crushed pineapple, ten marshmallows cut into quarters, one-half cup chopped nuts, one-half cup powdered sugar and a pinch of salt. Fold in one-half pint of cream which has been whipped stiff and place in parfait glasses to chill. Garnish with maraschino cherries and serve very cold.

Where To Go
To your doctor's office.

To a co-operative physician's office. Seven hundred physicians have agreed during the present diphtheria prevention campaign to immunize children with toxoid at a reduced fee of $1 or free of charge if applicant is unable to pay. A list of these physicians in your own neighborhood can be obtained at your nearest public school.

To room 28, Municipal Courts Building or the following public health centers:
2647A Washington avenue after 3 p. m.
4209 Race Course avenue after 3 p. m. Free of charge if unable to pay a private physician.

An End Play
For Overtrick
In Tournament

By P. Hal Sims

I AM afraid that a doubt has arisen in the breasts of some of my readers as to whether these double squeezes, Vienna coups and Grand coups, about which I write constantly, ever turn up in actual play. Well, they do. They may not be always recognized, but they're there!

Unfortunately, no Grand or Vienna coups or squeezes for a grand slam turned up in the first week of the tournament with Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson. The best I can do for you is the following splendid duplicate result:

The bidding:
West Pass North Pass East Pass South Pass
2 N T Pass 1 S N T Pass Pass Pass
The opening lead was the three of clubs. West (I'm West) cashed the ace and queen of clubs, and played two rounds of spades, winding up in his own hand. He then took three more spades. North signaled violently for diamonds, and for her third discard, parted with a heart. The ace of hearts was cashed in order to remove the last exit from a North hand. After playing the king of clubs, which was his ninth trick, West threw North in with a club. North held: Spades None Clubs J 10 Diamonds A Q Hearts None Clubs J 10

She cashed two clubs, but then had to lay down the ace of diamonds, and concede a trick to West's king.

Result: Four no trumps made for a top. This was rubber bridge, unfortunately.

Try adding one-half cup chili sauce and one stiffly whipped white of egg to one cup of mayonnaise.

THIS putty Congress seems to be getting tougher than marble. It hardened while the White House was working on it.

The boys are splitting into little groups like fish food in water.
Reforestation means the youngsters plant the trees and the oldtimers roll the logs.

There is also plenty of political back-scratching, legislative sabotage and patronage sniping.

Washington, Jefferson and Webster put their nation ahead of everything. But your 1935 politician puts the nation in the rumble seat. He either does the driving or nobody is going anywhere.
